Washington, D. C., March 16.—[Spe- al]—The Lord's Day Alliance has t on the nerves of the motion ture industry. The movie czar— erwise Will Hays, postmaster gen- l under Harding—is in Washing- and was expected to appear before congressional committee in support a movie Sunday as opposed to the law Sunday for which the Lord's Alliance is lobbying.

But Mr. Hays, an elder in the Pres- an church, is in a difficult posi- when it comes to pleading for a Sunday, and he declined to before the committee. Hence Motion Picture Owners' Associa- of America sent to Washington its national president, R. F. Woodhull, who, next to Hays, is considered the most persuasive spellbinder in the movies when adverse legislation threatens.

On Hurry-Up Trip.

Mr. Woodhull, who told the congressmen that he, too, is a Presbyterian, although "born and brought up a Methodist," testified before the ommittee today that he came as a esult of a hurry-up call from "headquarters' office in New York" that he to Washington to counter against he persistent drive which the Lord's Day Alliance is making for a movie- ess Sunday.

Hardly had Elder Hays' church and ovie brother entered the huge house f representatives caucus room where he crowded hearings are being held han he heard himself and his associa- ion, which includes 95 per cent of he movie interests of the country, de- cribed as "the greatest law break- s in the country."

Talks of Ignorance.

"Why," he exclaimed in reply, "the ovie industry is sometimes compelled protect well meaning, would-be ovie uplifters from themselves—so orant are they. You gentlemen who now the book will hardly believe this, I am soberly telling you that a oman's organization came to impor- t producers with a request that ertrude Atherton's sex novel, 'Black n,' be filmed because they wanted have more 'nice animal films' for e children."

rother Woodhull further testified Countess Cathcart has been red by the movie magnates.

"Our organization," he said, "has ued a warning to all members not en to tender in the most indirect way contract to Lady Cathcart. We did on the ground that scandalous no- riety ought not to be exploited before family trade."

On Eve of Upheaval.

ecretary Wayne Womer of the De- t Lord's Day Alliance warned Pres- nt Woodhull grimly. "We are in country," he said, "on the eve of reat upheaval comparable to Rus- 's unless we change our ideas on h great questions as Sunday ob- vance. The motion picture indus- leads in violation of observance. its own magazines it says, 'Don't any attention to Supreme court isions. Drive right through them.'" his witness testified in cheerful de- how he had done his bit by ef- ing in one night the arrest of lve motion picture exhibitors who shown on Sunday. There is in higan, he said, a law whereby a on can be fined $10 for attend- a movie on Sunday, but he added it is seldom invoked because of peril of its abuse by spiteful per-

Police Stop Trolley Line After Wreck

Village authorities of Lyons last night accused officials of the Chicago and West Towns railways of direct responsibility for a street car wreck in which fifty persons narrowly escaped death yesterday afternoon.

The car, passing along Ogden avenue, left the rails and plunged twenty feet down an embankment into the Des Plaines river. Twenty-five of the passengers, most of them high school boys and girls, were severely cut and bruised.

Twenty Taken to Hospital.

Although none was seriously injured in the crash, twenty were rushed to the Berwyn hospital. Passing automobilists aided in the rescue work. Firemen were called. When they arrived many of the passengers were still imprisoned in the car. Extension ladders were then lowered down the embankment and the windows and roof of the car were smashed with axes to liberate the prisoners. Many of the women and children were numbed by the exposure in the icy waters of the river.

President John R. Hlovka of the Lyons village board was bitter in his remarks about the officials of the railway company. He stationed policemen at the scene of the wreck and ordered them to prevent the passage of any more cars across the trestle from which the car plunged.

The railway company, confronted by the determined opposition of the authorities, pressed busses into service to transfer passengers from the river to La Grange.

Showdown with Road.

"We have had plenty of trouble with the road in the past," said President Hlovka. "This time we are going to the mat with them. Several months ago, with other members of the Lyons transportation committee, I went before Mr. Cullet, general superintendent of the railway, and told him that the switch at the trestle where this wreck occurred was worn out and that the approaches from both sides were dangerous. We were told that nothing could be done."

How Accident Occurred.

The switch, he explained, is thirty feet from the trestle. From that point the front trucks of the car left the rails and cut along the ties.

Herman Teper, a trustee of the village, and a motorman for the Chicago and West Towns company, was a passenger on the wrecked car. According to President Hlovka, he suffered a fractured rib and a broken nose. Teper, the president added, had been one of the complainants about the bad switch and had finally asked for a transfer from the run because he believed such an accident would occur.

Receiving the forward signal from Conductor Patrick Golden, 40 years old, 417 South Kilbourn avenue, who was himself slightly injured in the accident, the motorman threw on the power. The car, instead of remaining upon the rails, suddenly, and without explanation, according to officials of the road, leaped the track, appeared to cling a moment to the edge of the trestle overlooking the river, then plunged downward.

Panic Among Passengers.

The next instant the front end of the car was wedged tightly into the mud at the bottom of the stream, not more than two feet in depth at that point, and the terrified passengers were fighting desperately to free themselves.

Those most seriously injured are:

Victor Prince, 49, 4149 Fisherman terrace, Lyons.

Robert Scheifelheim, 15, 8015 White avenue, Lyons.

Joseph Fiedler, 13, 8033 Salisbury street, Lyons.

Marvel Deike, 15, 4224 Joliet avenue, Lyons.

Others injured were able to go to their homes.

Col. Coolidge Much Weaker, Doctor Says

Plymouth, Vt., March 16.—(AP)—Col. John C. Coolidge continued to grow weaker tonight, Dr. Albert M. Cram, his physician announced. The physician said his patient had been unable to take nourishment.

After a telephone conference with the nurse on duty at the Coolidge home Dr. Cram from his office in Bridgewater gave out this bulletin:

"Col. Coolidge is very weak tonight, even weaker than when he was examined earlier in the day. He has been unable to take nourishment and has taken his medicine with great difficulty.

"Respiration and pulse are practically unchanged, but the weakness apparently is more pronounced."

It became known tonight that Col. Coolidge has been sending for his old neighbors one by one to visit him. Today three of them answered his summons, calling at the Coolidge farm house and being admitted for brief visits in the sickroom.

One of the visitors said later that he had noticed a great change in the colonel's appearance since he saw him last, three weeks ago. The sick man, he said, had grown thin and haggard and appeared to be very weak.

Policeman and Firemen Fight While Inn Burns

A fight between Fire Chief George Frase and one of his men on one side and Policeman James McBride on the other was the principal feature of a fire yesterday which destroyed the Proviso Inn, at 42d avenue and St. Charles road. The firemen are reported to have had the worst of it. McBride, thinking some one might be in the place which was padlocked three months ago, broke down the door. Chief Frase resented the action and the fight followed. The fire loss was $8,000.

Mrs. Mary Lewis, 25 years old, swallowed poison in her room at the Myland hotel, 2124 South Michigan avenue, last night. Then she changed her mind about wanting to die and called Dr. Paul Swain, 2136 South Michigan avenue. At the People's hospital Mrs. Lewis said she was despondent, but refused to tell why. It was said she probably will recover.

LEITER BATTLE OPENS; SCENE ALMOST REGAL

Charges of Misuse Are Outlined.

BY GENEVIEVE FORBES HERRICK.

Kind hearts may be more than coronets—maybe. But you'd be surprised to know that a little bit of British nobility, introduced into an American courtroom in the County building yesterdal, twisted the Declaration of Independence into a poem on the Union Jack, and made a Mayfair lady out of the $50,000,000 Leiter lawsuit, which began before Judge Denis E. Sullivan.

Even the cuspidors looked self conscious. If the attorneys had mentioned the name of another duchess or countess, it's more than likely the bailiff would have developed an English accent and changed into velvet knee breeches. One of the lawyers wore a wing collar, and all were as punctilious as if they were solicitors for the crown, whatever than means.

Judge Lacks a Wig.

The judge [happily for the honor of American jurisprudence, the case is being heard by a judge who looks like a judge] was lacking only the white horsehair wig of a London jurist to make Blackstone feel at home.

And it's a matter of record that when a reporter for one newspaper was obliged to step in front of a reporter from a rival newspaper, he bowed and murmured, "Pardon me."

It was a dubious day for 100 per cent Americanism.

There were but two, or so it seemed, in all the quiet, dignified group who didn't give a Main street whoop about crested handkerchiefs or hereditary titles. One was Joseph Leiter, millionaire heir of the late Levi Z. Leiter, pioneer Chicago merchant. And the other quite unabashed individual was Mike Fish, photographer for THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

Leiter Is Amused, Mad.

Joe Leiter had good reason not to be an Anglophile. For it is his sister, Lady Marguerite Hyde, countess of Suffolk and Berks, who has brought suit charging him with mismanagement of their father's estate. So he crinkled up the wrinkles in his wide forehead, scratched his right ear, fingered his white waistcoat and looked amused. Sometimes, a little mad.

Mike Fish had good enough reason, too, not to be carried off his feet by any Buckingham palace tradition. He wanted to get a picture, and pictures were hard to get. So, in the corridor, he tried to snap Mrs. Nancy Lathrop Carver Campbell, widow of Col. Colin Campbell of the British army and the sister who is sticking by Joe. The widow of the British colonel didn't propose to be photographed and looked with haughty scorn at Mike.

So the Picture Is Taken.

So Mike focused his camera and, without ever a formal introduction, called "Say, Mrs. Campbell" to attract her attention, and the picture was taken.

Yesterday's session, devoted to the opening statements of the attorneys for the plaintiffs, really would have given the principals in the case an admirable opportunity for getting acquainted. Only, of course, they already know each other pretty well, and spent most of the day trying not to make the bonds any deeper.

To the extreme left of the judge sat Lady Suffolk, all in black, judiciously and expensively offset by a string of pearls and one mammoth diamond ring. She was accompanied by Col. E. S. Gillett of London, her business agent.

Not of American Type.

In Chicago courtrooms a business agent, of course, usually means a strong arm gentleman who can do a fancy piece of slugging if he has to. But Col. Gillett isn't that kind. Mercy, no! He is chiefly distinguished by his height, his amiable dignity, and a gorgeous yellow silk handkerchief.

Casting their lot with Lady Suffolk, but doing it in absentia, is one earl, one baroness, two ladies, not to mention a group of youngsters who'll get their titles by and by. More specifically, the late Mary Leiter Curzon's three daughters, Lady Cynthia Mosley, the Baroness of Ravensdale, and Lady Alexandra Metcalf, are joined with their aunt, and Lady Suffolk's three children and Lady Cynthia's five year old daughter are in on it.

To Judge Sullivan's extreme right

Three Burn to Death in Negro Flat Fire

EXTRA

100 In Panic Flee to Street; One May Die

Three persons perished, one woman was so badly burned that she may die, and one hundred men, women, and children were driven to the streets early this morning in a fire which swept the five story apartment, occupied by Negroes, at 2006 South Dearborn street. The fatalities occurred in a narrow hallway in which the panic stricken occupants were trapped when they were aroused from their sleep and made wild dashes for the doors.

The fire started under a stairway on the first floor from an undetermined cause. It was seen by William Cincea and Joseph Mulree, employés of the street railway company, who were working across the street. They raised the cry of "fire" and immediately pandemonium broke out in the building.

Many Jump from Windows.

From every flat poured frightened men, women, and children, all striving to reach the hall door at once. Several were severely trampled by those who pushed forward from the rear. Others of the frenzied Negroes rushed for the windows, and their screams and yells aroused the entire neighborhood. Several jumped to the ground while others were taken down ladders by firemen.

The dead are Chester and James McCormick, brothers, 5 and 7 years old, and William Stewart, a legless man. He died at the People's hospital. At that hospital also are Mrs. Louise Wheeler, 40 years old, Stewart's mother, who is expected to die, and Harvey Bell, 45 years old, who was severely burned. Mrs. Wheeler fractured her skull when she leaped from an upper floor.

Threaten Adjoining Structures.

The flames spread with amazing rapidity and soon reached the top of the old brick structure, the lower floor of which was given over to small stores. For a time it was feared the flames would spread to nearby frame structures but by playing streams of water on them they were saved. The loss on the flat building was estimated by Fire Division Chief M. J. Corcoran at $10,000.

Several firemen were imperiled when their ladders struck high tension wires and charged their apparatus with electricity. It was said their rubber boots probably saved their lives.

DISABLED VETS' CHIEF HERE TO HELP COMRADES

Aroused by the fact that only a fourth of the world war veterans of the Chicago district who have filed disability claims with the government have had those claims recognized, National Commander John W. Mahan of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War launched an inquiry into the local situation yesterday on his arrival here from the national headquarters of the organization at Cincinnati.

"The records reveal that a total of 41,033 disability claims have been filed in this territory by ex-soldiers since the close of the war, and yet only 11,181 of those claims have been established. There is obviously something wrong," declared Commander Mahan following a conference with local chiefs of the association at the Morrison hotel.

Commander Mahan will remain in the city until tomorrow night. It is his first official visit to Chicago since becoming head of the organiation, it was explained by Benjamin D. Farrar, the state commander.

'BURGLAR' SCARE IN ASTOR STREET; POLICE CALLED

Mrs. Augustus W. Eddy, 1210 Astor street, telephoned to the Chicago avenue station early this morning that two men were acting suspiciously in front of the apartment building in which the Eddys live.

The building is in the Hudson avenue police district but Lieut. Joseph McGuire and his detective bureau squad who were in the Chicago avenue station at the time, responded. When they arrived the men had departed.

Through questioning other residents the police learned that the two men apparently were intoxicated and created a disturbance by their noise and that this alarmed Mrs. Eddy who thought they were burglars, wakened her husband, and then called the police. Mr. Eddy is connected with the bond and stock house of Folds, Buck & Co.

GENEVA PARLEY FAILS; GERMANY OUT UNTIL FALL

Locarno Pact for Peace to Stand.

Mussolini Wins

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
[Copyright: 1926: By The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, March 16.—THE TRIBUNE learns that following the breakdown of the league of nations meeting at Geneva, France, Italy, and Jugo-Slavia this evening signed Premier Mussolini's Mediterranean pact. Roumania, Czecho-Slovakia, and Spain are expected to agree to it within a few days.

Premier Mussolini's intrigues are blamed in London for the breakdown at Geneva. It is believed that France has been compelled, unwillingly, to join the Mediterranean pact as a guarantee against Italian trouble making in its north African colonies.

The position of Sir Austen Chamberlain is regarded here as serious. It is believed that he must resign his foreign secretaryship. Blame for the Geneva disaster is laid on Sir Austen and Premier Briand for raising the question of Poland's admission to the council and thus making it possible for Premier Mussolini to put forth other candidates whom M. Briand and Sir Austen were unable to control.

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
[Copyright: 1926: By The Chicago Tribune.]

GENEVA, March 17 [1 a. m.]—All hope of admitting Germany to the league of nations at the present session was abandoned early this morning.

The crisis, which threatened to smash the league, was practically postponed until next September, when Germany is expected to be admitted. Only a last minute withdrawal of Brazil's demand for a permanent seat in the council, backed by a threat to veto the allies' pledges at Locarno, by blackballing Germany in the council, can change the situation. Afranio Mello Franco, Brazil's delegate, who refuses to see any one, said over the telephone that he had received no advices from Rio de Janiero, and the league leaders are proceeding with arrangements to wind up the final assembly meeting tomorrow morning.

Save Locarno Treaties.

The Locarno treaties will remain operative and valid in spite of the fact that Germany has not joined the league, as was stipulated. An additional protocol will be signed by all the powers which participated at Locarno to cover this unforeseen development.

The Locarnians refused to consider that the guarantee and arbitration treaties signed last October should be nullified by the quarrel over seats in the council. One of the principal clauses of the Rhine pact stipulates that Germany must join the league before the treaty comes into force, and its final ratification was to be marked by Germany's election.

As soon as the new protocol governing the emergency period until Germany does join the league is signed, all the benefits and activities under the Locarno treaties will begin functioning.

German Application to Stand.

Germany pledged itself to Britain and France not to withdraw its application for admission to the league between now and September. This declaration was the result of a long conversation between Premier Briand, Sir Austen Chamberlain, and Dr. Stresemann, German foreign minister.

The Wilhelmstrasse chief preferred to withdraw the German application in order to give him complete liberty of action in the next six months. The French and British delegates, however, persuaded him that this would have a serious adverse effect on the application of the Locarno treaties and urged him to leave the matter in status quo as evidence of Germany's sincerity and good faith.

May Wreck Some Governments.

The failure of the league to admit Germany at this time is expected to have important repercussions throughout European capitals.

It is realized that Chancellor Luther and Foreign Minister Stresemann have a most difficult situation to face in Berlin, after waiting ten days on the league's doorstep and being told to come back in six months for a reconsideration of their application for entry into the league council. However, first reports from Berlin say President von Hindenburg and most of the German politicians feel greatly relieved.

Sir Austen Chamberlain's situation is considered most precarious, as he deliberately opposed the attitude of the majority of the British cabinet and parliament in standing by France in the fight for a seat for Poland.

Count Skrzynski's future also is doubtful, as the Warsaw government may punish him for his failure to obtain admission into the league.

Quinones de Leon, Spanish delegate, is in a delicate situation, as he promised the Madrid government he could obtain a permanent seat for Spain and induced his government to threaten to withdraw from all the activities in the league if he did not get it. There is talk here that Spain may make good this threat.

Both Sweden and Brazil's positions are considered indefensible. Having incurred the antagonism of their colleagues through holding up the proceedings by their stubborn demands, a paper canvass indicates that neither can be elected to the council in September. Reports from Sweden indicate Foreign Minister Osten Unden's offer to sacrifice Sweden's seat to solve the league muddle may cause his downfall.

Will Help Briand.

It is not denied by the French delegation that Premier Briand's strong defense of Poland will help him materially when he faces the chamber of deputies in Paris Thursday. Many Nationalist and Center deputies are expected to give the veteran statesman their votes for upholding the alliance with the Warsaw government.

German circles are chiefly interested in discovering tonight whether ulterior motives have blocked Germany's admission; whether Brazil was only a stalking horse, and what, if any, hidden reasons were responsible for Rio de Janiero's obstinacy. The finger of suspicion points to Premier Mussolini and his efforts to form a Latin nations-Catholic bloc to control the league council.

The decision to postpone Germany's election was taken after a three hour secret session of the council. The time was spent in awaiting the arrival of a cable message from Brazil and the drafting of a long exhaustive alibi by M. Briand and Sir Austen, who had determined to preserve the Locarno treaties no matter what the costs to the league may be.

Latins Fail to Back Brazil.

Brazil's demand for a permanent seat suffered a severe setback during the day, when the group of ten Latin-American states, which held an indignation meeting Monday, reconvened with Senhor Mello Franco. They expressed the opinion that the Brazilian government should find some means to avoid casting a veto on Germany's application and demanded that Senhor Mello Franco and Senhor Guani of Uruguay, who is also a member of the council, advise the other members of their decisions.

"Brazil asks a permanent seat for a spokesman for South America," said Senhor Mello Franco. "We do not want a permanent seat allocated to any country, because we are unable to agree which power should or should not be selected permanently. We want one permanent seat, to be occupied successively by Argentina, Brazil, and Chile in annual succession, and two other South American elective seats to be changed as the assembly sees fit."

"We all want Germany to join, and as this is a European question, we believe that South America should not intrude," one of the other delegates declared.

Senhor Mello Franco replied that he was only complying with his government's instructions.

Statement of Locarnians.

GENEVA, March 16.—(AP)—The signatories of the Locarno agreements issued an official communique tonight stating that if obstacles render impossible the admission of Germany to the league of nations at this time the Locarno signatories "are happy to recognize" that the work of peace realized at Locarno remains intact. The text of the communique reads:

"The representatives of Germany, Belgium, France, Great Britain, and Italy have met to examine the situation resulting from difficulties which have arisen and which hinder the accomplishment of the common wishes. They take note of the fact that they have reached an agreement and have overcome obstacles which had at one moment arisen between them.

"If, as there seems reason to feel, the above difficulties persist, the representatives of the seven powers who signed the protocol of Locarno would regret not to be able at this moment to reach the goal which they had in view; but they are happy to recognize that the work of peace which they realized at Locarno, and which exists in all its value and all its force, remains intact.

"They remain attached to it today, as yesterday, and are firmly resolved to work together to maintain and develop it. They are convinced that on the occasion of the next session of the assembly the difficulties that exist at this moment will be surmounted and that the agreement reached with regard to the conditions for the entry of Germany into the league of nations will be realized."

Germany Sighs with Relief.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, March 16.—The postponement of Germany's admittance to the league of nations was received in Berlin tonight with feelings of relief. Leaders believe that the high stakes of mutual understanding, for which Europe's nations played at Locarno, have not been completely lost, and the forthcoming months will clear the atmosphere of misunderstandings created by old fashioned diplomatic intrigues which were started behind Germany's back while the nations were talking peace at Locarno.

The acceptance of the Polish and Roumanian demands by Chancellor Luther and Foreign Minister Stresemann would have turned the whole of East Prussia and Bavaria against the central government. President von Hindenburg believes the diplomatic intrigues which have been uncovered at Geneva have proved that this body, fundamentally, is unwilling to collaborate with Germany, so he, too, is ready to welcome the delegation home and is giving up all thoughts of resignation.

Brazil Is Divided.

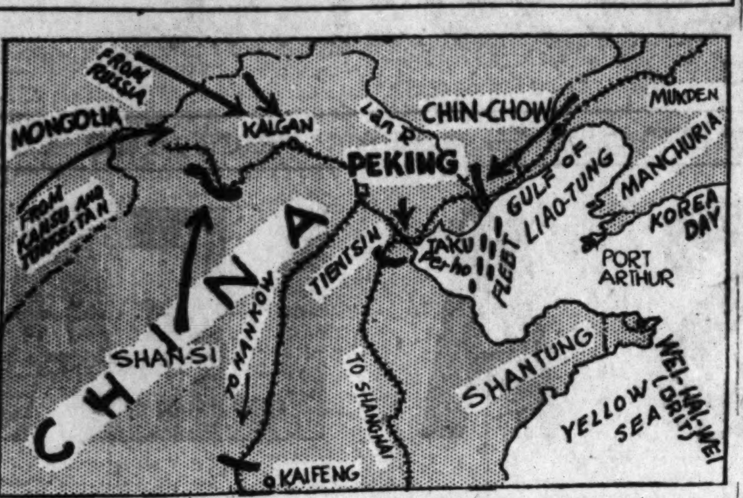
RIO JANEIRO, Brazil, March 16.—(AP)—The deadlock at Geneva and Brazil's attitude relative to Germany's admission to the league afford food for much comment by the Rio Janeiro newspapers. One group holds the extremist view, considering Germany's stand an affront to Brazil, and suggests retaliations.

Another group believes it is Brazil's duty to continue to represent the western hemisphere. Still others declare Brazil should follow the example of the United States, asserting Brazil derives no benefit from her membership in the league.

Spain Sends New Instructions.

MADRID, March 16.—(AP)—The Spanish cabinet sat for three hours this evening discussing the situation created in Geneva. Premier Prima de Rivera announced that new instructions, the nature of which he did not divulge, had been dispatched to the Spanish delegates.

THE WAR IN CHINA



The five Boxer protocol powers have given the Peking government until noon tomorrow to open the Pei-ho river between Taku and Tientsin to foreign shipping. If the demand is not met the powers threaten to turn the guns of their fleet on the Taku forts. Feng Yu-hsiang, the leader of the Kuominchun and virtual dictator of Peking, is hemmed in on the north along the Lan river by Chang Tso-lin of Manchuria, on the east by the Shantung fleet, on the south by Wu Pei-fu at Kaifeng, and on the west by the Shansi forces. Russian cavalry has arrived at Kalgan to aid Feng.

COOLIDGE TO GET FIRST HAND NEWS ABOUT EUROPE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 16.—[Special.]—Alanson B. Houghton, American ambassador to Great Britain, who has returned to the United States to confer with President Coolidge and Secretary Kellogg in regard to the general European situation and the plans for the preliminary disarmament conference to be held at Geneva under the auspices of the league of nations, arrived at the White House this evening. He will be a guest there during his stay in Washington. Hugh S. Gibson, minister to Switzerland, who also was asked by Secretary Kellogg to return for the same purpose, will arrive here tomorrow morning.

ALANSON B. HOUGHTON.

While the primary purpose of their visit, as announced, is to discuss the preliminary disarmament conference to which the United States has accepted an invitation, it is believed that the President and Secretary Kellogg will discuss a number of other European problems with the two envoys.

HOW $240 BECAME $1,400.

A settlement was recently made on a savings and life insurance account in the Harris Trust and Savings Bank whereby a depositor's family received $1,428.78 on an account which had been carried for twenty-nine months with deposits of $8.40 per month, making a total deposit for that period of $243.60.

The account was originally opened with the intention of saving $1,000 by making small deposits in the bank each month, but before the objective was reached the depositor died. Because of the insurance feature of this plan the $1,000 that was to be saved by the depositor was paid to the depositor's family in addition to $428.78, representing the bank balance and disability benefits received through this plan.

Any one between the ages of 10 and 70 is eligible for this plan, and any amount between $1,000 and $25,000 may be accumulated by making the required monthly deposits. A postcard addressed to the Harris Trust and Savings Bank, 115 West Monroe Street, requesting additional information, will be given prompt attention.—Adv.

CHINA GIVEN TILL TOMORROW NOON TO AVERT WAR

Powers Mass Warships at Taku Forts.

BY CHARLES DAILEY.

[Copyright: 1926: By The Chicago Tribune.]

PEKING, March 16.—The ultimatum of the five Boxer protocol powers was served today on the Chinese military factions. It will expire Thursday at noon. The note demands free access to Tientsin from the sea, threatening to wreck the Taku forts unless the Chinese dismantle them and remove the mines from the Pei-ho river.

A note of the same tenor was handed to the Peking government. It demands abandonment of all hostilities between Taku and Tientsin; the removal of mines from the river; cessation of all molesting of navigation signals; that all combatant naval craft remain outside of the Taku bar, refraining from interference with foreign shipping; and the discontinuance of the searching of foreign vessels.

Threat by Powers.

The note concludes that in the event of an unsatisfactory response the powers will "proceed with such measures as are necessary for the purpose of removing or suppressing the obstructions to navigation from Tientsin to the sea."

A dozen ships of the five powers are now concentrated off Taku. More are on the way.

Leaders of the kuominchun (national armies) bitterly protest the powers' action, although it is possible they secretly welcome it, because the time is coming when their reserves will be fully employed, while the Manchurian army, reinforced by Shantung troops, is about to cross the Lan river, which will compel the evacuation of Tientsin soon.

Seize Russian Arms Ship.

The naval flotilla of the Shantung forces off Taku has captured a Russian ship from Vladivostok laden with munitions for the kuominchun. These have been diverted to the Manchurian armies.

The governor of Shansi province has thrown 30,000 troops onto the railway in the north of his province to cut off troops advancing from Kansu and Chinese Turkestan to aid the kuominchun, commanded by Marshal Feng Yu-hsiang.

Six regiment of soviet cavalry which have reached Kalgan, Marshal Feng's headquarters, have been diverted to meet the obstruction in Shansi province. Large forces of Mongolian cavalry also are being utilized.

Quarrel Worries Japan.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, March 16.—The Japanese officials admittedly are worried over the situation in China, fearing that their utmost efforts to promote friendship will be flouted. Japan is obliged to retain at least neutrality in China in the event of a graver possibility of war with Russia, although it is obliged to coöperate with the protocol powers in the event China refuses to listen to the ultimatum delivered by the powers.

"Japan is worried more now than at any time since the outbreak of the great war," a foreign office spokesman said today. "Whether the situation becomes actually serious now depends wholly upon China itself."

The cruiser Hirata sailed from Port Arthur today for Taku. No other ships are likely to be dispatched.

leader that if the churches expected to meet the movie competition on Sunday evenings they must do as his good friend, Pastor Rose of Newark, N. J., has done. "Pastor Rose," said the witness, "says 'I have made my church service so attractive that all the business the picture shows get on Sunday evenings is my overflow'—and I guess he's right, for I know you have to be at Pastor Rose's show as early as 6:30 to get in.

"As for censorship, the motion picture public, numbering sixty millions, is the greatest censor of motion pictures we have. Official censorship exists in but five states. In Washington they have had to take off but one picture in three years and that was because it ridiculed the police, not because it was vicious."

Julian Brylawski, chairman of the administrative committee of the Motion Picture Theater Owners' Association of America, was another important witness. He said that motion picture theaters in Washington now do not open until 3 o'clock p. m., out of respect for church and Sunday school hours, but, even so, do 25 per cent of their week's business on Sunday. . . . More than on any other two days. . . . In fact, between sixty and sixty-five thousand Sunday patrons.

OMEN DEBATE INE AND BEER T CLUB SESSION

oosevelt G. O. P. Group Finally Stands Pat.

The Woman's Roosevelt Republican club held a business session yesterday to pass on the candidates in the primary of April 13.

The meeting followed a luncheon in the ball room of the Palmer house and there seemed to be nothing but harmony waiting for the program already agreed on by the board of directors.

That program called for three steps. They were: a protest against both Republican county tickets, because of the Thompson and Lundin-Small alliances involved, an indorsement of Senator William B. McKinley for reëlection, and, as a third step, the passage of a resolution closing the door against any further indorsements.

The vote to indorse neither Republican county ticket because one is supported by Thompson and the other by the Lundin-Small forces, was viva voce and unanimous. The vote to indorse McKinley was 107 to 41, without debate.

Debate Wet-Dry Problem.

Everything did run smoothly up to the third event on the schedule. Then there came a forcible demand for an indorsement of Mrs. Jacob Baur's candidacy for congress. That brought in the wet and dry issue. A lively debate followed—snappy speeches on both sides of the question—and a close vote resulted.

There were other factors in the situation. Feminism played its part. But whatever the various influences, Mrs. Baur failed to get the indorsement and the vote was so close—66 to [illegible]—that it was the general opinion that her declaration in favor of light wines and beer swung enough votes to cost her the club's stamp of approval.

Mrs. Meeker for Mrs. Baur.

Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen presented the report of the board and placed its three resolutions before the meeting. But even before the third resolution had been reached Mrs. Arthur Meeker sought to bring Mrs. Baur's candidacy in the Ninth district to the attention of the meeting and enthusiasm began to manifest itself.

Learning the time had not yet arrived, Mrs. Meeker waited until the cloture resolution was brought up for adoption. There seemed to be some question whether her remarks would be in order, and Mrs. Lambert O. Wile, for the purpose of giving her the floor, moved to table the cloture resolution with an understanding it would be taken from the table after Mrs. Baur's name had been acted on.

A rising vote was necessary, but the favorable majority was so strong that the negative vote was not counted, and Mrs. Meeker presented her resolution indorsing Mrs. Baur, praising her record and ability highly. She spoke at some length about the candidate, but she had no sooner finished than Mrs. C. S. Carlisle was on her feet.

"Isn't it true that Mrs. Baur is running on a beer and light wine platform?" she asked.

"On what might be called a very mild wet platform," answered Mrs. Meeker. "She believes we haven't been able to live up to the law and would like to see the law changed so that we can live up to it."

Leads Attack for Drys.

At the speakers' table arose Mrs. R. L. McCall, a leader of the church federation.

"Do we realize what a mild wet platform means?" she asked. "Do we realize it means that every grocery store would sell light wine and beer and that children would be going to the grocery stores for them?"

"The present law is a crime against morals and a crime against health more than any honest, temperate law could be," replied Mrs. Wile.

"As a wife, a mother, and a grandmother," Mrs. Richard A. Connell said, "I think Mrs. Baur's platform is the best for the masses."

"This sounds like a Brennan campaign meeting," Mrs. Mark T. Mears retorted, "and Mrs. Baur is running on exactly the same platform as Mr. Britten, and I see no reason for indorsing her merely because she is a woman."

"Why not stick to the women?" demanded Mrs. Minna Schmidt. Mrs. Irving L. Stern, however, closed the debate with a plea that those supporting Mrs. Baur were not doing so because of her sex, but because of her ability and fitness. Then came the vote, followed by adoption of the cloture resolution.

SHOCK KILLED MATTEOTTI, SAYS ACCUSED FASCIST

Kidnaping Induced Hemorrhage, Claim.

BY JOHN CLAYTON.

[Copyright: 1926: By The Chicago Tribune.]

CHIETI, Italy, March 16.—Amerigo Dumini, the leader of the band of five Fascists charged with the murder of the Socialist deputy, Giacomo Matteotti, on June 10, 1924, today told the court his story of the death of Sig. Matteotti.

Dumini, who formerly lived in St. Louis, Mo., said that the band kidnaped Sig. Matteotti as a result of an unpremeditated impulse and that the deputy died a short time later as a result of a hemorrhage of the lungs, brought on by the excitement.

Prisoners Calm in Court.

All the accused men were calm, almost gay, when they were brought into the courtroom.

The trial was begun by the reading of the statement of the attorney general by the presiding judge, Giuseppe Danza, exonerating others who had previously been accused.

Soon after, Dumini took the stand in his own behalf. He is a young man, not yet thirty, clean shaven and somewhat American in appearance. He is the son of an American mother.

Dumini told how the socialist leaders were suspected of murdering two Fascists in Paris. He was sent to Paris to investigate the case in September, 1923. He visited the socialist federation and said he obtained a confirmation that they were responsible for the murders.

Thought Matteotti Responsible.

Dumini said he learned that an Italian socialist deputy had planned a trip to Paris, returned immediately, and somewhere discovered that Sig. Matteotti was planning a journey. Sig. Matteotti did go to Paris soon. Immediately after his return, Nicola Bonservizi, the Paris correspondent of Popoli d'Italia, was found murdered, and Dumini clearly indicated that he considered Sig. Matteotti responsible.

"In my first written memorandum of the case I described how Sig. Matteotti was kidnaped," he testified. "I did not intend that he should die, therefore he was not murdered. Had he remained alive, the socialist leader would be on trial today for plotting certain murders."

Dumini avoided answering a question regarding wounds found on the body of Sig. Matteotti.

When asked to tell how Sig. Matteotti died, he replied: "I do not know how he died, for while we were bringing him into Campagna to persuade him to speak I learned from one of my companions in the car that Sig. Matteotti was dying. I immediately stopped the machine, and saw that Sig. Matteotti was coughing up blood. Five minutes later he was dead."

Whim and Vision.

Dumini said that the kidnaping was not planned ahead of time but was an inspiration of the moment, for which he alone was responsible. He had posted his comrades around a house in which the Socialist was believed to be visiting. Sig. Matteotti soon arrived.

"I saw before my eyes the vision of the murdered Nicola Conservizi," Dumini said, "and we seized the Socialist deputy and loaded him into the auto."

Dumini told of a mad ride through Campagna in search of a suitable place to bury the body, and of how the clothing was removed to prevent identification and was torn and scattered along the road.

Dumini's memorandum, read by the judge, revealed how Sig. Matteotti's grave was dug with a file, an automobile key, and a bolt, as the kidnapers had no proper digging tools.

ENROLLMENT OF 7,500 SETS WINTER RECORD AT U. OF CHICAGO

More than 7,500 students, the largest number ever in residence for the winter quarter, are enrolled at the University of Chicago from January to March, Prof. J. H. Tufts, vice president, announced yesterday in his statement to the 140th convocation in Mandel hall. Of this number 3,874 were men and 3,627 women.

During the quarter the development campaign has made steady progress, Dr. Tufts said, and the amount now subscribed is $7,421,550.64, including the $2,000,000 pledged conditionally by the general education board. The alumni fund has reached a total of $1,881,000, leaving $119,000 yet to be obtained if the two million quota is to be reached.

QUESTION GIRLS ON SHEIK DEATH THREAT LETTERS

Authorities Wondering if It's All a Joke.

Postal authorities, private detectives, and attachés of the state's attorney's office, headed by Assistant State's Attorney Joseph Nicolai, strove all day yesterday to solve the mystery of who wrote the bunch of letters which threatened death to a 62 year old Egyptian and a 19 year old girl unless they marry.

Boy friends and girl friends of the young woman, Frieda Ulm of 2127 Clifton avenue, were questioned. All denied that they had anything to do with the notes. Then Sayed Mehrem, who came from Cairo to hold down the job of handwriting expert in a loop department store, was quizzed.

"Why should any one write such letters?" he asked. "Who will be benefited if I marry her? It is all mystery to me."

The one substantial fact deduced from the whole investigation was that one person, apparently, had written all the letters. As a last resort handwriting experts will be asked to compare the chirography of the letters with that of the suspects.

Mehrem said one of the letters to him was written in French and another in Italian. Last Saturday the envelope inclosing his missive contained 25 cents in stamps and a declaration that he was a cheap skate, that, since car fare was furnished, he should go at once to visit Miss Ulm.

The most feasible theory, according to Mr. Nicolai, is that some person, jealous of Miss Ulm, attempted to force the marriage and, in effect, take her off the matrimonial eligibility list.

A variety of names were signed to the letters. Among them was that of Miss Ethel Benson, 654 Custer street. Mehrem started a small feud with her family when he called her home and informed her that he wished she would stop writing him.

Miss Elfrieda Oberheim, 732 Dewey place, also had her name appear on one of the notes. She denied knowing anything about it or the people involved. She said, however, that her brother Henry is engaged to Clara Baer, who lives in the same building with Ida Brookins of 1067 Cornelia street, a close friend of the Ulm girl.

Mr. Nicolai was satisfied that none of those questioned was guilty of writing the poison pen letters. It is still undetermined whether the writings were malicious or the work of a joker.

Members of the committee discussed the recommendation of the subcommittee, but owing to the absence of some of the senators it was agreed to delay final action.

Indications are that the full committee will approve the subcommittee report, which provides for the seating of Daniel F. Steck, Senator Brookhart's Democratic opponent in the November, 1924, election. Four or five members of the committee are likely to present a minority report.

SCRIPPS' BODY LOWERED 1,200 FEET UNDER SEA

MONROVIA, Liberia, March 16.—[U. N.]—The body of E. W. Scripps, the American newspaper publisher, was lowered into the Atlantic ocean at 7 p. m. last night.

While the officers and the crew of the Scripps yacht, Ohio, Mr. Scripps' personal staff and a Liberian official stood at attention, the flag draped coffin was lowered over the starboard side. A brief religious service was conducted by Capt. T. I. Vatland, who concluded with the words: "I cast thee into the deep."

One salute was given before the metal casket was lowered and one immediately afterward.

The sea was smooth at the time of the burial, but the skies were overcast. The casket was lowered with a 200 fathom line which found no bottom.

Mr. Scripps' burial at sea was in accordance with his own written orders. Since October, 1922, he had traveled 115,026 miles over every sea.

WASHWOMAN BRINGS REALTY MEN TO COURT

High powered salesmanship methods used to make a washwoman part with her life savings of $800 for a subdivision lot were charged against C. B. Ross, salesmanger of the S. F. Shephard Real Estate company, 105 West Monroe street, and A. Carlson, an agent, in a bill filed in the Circuit court yesterday.

Mrs. Clara Junghaus, 62 years old, 1614 Sedgwick street, declared that on last Feb. 2 Ross and Carlson forced their way into her home after she told them she did not want to purchase the lot, and after four hours of steady argument finally induced her to sign a contract to purchase a lot in the Calumet City subdivision for $3,000. It is charged they made her sign a withdrawal slip for $750 and took $50 in cash.

Mrs. Junghaus says she is unable to pay the $50 a month under the contract and asks that the contract be declared void.

INCOME TAX RETURNS HERE NOW $26,751,232

Income tax receipts for the northern Illinois district at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon reached a total of $26,751,438.78, with $7,424,232.96 received in the mails during the day. All of yesterday's payments bore postmarks prior to midnight Monday, which made them acceptable without delinquent penalties.

The total of those filing was brought to 125,500, the number for the day being 16,800, including both corporation and individual returns. Several thousand returns from outlying counties still were due.

Some Unusual Features.

According to Mabel G. Reinecke, collector of internal revenue, there was an unusual number of extensions and tentative returns this year. The extensions mean that no payment has been made, while the tentative schedules are represented by an estimated payment for the quarter, to be adjusted later between the internal revenue officials and the taxpayers.

At the federal building it was regarded as likely in most cases of tentative returns the final definite payment would result in an increase on the government ledgers.

It was said at the federal building that a number of bootleggers paid voluntarily for the first time this year. One of these filed a schedule of more than $12,000 a half hour before the deadline Monday night, he confided to friends as he proudly exhibited the duplicate of his return.

More Bootleggers Pay.

The increase in this class of payment was attributed to assurance of Commissioner of Internal Revenue David Blair, relayed through C. E. Boulden, revenue agent in charge, that honest and conscientious bootleggers would not be turned over to the prohibition authorities if they came in and paid their tax.

NEW LAW TO CUT $131,500,000 HOLE IN 1926 REVENUE

1927 Reduction to Be $319,000,000.

Washington, D. C., March 16.—[Special.]—The new revenue law will reduce revenues during the balance of the fiscal year 1926 by $131,500,000 and during the fiscal year 1927 by $319,000,000, according to information supplied to the house today by Representative Hawley [Rep., Ore.], a member of the house ways and means committee.

GARRARD B. WINSTON.
[Und. & Und. Photo.]

Mr. Hawley presented a letter with accompanying tabulations from Under Secretary of the Treasury Winston, who said that no estimate had been made for the fiscal year 1928.

Deficit Seen in 1927.

The detailed estimates of revenue receipts under the new law point to a surplus for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1926, of $130,541,756 on the basis of budget estimates of expenditures but without allowance for such deficiency appropriations as may be made by the present congress for the current fiscal year.

For the fiscal year ending June 30, 1927, the figures indicate a surplus of $11,307,895 on the basis of the original budget estimates for appropriations as transmitted to congress in December. Supplemental estimates transmitted to congress by the budget bureau aggregates about $25,000,000 and these do not include $25,000,000 for the first year under the operation of the pending public buildings bill or other proposed new expeditures.

Estimates 1926 Total Receipts.

The figures indicate that unless congress cuts appropriations for the fiscal year 1927 considerably below budget estimates a deficit of approximately $40,000,000 is in sight without making any allowance for increased pensions for the Spanish war and other veterans and other pending proposals.

Total ordinary receipts for the fiscal year 1926 under the new law as given by Under Secretary Winston will amount to $3,749,216,942. This includes $2,612,500,000 from internal revenue, of which $1,771,000,000 is from the income tax and $841,500,000 from miscellaneous taxes; $556,750,000 from customs duties; and $579,966,942 from miscellaneous receipts.

First steps toward setting up the permanent tax investigating committee provided under the new revenue law were taken today by the house ways and means committee. The five ranking members selected are Representatives Green [Rep., Ia.], Hawley [Rep., Ore.], Treadway [Rep., Mass.], Garner [Dem., Tex], and Collier [Dem., Miss.].

Conservative Republicans will be in control of the joint committee.

'TAX DODGER,' IS DEVINE'S RETORT TO G. F. HARDING

G. O. P. Battle for County Treasurer Warms Up.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

By all the tokens, a reformer's life these days is not a happy one. George F. Harding, Crowe-Barrett candidate for county treasurer, had no more than been decorated with the Order of the Uplift by B. W. Snow, one of his managers, when out of the void last night sailed a brickbat or potato or something aimed at the glossy, ten-gallon tile. It was shied by John F. Devine, Probate court clerk, who is on the Deneen slate as Mr. Harding's opponent for the treasurership.

Mr. Devine declared Mr. Harding is "Chicago's champion tax dodger," and said the argument that Mr. Harding's present aim in life is to reform the treasurer's office strikes him as "the most mirth provoking comicality of the campaign."

The Devine statement was by way of rejoinder, rebuttal, or commentary, or whatever you like, to Snow's statement from the Harding camp.

Claims Called Laughable.

"The assertion of the Crowe-Barrett forces," says Mr. Devine's utterance, "that George F. Harding's candidacy would save the city millions is laughable in view of the fact that Mr. Harding's special forte is not tax saving but is tax dodging. It is doubtful whether there is an individual in Chicago who has so consistently and so persistently allowed other taxpayers to bear the burden which he should have borne as has George Harding.

"The public records indicate that in the last twenty years the Harding real estate holdings in Chicago and Cook county have dodged at least $125,000 in taxes.

"In the statement from the Crowe-Thompson forces, it is said that George F. Harding is a man 'of substantial wealth.' Having no reason to doubt that fact, his tax-dodging record in the past is all the more reprehensible.

Twenty Year Record Cited.

"For twenty years this rich man who seeks to collect other people's taxes has consistently refused to pay his own taxes until he became an incumbent of public office. If the small home owners had pursued the same tactics as Mr. Harding, the wards of this county in our county hospital, the insane, the tubercular, the blind, would today be without a place to live and without a bed on which to lay their heads.

"We propose to show the people in the next few weeks the facts as to this candidate of wealth. We propose to show by actual facts and figures what the tax record of Mr. Harding has been in specific pieces of property.

"We shall also present to the public the facts concerning the alleged settlement of these back taxes of George F. Harding when he became a candidate for county treasurer.

"In order to make it understood that the attitude of Mr. Harding in respect to tax dodging is of long standing, we cite today a specific instance as to property included in the Harding estate, passing to him as heir at law."

The statement gives the legal description of the premises at 2427 Calumet avenue, which it says became in 1907 a part of the estate later inherited by George F. Harding. It says the public records show that from the time title was taken by the estate up to the time Mr. Harding became city controller, "not a penny of taxes" was paid on these premises.

"Then," the Devine statement continues, "actuated perhaps by the fear of political exposure or perhaps by a laggard sense of shame at being a tax dodger while at the same time he was a tax eater, in 1920 George F. Harding began paying the current taxes on that property. But the back taxes still remained delinquent and unpaid, and unless he has since reached an agreement with his friend, State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe, he has never paid any of the taxes which he or the Harding estate should have paid prior to that time.

"On Jan. 31, 1925, the premises in question were forfeited for the taxes for the year 1918 and prior years amounting to $8,268.

"We respectfully suggest to Mr. Harding that before he tries to collect other people's taxes he should pay the taxes which he himself owes to the county of long standing.

"If $8,268 were all that Mr. Harding owed, it might be taken as a lapse of memory. But we shall later give further specific instances and make suggestions which, if Mr. Harding follows them, will enrich the county and other taxing bodies by more than $100,000.

"A good collector of other people's money ought certainly to be able to collect from himself."

NATIONS' LEAGUE ANCIENT STUFF, SHIPSTEAD SAYS

Recalls Monroe Creed, Speaking Here.

BY FRANK BUTZOW.

The American people stand today where they stood 100 years ago—at the crossroads of international entanglements. They decided to follow the road away from Europe, the right road then.

Now they must decide again whether to keep on that old road, pointed out by George Washington, preserved by the Monroe Doctrine, or follow the beckonings of the wily diplomats of Europe, according to Senator Henrik Shipstead [Farm.-Lab., Minn.].

Senator Shipstead gave that warning at Fred Mann's Rainbo Gardens last night at a banquet, a curtain raiser for his speech at the Broadway armory tonight, when he intends to point the way for keeping America out of the world court.

The senator was introduced by William Hale Thompson. Sixty-seven Scandinavian-American societies were represented at the banquet.

"This is not the first time that the American people and their government have been approached with a proposition to tie us up with the political systems of Europe," the senator said.

Question for Young America.

America stood at the crossroads before, he said. The American and the French revolutions had challenged the old order of hereditary political autocracy. Later came Napoleon and still later his Waterloo. The monarchies were making their treaties—the treaties of Chaumont, Paris, and Aix-la-Chappelle—to guarantee the territorial status quo for the monarchs.

Then came that "Holy Alliance," "the holy league for peace." Senator Shipstead became a historian, quoting from these treaties, telling the motives underlying them, and leading up to the propaganda of the time by European diplomats and misguided Americans urging "moral participation" by the United States in European affairs.

"You will notice,' he said, as he quoted from the treaties, "the similarity of the language and spirit of these treaties to the covenant of the league of nations."

"The liberal and republican policy of the United States was looked on as threatening the established order in Europe. At Aix-la-Chapelle a confidential communication was submitted by Russia and the France of Louis XVIII. on the question of stopping the republican and constitutional movement in the western hemisphere.

"A terrific drive was started by European governments to obtain the signature of the government of the United States to this treaty on the ground that it would guarantee the peace of the world.

"In that document we find this statement: 'The people of the United States could be told that they are themselves a European people, Christians, and therefore, like Europe, interested in questions of a general nature.'

"The Russian ambassador (at Washington) wrote to a friend at that time that he found the people and government of the United States very suspicious of this European alliance that they were told would promote universal peace.

Declares U. S. Is Out.

"In July, 1820, Adams, in instructions to Middleton, who was American ambassador to St. Petersburg, resumed the policy of the United States in their relation with the powers of Europe and their attitude toward the league of peace, saying: 'Should renewed overtures be made, Russia will be answered that the organization of our government is such as not to admit of our acceding to that compact.'

"These instructions later were confirmed by the enunciation of the Monroe Doctrine barring the monarchical system of Europe from the western continent. You will notice that John Quincy Adams mentioned the fundamental differences in the system of government on the western continent with that of Europe, and pointed out the incompatibility of the two systems and the undesirablity of connecting the two."

BUTCH CROWLEY ARRESTED; RADIO ALIMONY ECHO

"Frameup," His Reply to Woman's Warrant.

Lawrence J. (Butch) Crowley, one time bootlegger who became so rich that, according to tradition, he had gold doorknobs in his house, was arrested yesterday on a charge of disorderly conduct brought by Mrs. Harry Geise, whose husband used to announce at Butch's WWAE radio station at Plainfield, Ill.

The trouble occurred at Musicians' hall, where Crowley went to argue before the Musicians' union why he shouldn't pay his ex-announcer $108. Mrs. Geise, whose name is Mildred, asserts that he insulted her in the hallway when she spoke to him. Butch's story is somewhat different.

Crowley Recalls Alimony Fight.

First he recalled the interesting fact that Mrs. Geise No. 1, whose name is Rosalind and who is somewhat peremptory in her demands for her alimony, had Geise thrown into jail a month ago until he paid up $375 of his arrears. She had recognized his voice from WWAE and went there for Harry, accompanied by a deputy sheriff.

"It's this way," said he of the gold doorknobs. "I hired this fellow Geise when he was down on his uppers. I took care of him. He went to California once and wired me for $300 so he could bring back this second wife. I sent it. Then he got in trouble with the other one that wanted the dough and I let him have $200 more to get out. Then he borrowed $35 from me and I never got that.

"Not so long ago Geise left me to work for another station. He put in a claim for $108 and I gave him a horse laugh. So I got a notice to appear before James Petrillo, the head of the Musicians union, and tell all about it. I was standing in the hallway when in comes Mrs. Mildred Geise. She dashes up to me and starts a spiel. I backed away and said: 'I don't want to talk to you.' That's all there was to it."

Then he added that the warrant was taken out at 1 p. m., two hours before he talked to Mrs. Geise.

"It's a frameup," he declared. "The only way they could keep me from winning with the union was to pinch me. I think I'll get out some kind of a warrant for Mrs. Geise, too."

Belgian Cabinet Rocked by Crashing of Franc

BRUSSELS, March 16.—(AP)—Only the absence of Foreign Minister Vandervelde, who is in Geneva for the league of nations meeting, has prevented the collective resignation of the cabinet on account of the bitter attacks on Finance Minister Janssen in connection with the depreciation of the Belgian franc. M. Janssen is placing his hopes for retention of his position in the prospect of prompt ratification by the American senate of the agreement for funding Belgium's debt to the United States.

LEITER BATTLE OPENS; SETTING ALMOST ROYAL

Statements Made in Suit Over $50,000,000.

is a family group, needing only a chaise longue and a piano lamp to make it truly domestic.

Mrs. Campbell, all in black save for a strand of pearls, which seems the sorority emblem of all the women folk in the trial, bends low over an embroidery hoop and makes a red rose grow on a sofa cushion. Next to her Mrs. Joe Leiter, in a green gown, a black velvet hat, and pearls works away on her sofa pillow just as zealously as if she had to do it.

In front of them sits Joe Leiter. In some miraculous way the needles don't hit him.

Noted Attorneys Gathered.

In between, around the table, it looks like a reunion of who's who in the Chicago Bar association. Some of the city's most distinguished attorneys sit there: Former Justice George A. Cooke, Frank Scott, Horace Kent Tenney, Patrick J. Lucey for the plaintiffs; Henry Russell Platt, Colin C. H. Fyffe, John C. Slade, Roswell B. Mason for the defense.

Attorney Scott, counsel for Lady Suffolk, makes the first opening statement. He is courtly and precise.

This entire litigation, he points out, revolves, primarily, about a quarrel over Joe Leiter's appointment of William Warr as a trustee of the estate of Levi Z. Leiter. But there are a hundred other ripples which have been stirred up.

Will Named Five Trustees.

In his will, dated eight days before his death on June 9, 1904, the elder Leiter placed his entire fortune in trust and named five trustees, including his widow, the late Mary T. Leiter; Joseph Leiter; his two youngest daughters, Mrs. Campbell and Lady Suffolk, and the late Seymour Morris. But in 1921, according to Attorney Scott, Joseph Leiter, ignoring the counsel of Lady Suffolk, appointed Warr, an employé, to the trusteeship made vacant by the death of Mr. Morris, and started the trouble.

So, the pleadings state, Lady Suffolk and her relatives seek to have both Mr. Leiter and Mr. Warr removed from their positions.

But that isn't all.

In and out, weaving its way through all the statements, is clause six in Levi Z. Leiter's will. Clause six empowered Joe to purchase, for himself, the coal mine at Ziegler, Ill., provided he made certain interest payments to the Leiter estate, and provided certain rents and royalties from the mine, whether or not he purchased it, went to the estate.

Mr. Scott declared that he would produce evidence to show that Warr, Leiter's "rubber stamp" trustee, aided him in his agile tumbling about of the Ziegler coal mine funds from the estate pocketbook to the Joseph Leiter account.

Lady Suffolk, in an effort to checkmate her brother, had William Scott Bond of Chicago given power of attorney for her. But this didn't matter.

"For," said Attorney Scott, "when a $100,000 corporation was formed to take over the renting of the Siegel-Cooper building, Mr. Bond was not consulted and learned of the transaction quite casually by reading of it in the newspapers."

That idea seemed to please Joe Leiter. He chuckled and had a good time over it.

Mr. Scott continued:

"When Mr. Bond remonstrated, he received a letter from Mr. Leiter telling him that he could have had any information he wished if he had chanced to call at the office of the estate.

Formed Company in Delaware.

"And that, indeed seems to have been the attitude always of Mr. Leiter, that Mr. Bond would have to come to his office to learn what the trustees were doing."

Former Judge Cooke, counsel for Lady Cynthia Mosley and her two sisters, made his opening statement next.

Less than a month after the probating of his father's will, permitting him to organize a mining company only in Illinois, Joe Leiter, Mr. Cooke declared, went off to Delaware and organized a Delaware company.

"It's only a small thing," the attorney admitted, "but it shows that at the very outset Joseph Leiter arrogated to himself all the authority he wished."

The pretty pink rose Mrs. Leiter was embroidering got a vicious jab in one of its petals as she stuck her needle into the fabric when she heard those words.

But that wasn't all.

Charges Over Leiter's Ranch.

There was that allegation that in 1918, Joe turned rancher, out in Wyoming, and spent something like one and one-half million dollars to construct a perfectly lovely reservoir. Only, the lawyers maintain, there aren't any ditches in which to conduct the water. Besides, there was a law at that time prohibiting the sale of water in Wyoming. And also "there is enough rainfall in that country for the purposes to which the land is most adapted, ranching."

Then, back to the Ziegler mines. There are scores of figures, all beginning in millions, and ending in two, or eight, or nineteen cents.

The meaning of them all, as Judge Cooke sees it, is that Joe Leiter violated clause six every time he turned around.

Built Mine With Profits.

For instance, he organized mine No 2, according to the opening statement, and paid for it out of the earnings of mine No. 1, although that was the mine, the rents and royalties of which old Mr. Leiter said must go to the estate.

The figure on that transaction was $3,323,182.89.

On July 1, 1918, he passed along to himself a $60,000 annual salary as president of the Ziegler Coal company, though the duties there, Attorney Cooke asserted, were only those which he should have done as a trustee.

Again, he is alleged to have purchased for himself the Chicago, Ziegler and Gulf six miles railroad, built by his father, at $30,000, and sold it back to the estate for $67,000 when he saw it was losing money.

Once more, December, 1906, he bought, for $8,000, the general store in Zeigler, made himself president, drew a $5,000 annual salary and made a $10,000 profit. In this deal he is charged with having deposited to his own account $150,000 which, by that persistent clause six of the will, should have gone to the estate.

About this time Attorney Platt, counsel for Leiter, made an objection to the argument which he declared was being injected into an opening statement.

Very suavely the two attorneys parried. Platt pointed out that he didn't want to be obliged to answer argument in his opening statement, to be given the first thing this morning.

Cooke advised him to use his own judgment. Platt remarked:

"I shall use my own judgment only in so far as it is lawyerlike to do so."

Cooke deliberated a moment and murmured, "To that I believe I shall make no reply."

The incident is significant for, by the yardstick of restraint used in this trial, it was the moment of hottest debate of the day.

That was yesterday. A countess in the courtroom was a novelty. A business agent with the poise of a duke was something new. A story of $50,000,000 was a bit bewildering.

Author Vows to Expose Vera and Lady Cynthia in U. S.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Copyright: 1926: By The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, March 16.—Lady Cynthia Mosley, Countess Vera Cathcart, H. G. Wells, and others had better watch out. Gilbert Frankau, the noted British novelist, will sail Saturday on the Berengaria for New York with the avowed purpose of exposing them.

"Pink Mandarins and Yellow Internationalists" was the title of a long discourse by Mr. Frankau before the English Speaking union today. He denounced "Ashes of Love," the play of the Countess of Cathcart which was produced here last night, calling it "a travesty on English life and a degenerate study of a plague spot in a small place."

He severely castigated Lady Cynthia, who has been telling Chicago how the British empire is socialistic. Mr. Frankau charged that she is abusing hospitality by spreading subversive doctrines on economic socialism. He then announced that he has been commissioned by two newspapers, the Morning Post and Sunday Pictorial, to tell the real facts in lecture tours through the United States, to combat the impression spread in America by British authors, lecturers, and playwrights that British workingmen and employers, owing to class hostility, are unable to compete with other nations in world markets.

"I will tell the Americans not to believe these half-wits," said Mr. Frankau. "We are badly represented in America, especially by articles written by distinguished novelists for the American press—[evidently referring especially to H. G. Wells]—who are trying to glorify socialism.

"English plays and English lectures convey the same impression as the novels, convincing audiences that the British empire is riding for a fall. Moscow is subsidizing these people and watching their efforts with a favorable eye, with the watchward, 'Destroy the British empire and a world revolution will follow as a natural consequence.'"

WACKER DRIVE FIRE MEMORIAL IS CALLED UNFIT

Plans Pushed in Spite of Art Board's Views.

Although every honor is due the heroic dead of the Chicago fire department, to erect a memorial station in the center of the South Water street improvement, known as Wacker drive, would be neither artistic nor practical.

This warning, sounded by art organizations, architects and traffic experts, will probably be overriden it appeared yesterday, unless decisive opposition is developed at once by citizens who foresee the project as a municipal blunder.

Provision for a $175,000 station is made in the fire department's share of the proposed $19,245,000 bond issue for public improvements approved by the city council finance committee. The council tomorrow is expected to order the bond proposal placed on the April primary ballot.

Big Engine House Planned.

Tentative plans for the memorial call for a two story engine house and trophy hall, occupying nearly half of the drive at Wabash avenue, directly in front of the new Jewelers' building. The structure would house three fire companies, with a truck garage, gymnasium, sleeping quarters, and space for display of numerous cups and medals.

In addition to the station, which would serve the loop and adjacent districts, the plans call for a water tower, fountains, lawns, and other landscaping, all inclosed within a large oval with sides parallel to the sidewalks.

The project is being actively promoted by Joseph F. Connery, fire commissioner, and has the enthusiastic approval of John J. Sloan, president of the board of local improvements. It has also been approved by the board of underwriters.

Disapproved by Art Board.

Blue prints and drawings of the proposed memorial were sent to the Municipal art commission last November. After a thorough investigation the commission disapproved them and asked for "further proof of the site being indispensable for the purpose of fire protection." The proof has not been furnished, Everett L. Millard, president of the commission said yesterday.

"I am convinced that this structure would be altogether undesirable," Mr. Millard declared. "The designs which have been submitted do not conform at all with the city beautiful plan.

"In the first place, it is impossible to achieve an artistic effect from an edifice with giant buildings like the Jewelers' tower behind it. It would look small, scrawny, and out of place.

"Secondly, it would block the view along the boulevard between the high buildings and the open river and violate the broad, open effect which was sought when this area was condemned at a cost of nearly $4,000,000. The city has few open spaces of this character, and what we have should be conserved."

Called a Traffic Menace.

Most serious of all objections, Mr. Millard pointed out, would be the obstruction of traffic, which will be especially heavy when the new Wabash avenue bridge is constructed. Not only would the building confine traffic to the two narrow lanes on each side, but fire trucks speeding out at every alarm would frequently tie it up altogether.

These views have also been subscribed to in resolutions passed by the Chicago chapter of the American Institute of Architects, the Wabash Avenue Bridge association, the Wacker Drive South Water Street Property Owners' association, and other organizations.

Mayor Dever declined yesterday to comment upon the project, but in a recent letter to Mr. Millard he wrote: "We are in actual need of a new station in this area, but whether another site could be made available I do not know. I am very anxious that on the completion of Wacker drive nothing unsightly may be erected in its immediate vicinity."

SENATE AGREES TO VOTE ON GOODING RAIL RATE BILL MARCH 24

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 16.—[Special.]—The senate will vote on March 24 on the Gooding long and short haul bill to prohibit rail competition with intercoastal and inland waterway boat lines.

A unanimous consent agreement providing for a vote on that day, submitted by Senator Gooding (Rep., Idaho), was adopted, Senator Bruce (Dem., Md.), withdrawing his objection which blocked adoption of an agreement yesterday.

Senator Phipps (Rep., Colo.), attacking the bill today, declared it was his conviction that passage of the measure would prove harmful to western interests.

Arthur H. Lundgren, 39, who was ill, committed suicide yesterday by shooting himself through the head at his home, 1630 North Whipple street.

REALPOLITIK AND THE WATERWAYS.

If Mr. S. Wallace Dempsey of Niagara county, New York, ever tires of his job as chairman of the rivers and harbors committee of the house he ought to be able to find a situation as public relations engineer or whatever it is the press agents are calling themselves this year.

Mr. Dempsey is no friend of the Great Lakes waterway, but he wants New York to get all that is coming to her. Perhaps he is beginning to think that the pressure of public opinion in the west will soon get out of hand and force the government to open a route from the lakes to the sea. At any rate, he is now doing his best to obtain favorable consideration of the route across New York state from Oswego on Lake Ontario to Albany on the Hudson. The New York route is called all-American by way of differentiating it from the St. Lawrence route, which is partly Canadian.

Gov. Al Smith offered to deed the all-American route to the government about the same time that S. Wallace showed the reporters letters from the secretary of war and the secretary of the navy. Mr. Wilbur and Mr. Davis both said that a waterway which was all in the United States could be more readily defended in time of war than one which was only partly in the United States. The letters were widely quoted, just as S. Wallace meant them to be.

The publication of the letters has caused some trouble to the President and to the secretaries, but S. Wallace will let them worry about that. He has done his bit for New York. A committee of army engineers is studying the relative merits of the St. Lawrence and the New York routes and the members of the committee read the newspapers. They can ignore the remarks of their boss, Mr. Davis, if they want to.

Scarcely had the letters been printed when Senator Lenroot of Wisconsin and Senator Willis of Ohio, accompanied by other friends of the St. Lawrence route, appeared at the White House and inquired how come. The President sent them to the war department, where Mr. Davis said it was all a mistake. He didn't care which route was chosen. The senators from Michigan, Ohio, and Wisconsin then obtained a hearing from the army engineers and did all they could to upset S. Wallace's work in behalf of New York.

The advocates of both routes are opposing the diversion of water at Chicago. That water is needed, as Secretary Hoover pointed out, for the success of the Mississippi waterway. Fortunately for the Mississippi valley, each of the interests opposing the Mississippi development has its special views regarding the Great Lakes waterway. There may be a chance to do some judicious trading. Perhaps S. Wallace will vote for our water diversion if we plump for New York's route. Maybe, on the other hand, Lenroot, Willis, and the rest will cease to oppose us if we continue to favor the St. Lawrence route.

Illinois and the Mississippi valley are willing to leave an engineering question to engineers, as suggested by Mr. Hoover. At the same time it is reassuring to note that if the diversion of the lake water is to become a political question we need not be entirely without allies. The votes of the Mississippi valley can decide where the Great Lakes shall be linked to the sea. We hold trumps. We need only play them skillfully to win.

TEACHERS' PAY.

There is talk of a reduction in teachers' salaries beginning next Sept. 1 to enable the board of education to balance its budget. Unless income is increased, expenditures from the educational fund, according to President Ellicott of the board, will have to be reduced $3,500,000 this year to enable the schools to carry on after Jan. 1, 1927. More than 80 per cent of the educational funds goes to the teachers. The easiest way to save money, therefore, is to reduce the teachers' pay.

We cannot believe that the proposal to reduce salaries is being entertained seriously. It would demoralize the teaching force. Chicago wants good teachers in its public schools and it cannot get them by paying them even less than they are now getting. The salaries of teachers should be the last, not the first item to be considered in the attempt to balance the budget.

ACTION AGAINST THE QUACKS.

The state department of registration and education, among whose duties is the examination and licensure of physicians, has summoned five doctors charged with quackery to appear and show cause why their licenses should not be revoked. The department also has called on the American Medical association, requesting the association's assistance in exposing and punishing cases of illegitimate practice.

It is gratifying to THE TRIBUNE to see the exposure of medical quackery in Chicago, recently accomplished by TRIBUNE investigators, followed by this official activity. It is unfortunate that a newspaper should feel itself called on to perform a duty for the performance of which the taxpayers maintain a public department. Since such a condition is probably inevitable, however, the next best thing is to see the department stirred to action by the newspaper's investigation.

The coöperation of the American Medical association should prove a valuable aid in putting the medical charlatan out of business. The association is careful to see that its membership is limited to those physicians whose standing is beyond ethical doubt. It bars or expels those who do not measure up to or who depart from the standard. To do its full duty, not only to the medical profession but to the public at large, the association must see to it, by coöperating with the proper state officials, that those practitioners unworthy of public confidence are not only denied membership with upright doctors but the opportunity to practice at all.

DEBS, MAN WITHOUT A COUNTRY.

Among the pacifists who openly opposed American participation in the world war, Eugene V. Debs, Socialist leader, was one of the most vehement and prominent. Debs was imprisoned for his conduct during the war and his citizenship rights were taken from him. President Harding later commuted the prison sentence, but Debs' citizenship has never been restored. Representative Berger, Wisconsin Socialist, now appeals to President Coolidge on Debs' behalf, but it is not likely that Debs will receive his citizenship rights again unless he himself appeals, and this, he has said, he will not do.

Debs was one of an unfortunately sizeable number who felt that they should obey the call of personal pacifism rather than patriotism, when the United States went into war. In peace times there was no great harm in letting Debs talk as much as he chose. With the declaration of war, however, pacifist talk inciting others to anti-war activity became treasonable and dangerous. As newspapers, for example, surrendered their freedom of the press, and soldiers their freedom of speech and action, to the censor in behalf of the common national cause, so it became necessary to make Debs give up his right to talk as he pleased, and he and others were imprisoned.

It was an emergency measure, and recognized as such following the war, when Debs and other pacifists were released.

But the restoration of the rights of citizenship is another matter.

No punishment so suited to the crime, none so calculated to bring the culprit to remorse, has ever been devised as that created, in fiction, by Edward Everett Hale in "The Man Without a Country." Philip Nolan, a lieutenant in the United States army, listened to the treasonable teachings of Aaron Burr and forswore his country, saying that he never wished to see it or hear its name again. His punishment was the granting of his wish. He was imprisoned on American war vessels, transferred from one to another, so that he never again saw, except by chance until his deathbed, never heard of the United States.

His punishment turned his original hatred of his country to a passionate patriotism.

Debs and his comrades did what Philip Nolan did. They abjured their rights and their duties of citizenship in the country's time of need. They forswore the United States. Albeit sincerely and courageously, they chose loyalty to their own self-sufficient convictions rather than loyalty to what their fellow Americans believed the greater and the nobler cause.

By his own choice, Eugene V. Debs, American citizen, became just Eugene V. Debs, man sufficient unto himself. Let him remain that way. If it is punishment, let it be punishment, and let it be hoped that it will bring home the sense of a loss and a frustrated life, and through these a knowledge of patriotic devotion.

DOING OUR STUFF FOR FLORIDA.

Reports that Florida real estate is not as active as it has been are not credible where we sit. Old timers up here say that from their observation of fur bearing animals it is apparent that we are not to have an open winter. That is believable, but it leaves a person feeling that all must be well in and about Miami, Palm Beach, Sarasota, St. Petersburg, and elsewhere south.

Florida has used great ingenuity to make the state attractive to people with carfare or a spare tire. That is within the power of man. Wealth is attracted to a climate which has no state income tax. The promoters made a mess of Young Stribling's proposed fight with Gene Tunney, but the sports have their horse racing and its accessories. What man can do to make a pleasant vale has been done. It represents genius, but it is not supernatural. The manipulation of our weather certainly is.

March, according to the Chicago weather bureau, has had just two normal days and only three without snow. Migration already is way behind schedule. This is the time when meadow larks begin to sing in the field and bluebirds from post tops. Hepatica ought to be up and robins ought to be all over the lawn. Buds ought to be swelling and fresh life showing in the thickets. Something has stopped our clock, and even if it is not another conspiracy against the midwest it must be adding value to Florida real estate and keeping the subdividers up nights.

Editorial of the Day

SOBERING UP AFTER THE PARTY.

[Philadelphia Public Ledger.]

The party is over. The stock market's big drunk lasted nearly two years. In that time it stepped high, wide, and handsome. America has been speculation crazy. "Florida fever" was a symptom.

Comes now the cold gray dawn of the morning after. In two short weeks billions of dollars melted from stock values. The lambs have been shorn and shaken out. It is a day of financial headaches and remorse for the gambler.

But—a working, trading, and developing America will not take it too seriously. There still are upward of 110,000,000 people in the United States. Millions of wealth producers are producing real, not speculative, wealth. A crazy stock market, whether on the up-take or the down-swing, cannot rob America of a single one of her great resources.

Business is sound. Steel and other great commodity orders are normal. In industry, both orders and production are increasing. Crude oil output is gaining. Car loadings today are greater than in the same periods of 1924 and 1925. The anthracite strike is over. The country at last has a sound federal tax policy. There is little unemployment. Money, at moderate rates, is plentiful.

In the long run, the result should be good. The froth and foam and spume have been blown from the market waters. Deflation hurts, but it is the only cure for inflation. Business has been cautious. It will be even more so. The brakes are going on in Wall street. They should have gone on months ago.

It would be foolish to "sell" the United States "short." It has everything now it had a year or a month ago. The country will be all the better for the cooling of this speculative fever that has been in its blood.

OYSTERS AND TYPHOID.

A REPORT on the prevalence of typhoid fever in Chicago shows that in 1924 of the 362 cases reported 63 contracted the disease through food (probably oysters, to quote the report verbatim). In 1925 25 of the 236 cases were charged to the same source—to wit: food (probably oysters). Neither contact with cases nor contact with carriers, water, nor bathing in swimming places equaled food (probably oysters) as a source of typhoid.

As a result of such conditions methods for making oysters safe were worked out just one year ago. The plan was inaugurated practically about Oct. 1. At the present time its adoption is progressing rapidly. By the beginning of the 1926 oyster season it should be in almost universal operation. Oysters are now safer than they have ever been in the history of their use. By next September they should be far safer than they now are.

One reason for the progress in safeguarding oysters is the fact that numerous carefully made studies have been made available. About the best of these is the famous report of the experiments made by the United States public health service on Fisherman's island. Some of the conclusions formed in this report are as follows:

Cooking of oysters as ordinarily done destroys typhoid organisms even in heavily infected shellfish.

Polluted oysters transferred to pure water eliminate almost all of the contained organisms within a few hours at feeding temperatures and within a few days in the winter.

It was found possible to purify polluted oysters by treatment in basins with water continuously or repeatedly disinfected with calcium hypochlorite.

The quantity of water filtered through an oyster's gills at moderate temperatures averaged greater than two gallons per hour.

Hibernation is sufficient to make many oysters safe which would be unsafe in warmer weather. But in view of the fact that infectious organisms are not all excluded from oysters during the hibernation of cold weather, oysters from grossly polluted waters are not entirely safe even in cold weather. Such oysters should not be used as raw food unless they are purified by planting them in pure water or by the use of chlorine water.

At feeding temperatures the intestines of oysters ordinarily contain the greater part of the pollution, while at low temperatures the liquor and the surfaces may be the more contaminated.

Since these experiments were made the oyster grounds have been brought under control and are more sanitary. The oyster shucking establishments have been made more cleanly and the practice of chlorinating the oysters is spreading rapidly.

EPILEPSY.

M. B. writes:

1. A contends epilepsy is caused by, or is a form of deficient mentality. B maintains it is a symptom or form of nervous instability. Who wins?

2. Instability (nervous) is not caused by deficient mentality, is it?

3. What are the symptoms and can they be cured or trained (even if the disposition is inherited)?

REPLY:

1. A is wrong [at least 90 per cent wrong]. B is nearer right [not more than 25 per cent wrong]. B wins.

2. It may be. Mental deficiency is not the most frequent cause or even a frequent cause. Idiots and occasionally imbeciles are sometimes subject to convulsions which are very similar to epilepsy.

3. Many epileptics can be trained. Many cases can be cured. Send 5 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope for booklet on epilepsy.

FOODS NOT CONSTIPATING.

H. M. P. writes:

1. Are the following foods constipating: Oatmeal, rice, pot cheese, and regular cheese?

2. What are their calories?

3. Is corned beef a good food? Is it constipating?

REPLY:

1. No.
2. High as to calories.
3. It is a good food and not constipating.

BETTER THAN TOTAL LOSS.

Chicago, March 10.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—About two weeks ago I left a pair of gloves with the cleaner but when I called for them he said he could not find them but to call again in a day or two. The gloves have not been located to date. They were $5 gloves and only worn a month. The cleaner offers to pay me $2.50. Must I accept it? E. E. A.

You are legally entitled to the present value unless the cleaner can show that the loss occurred without his fault. But obviously it would not be worth your while to pursue legal remedies over a difference of $2.50. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

PREPAREDNESS.

Chicago, March 11.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—1. May a man who is absolutely solvent transfer by bill of sale to his wife his own household goods?

2. If so, what, if any consideration must be stated in the bill of sale?

I am advancing in age and my object in doing this is to help in closing up my affairs if anything should happen to me. L. O.

1. Yes. If the instrument is recorded and is not in fraud of creditors.

2. A nominal consideration would be sufficient. If you intend a transaction which is not to take effect until your death we advise you to employ an attorney to draw a will. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

WATERED COKE.

Chicago, March 14.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—I recently bought some coke, paying $15.25 a ton for it. It was literally soaked with water to make the coke weigh heavy. I took a handful and dried it on the stove and the coke lost half its weight. On the bill was a city sealer's seal stating it was 1,000 pounds, but if the coke was dry it would weigh 700 pounds. How can I get what I pay for? P. K.

You would have been entitled to refuse at the time of delivery, but if you accepted the coke and have retained it until it is too late to adjust the matter by inspection, we can suggest no practicable remedy. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

"NOT INC."

Dubuque, Ia., March 11.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—What is the penalty for operating a business using the name "company" without stating that it is unincorporated and located in Illinois? C. R. C.

Sec. 220 of the Illinois criminal code provides a penalty against unincorporated associations or individuals using a corporate name, but it has been judicially construed (in 219 Ill., 46) not to apply to such cases as the United States Express company, where no fraud is intended. Nevertheless, many cautious persons use the words "not inc." after the word "company." TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

MARCH 17, 1861.

[March 17, 1861, was Sunday and The Tribune did not publish a Sunday edition at that time.]

25 YEARS AGO TODAY

MARCH 17, 1901.

CHICAGO.—John T. Shayne of Chicago and Mrs. Martha K. Hammond, former wife of Harry H. Hammond, were married in Pittsburgh, Pa., on March 14, it became known yesterday.

CHICAGO.—The Tremont house, which has a history reaching back to Chicago's village days, was sold to Northwestern university for $500,000. The hostelry, which, barring fires, has had a continual existence since 1832, is to be remodeled and will become the home of the law, dental, and pharmaceutical schools of the university. The hotel began as a saloon and boarding house. In all the earlier decades of the city's history it was the best hotel in town. No hotel in the west has been the starting place of so many men who afterward made national reputations as the old Tremont. There David A. Gage and John B. Drake had their training and at one time nearly every prominent hotel man in Chicago traced his career back to the Tremont. This sale leaves only the Sherman house, established four years after the Tremont, as a reminder of pioneer days.

PARIS.—Count Boni de Castellane and M. de Rodays, editor of Figaro, fought a duel in the Parc des Princes. There was only one exchange of shots. Rodays was wounded in the thigh. Count Boni was unhurt. Most careful arrangements were made to bar outsiders. The duel was the outcome of the Count slapping the editor's face last week for having intimated in the Figaro that Castellane was the man who had exposed Paul Deroulde's coup d'etat to the Duke of Orleans.

CHICAGO.—The Chicago Burlington and Quincy railroad has passed practically into the hands of James J. Hill, THE TRIBUNE is authoritatively informed. Arrangements are about completed whereby the Burlington system is to be leased to the Great Northern and Northern Pacific companies, the latter guaranteeing 7 per cent dividends on the Burlington stock.

INDIANAPOLIS.—The remains of ex-President Benjamin Harrison lay in state for nine hours in the capitol and were reviewed by 50,000 persons. The military escorted the body from the Harrison home. The funeral will be held today.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

MARCH 17, 1916.

WASHINGTON.—It was reported that Mexican snipers fired on Gen. Pershing's forces in Mexico and that seven American troopers had been wounded.

EL PASO, Tex.—The 7th and 10th cavalry, said to be advancing into Mexico by forced marches from Culberson's ranch near Hachita, N. M., were nearing the Villa territory in the Casas Grande last night. The main column under Gen. John J. Pershing has penetrated below the border into Mexico. The punitive expedition is marching under ideal weather conditions.

CHICAGO.—Thousands are seeking to enter the United States army for the Villa hunt, according to Lieut. Franklin R. Kenny, in charge of recruiting in the Chicago district. More than a thousand applied to enlist here within two days.

WASHINGTON.—Impressed by increasing evidence of the serious necessity of providing the nation with an adequate army as soon as possible, congress abruptly turned its attention to pending military legislation. The thing that opened the eyes of the congressmen was the fact that it required a week to mobilize 5,000 soldiers for the expedition into Mexico.

CHICAGO.—The Aero Club of Illinois, of which Charles Dickinson is president and James S. Stephens is vice president, offered the government a square mile of cleared land within the city limits of Chicago for an aviation field. The tract is in the southwestern section of the city, near the Ashburn station on the Wabash railroad.

LONDON.—Repulse by the French again has been the net result of a German infantry attack launched with huge effectives after a heavy bombardment of the French position at Le Mort Homme [Dead Man's hill], northwest of Verdun. The Germans, who attacked in masses, were driven eastward toward the Bois des Corbeaux, where the French guns inflicted heavy casualties on them.

CHICAGO.—The marriage on March 10 was announced of Miss Ruth Keefe, daughter of J. S. Keefe of Oak Park, to Frederick M. Darnell.

LONDON.—The Holland-Lloyd passenger steamer Tubantia was sunk off the Noordhinder lightship as the result of striking a mine or an attack by submarine.

No, Tell It.

R. H. L.: Have you heard about the fellow that said "Don't boil that lobster, it might be Lon Chaney?" H. H.

OH, WE KNOW OURSELF why Heywood Broun said that we had no literary circle of any importance in Chicago! We were in Carson-Pirie's book store yesterday and there on the counter were a lot of books which had once sold for two dollars and more. And on the counter was a big sign that said, "Marked down to thirty-five cents, three for a dollar." And scattered all over the counter were copies of "The Boy Grew Older," by Heywood Broun. We're going to wait till Carson-Pirie marks 'em down to fifteen cents each, or two for a quarter. Revenge! Revenge! Revenge!

HERE COMES THE REINFORCEMENTS. WE ARE SAVED! SAVED!

Mr. Little: I am afraid that our boy friend John Quill and his sarcastic information on "Shrapnel as Used During the Great Fight for Democracy" is a first class bust. He evidently loaned his services to the Y. M. C. A. replacements or some laundry battalion, so wouldn't be expected to know that both the Boche and the Allies used shrapnel, and especially in anti-aircraft work. RED AND BALD.

We Haven't Seen It Yet. Morris Gest, Please Write.

Dick—I haven't seen it either—every one I see who saw it says they're glad they saw it but wouldn't want to see it again. Do you think you'll see it, or have you seen it yet? HARRY.

Let Mr. Mencken Hiss It Once.

R. H. L.: In SUNDAY'S TRIBUNE, which I seldom read now since there is no Line o' Type in it, I saw that Mencken thinks that "the name of Tennessee will become a byword and a hissing among the other states." I tried to hiss Tennessee on my hisser but with little success, but Mississippi had better be blamed careful not to get into the same class. SISSERETTA SIMMINGTON.

EVERYTHING was so quiet and peaceful on the eve of good St. Patrick's day that we decided yesterday it was a good time to take up a little space by saying that Snowshoe Al's book, "bedtime stories," will be on the book stall Sat., April 3. The "Contributors' Guild," composed of half a dozen or so contributors to the Line, are publishing the book, and A. D. Weinthrop is printing it. The book has the best looking jacket on it that was ever put on a book. And only modesty prevents us from saying who designed said jacket.

GRANNIE'S HOME.

II.

R. H. L.: Grannie's dad turned Quaker when she was just a little tad, but the religion of the "friends" could not quench the fires of adventure and daring in her heart. How her eyes would shine as she told me tales of the uniforms and swords, the powder horns, and faded finery up in the only clean attic I ever saw—mute symbols of those scarlet soldiers who marched so jauntily past the house long, long ago. . . .

That's my Pennsylvania. . . . Nobody lives in Grannie's house . . . now . . . but on days like this I like to dream of going back, of tearing the boards out of the windows, of lighting a fire in the old kitchen fireplace (with its half-effaced date of 1750) and watching the flickering, flaming lights gleam on the wistful rows of pewter plates in the corner cupboard. How wonderful to breathe deep the sweetness of the cherry trees some long dead kinsman planted all around the house when a small frightened bride came across the sea to a new world and a new life . . . how wonderful to grow old in the mellow dimness of it all . . . as Grannie did. DUCHIANA.

It Would Have to Be Unanimous and There Has Been an Objection.

R. H. L.: I'm so happy that Georges has decided to reprint the 1924 Linebook, Hunchback and all, and, oh, if we could have "A Flower for Bill"! Well, here's my vote right now. LORA THELMA.

'RAH! 'RAH! 'RAH! We'd like to get the roosters out, but it's St. Patrick's Day in the Mornin', and only the little shamrock can adorn the colyum today. But a senate committee has voted to seat Dan Steck and unseat Mr. Brookhart. We've been for Dan all along, and sometimes we cheered out of our turn. But we kept cheering anyhow. We said that Dan Steck would finally be senator from Iowa and it's coming true. When it comes to spring and politics we can certainly call the turn. 'RAH! 'RAH!! 'RAH!!!

It's August, March, or June;

PEDESTRIANS' RIGHTS.

Chicago, March 13.—Ald. Bowler is reported as stating that he will ask the city council for an ordinance to prohibit pedestrians from crossing loop streets against the traffic lights. Ald. Bowler evidently overlooks the following important facts:

Courts have repeatedly ruled against such ordinances. Recently a similar ordinance in Washington, D. C., was declared illegal.

Statistics show that very few accidents occur in Chicago's loop and that the great danger spots are in residential districts, due to parking near street intersections and driving cars at high speed around corners.

The present red and green block signals are installed and regulated solely to speed up street traffic. The pedestrian is given no consideration. If he attempts to cross when the light flashes green, his passage is cut off by cars turning corners.

If the pedestrians are to be requested to observe traffic light signals, they have a right to insist that there be a separate pedestrian walk signal, by which all street traffic is brought to a stop and similar to the present walk signal of the west park system.

Ald. Bowler says that the object of the proposed ordinance is to speed up traffic. Are the streets public thoroughfares or a private right of way for autoists?

The congestion of which the alderman complains is not due to the pedestrian's manner of crossing the streets, but is due to parked cars. Evidently there are a great number of car owners who consider it proper to use the loop streets as a free garage. Why does not Ald. Bowler suggest an ordinance to prohibit all loop parking? PEDESTRIAN.

THE ALL-AMERICAN ROUTE TO THE SEA.

Mattoon, Ill., March 12.—Let's go after the New York route to the Atlantic. In case of war with England the all-American route would be worth many times its extra cost. ILLINOIAN.

FIRE FIGHTERS' HOURS.

Chicago, March 12.—The article and picture in this morning's paper regarding engine company 17, C. F. D., working over 48 hours at the Halsted-Fulton street fire is misleading, in so far as the hours of service of each platoon of the fire department are 24, at the expiration of which the working platoon is relieved by another (24 hours off, 24 hours on). Engine 17 responded to fire box 335 at 7:43 p. m. Tuesday night and the crew on duty worked until 3 a. m. Wednesday, when they were relieved for 24 hours. My object in writing is to head off a lot of unjust criticism of Fire Commissioner Connery and Chief Seyferlich for working men 48 hours continuously when nothing of the kind was done. F. W. SYKES.

JUST A HOAX, THIS PROHIBITION.

Waukegan, Ill., March 13.—I wonder if it has not occurred to the public that prohibition was never intended to be enforced against gentlemen or in good society. Its promoters had that very thought in mind that it would not be used against their friends.

It would be just as sensible to attempt to enslave some of Jeff Davis' or Joe Wheeler's grandchildren, or to shut a member of the Ku Klux Klan out of office because of his religion. This is all rank heresy. Gen. Butler should have known better. E. V. ORVIS.

SUNDAY SCHOOL MATERIAL.

Chicago, March 11.—I am teacher of a Bible class enrolling seventy-five business girls, teachers, homemakers, etc.

It is our custom to give some time each Sunday morning to the discussion of articles bearing on religion, taken from any magazine, newspaper, trade journal, etc. The young women make their own selection, but, beginning last Sunday, I shall each week assign (in addition) THE TRIBUNE article to one person for review, another for discussion.

I am writing because in your foreword you indicated your desire to know whether many would care for your new venture. I wanted you to know this group will care.

Among other things I want the young women to form the habit of reading the editorial page, if they do not already do so. MARGARET M. BANGS.

JUNKETING.

Chicago, March 13.—Many Chicagoans look for robin redbreast to tell them spring is here. But haven't we a more reliable forecast every year, when at this time our newspapers announce the spring junket of the council's transportation committee?

The money spent on world tours by politicians seeking a solution of the Chicago traction problems during the last twenty years would start a sizable subway. Isn't it about time that the taxpayers limited the good intentions of the traveling council group to a round-Chicago tour on the surface lines?

The present operators of the traction properties know how to run street cars and give service. Less interference and more constructive help from the city council will satisfy the people more than spring, summer, fall, and winter tours by the transportation committee. JOSEPH F. DUNN.

FOR INDEPENDENT SANITY COMMISSION.

Independence, Ia., March 12.—We have been much in sympathy with your cartoons and editorial remarks in regard to the inefficiency of our criminal legal procedure. In reading the paper today it seemed to me that Judge Kavanagh's action in having an impartial insanity commission pass on the sanity of a criminal ought to be made into law, and the decision of such a commission to be final and not subject to being overturned by a jury, who have no scientific knowledge of the matter whatever. GEORGE H. JONES.

GEORGIA PEACHES.

Buchanan, Mich., March 12.—America's most beautiful girls live in Georgia, girls of remarkable coloring, carriage, and poise. They may not dress as smartly as the girls of the boulevard, but the inimitable grace with which the girl of Georgia wears her frocks is most distinguished. Then—to hear the Georgia girl speak! Unlike, many times, her Chicago cousins who speak loudly and sharply with a hard accent, the Miss Georgia speaks with a soft drawl in a low, naturally modulated voice that bespeaks generations of breeding and culture. Young man—go to Atlanta if you would seek beautiful girls. V. K. JOHNSON.

WHERE BEAUTY HIDES.

Chicago, March 16.—Chicago may have pretty girls; so may Wilkesbarre, Pa., but Beverly Hills, just south of the city, Chicago, has the prettiest. Just come out and see! BEVERLY BOOSTER.

COERCING OPINION.

Chicago, March 14.—The article in today's issue by Lieut. McGrath on prohibition presents a picture well worthy the most careful study of all classes who are deeply interested in the moral advancement of the city, the state, and the nation.

All morality and virtue that is worthy the name must come by education. Force and coercion defeat the attainment of the very result they seek to secure. Every man with any virility in his blood defies the constant irritation of the arrogance of a group, whether a majority or a minority, who seek by force and coercion to compel him to accept their way of thinking and to mold his habits into conformity with their own. No law will change human nature. OSWALD BREWER.

BUT NOT JUST ONE LAW.

Mount Morris, Ill., March 15.—Why did Policeman McGrath allow a saloon to exist contrary to law? Was he sworn to uphold the law? R. O. BROWN.

SHAKESPEARE DISTRICT'S PROBLEMS.

Beardstown, Ill., March 15.—If Lieut. McGrath had made an honest effort to enforce the Volstead act instead of criticizing it, probably there wouldn't have been any real beer in the Shakespeare police district to sell to Joe Lezarski at 25c per stein at the corner saloon.

Lieut. McGrath seems to know that it was there. What did he do as a police officer to stop it? J. L. LOSS.

COURT TO HEAR COFFIN'S STORY OF $72,000 FEE

Defense Loses Fight to Prevent It.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

After another day of argument for and against the admissibility of the evidence given by Percy B. Coffin as to what he did with the $72,000 he received from real estate expert funds, Judge Hugo M. Friend ruled yesterday to admit this testimony to the record, subject to rebuttal later, as part of the case offered by THE TRIBUNE attorneys to prove a conspiracy against the city.

Replying to a final effort on the part of Attorney Chester E. Cleveland, counsel for Col. Coffin, to block this evidence, the court said:

"It seems to me the court ought to follow what Mr. Wigmore calls a benevolent policy of permitting evidence in a proceeding of this kind to be introduced freely, and then give the other side an opportunity, when the time comes, of rebutting it.

"On the question of conspiracy, I think that as to the defendants who testified before the grand jury that their admissions would be admissible."

Defense Raises Duress Question.

The defense has claimed that the admissions of Col. Coffin and others were obtained under duress, by threats of jail sentences, and so should be excluded. On that point the court said:

"I think on that point the better way to do is to let it go in with the attending circumstances, so far as they appear from the record; then let the defendants, when the time comes, put in whatever evidence they have to show whether duress was used, and, if so, what the nature of it was, and then let the court determine from all the facts and circumstances whether much credibility or weight is to be given these confessions."

This decision opens the door to the grand jury testimony of Coffin, Arnold H. Brautigam, Frank J. Koch, and William Hale Thompson.

Attorney Howard Ellis for THE TRIBUNE and Attorney Samuel A. Ettelson, on behalf of George F. Harding and Mr. Thompson, engaged in a tilt over the methods by which this testimony had been obtained by the 1923 grand jury which sat for nearly a year.

"Coffin was grabbed and subpoenaed to come before the grand jury," said Mr. Ettelson. "They held a gun to his head when he went over there and the fact that he went to Milwaukee shows that he was trying to evade the process."

Make Further Objections.

Mr. Cleveland objected to the testimony because Mr. Coffin, he said, told part of the truth, but not all of it.

Mr. Ettelson objected because "they sent in his political enemy, Jimmy Barbour, to put the questions to him before the grand jury."

Defense Attorney Albert Fink talked about Torquemada and the Spanish inquisition.

Attorney J. A. Schiller, assistant corporation counsel, argued for the admission of the evidence.

"I propose to show," he said, that in the year 1924, which was one year after Coffin testified before the grand jury, that Lyons, one of the defendants, brought suit for $136,000 against the City of Chicago, as a result of the original conspiracy in which he secured $570,000. In the copy of the account in this suit Mr. Lyons states:

"City of Chicago, to Ernest H. Lyons, debit, the services performed by Ernest H. Lyons for the City of Chicago at the special instance and request of the City of Chicago, $723,308.82; received payment of $584,866.41; balance due, $136,442.41.'

"By that the city wishes to show that they did not stop in their anxiety to get the city funds on the 31st day of January, 1921, when they secured final payment for vouchers due as of Dec. 31, but continued in the pursuit of the conspiracy which was originated in the year 1920, up to the date of the filing of the suit, Feb. 25, 1925."

"Mesce and Lynch were the builders," said Mr. Schiller. Lyons, Merigold and Waller were the real estate experts. These five were grouped in under this five year contract by the board of public improvements and in the March term, 1926, there is to be an answer by the City of Chicago in this lawsuit.

"They still persist in claiming that there is due them, these experts, sums aggregating over one million dollars. The City of Chicago is at bay in these lawsuits. The city is determined to defend them to the utmost, and I say that in view of these circumstances the conspiracy is here."

MELLON'S NEW DRY BUREAU BILL SENT TO HOUSE

Provides Commissioner for Enforcement.

Washington, D. C., March 15—[Special.]—Secretary of the Treasury Mellon's bill, which provides for reorganization of the prohibition unit and the establishment of separate bureaus for prohibition and customs, was ordered reported out favorably to the house today by the ways and means committee.

Direct responsibility for the inforcement of the dry law is vested in the secretary of the treasury by this bill, which divorces the commissioner of internal revenue from all authority in enforcing the Volstead act.

Provides Civil Service.

The committee tacked on a provision to place prohibition agents under civil service. This change was made following the action yesterday of Representative Blanton [Dem. Tex.], in blocking the passage of the Cramton bill which calls for placing the entire personnel of the prohibition unit under the civil service.

Under the original bill, the head of the treasury department is authorized to delegate dry law administration to a commissioner who would receive a salary of $10,000 annually. As the bill was reported it carries a salary of $8,000 each for the commissioner of prohibition and a commissioner of customs.

Representative Griffin [Dem., N. Y.], in an attack on the eighteenth amendment in the house, asserted that its passage had affected adversely one-half billion dollars' worth of property and made a crime of conduct which hitherto had not been the subject of criticism.

Arrest Coast Guardsmen.

New London, Conn., March 16.—(AP)—Charged with being in collusion with members of a rum ring, six members of the United States coast guard were arrested here today. The men are charged with conspiracy to violate the customs and prohibition laws by smuggling liquor into the country.

They were arrested at the coast guard base on warrants obtained by a special agent of the treasury department. The same agent has been in charge of the government's investigation of the rum ring activities which had resulted in the arrest of thirteen men.

The guardsmen were arraigned before Commissioner Corcoran and four gave bonds of $500 each. Two went to the county jail in default of bonds.

Return Seized Alcohol.

Cleveland, O., March 16.—(AP)—Return to the Superior Alcohol company of 75,564 gallons of alcohol seized by the government during its investigation of an alleged bootleg conspiracy was ordered by Federal Judge D. C. Westenhaver today.

Judge Westenhaver also ordered libels lifted from the Superior plant and the property of the Prospect Refining and Chemical company, a subsidiary.

The orders will not affect the case, which resulted in the indictment by a federal grand jury yesterday of 112 men in twelve cities on conspiracy charges, United States Attorney A. E. Bernsteen said. It paved the way for a new action to obtain control of the alcohol and the plants, to bring charges for evading tax payments, he added.

Several million dollars is due the government for taxes on alcohol withdrawn ostensibly for industrial purposes, but which was diverted to bootleg channels. It is alleged that thousands of gallons were withdrawn on government permits, exempt from the $2.20 a gallon revenue tax.

SAGE TEA TURNS GRAY HAIR DARK

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray or streaked, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold. Don't bother to prepare the mixture; you can get this famous old recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients for only 75 cents, all ready for use.

It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustrous.

GENNA DEFENSE URGES IT'S O. K. TO KILL COPS

Calls Shooting of Policemen Self-Defense.

CRIMINAL COURT.

Clifford Stevenson and William Roche, robbery, sentenced to 3 to 20 years in the penitentiary; John Grzenia, larceny, to reformatory 1 year, by chief Justice Thomas J. Lynch.

Gus Nelson and James Wicks, robbery, sentenced to 3 to 20 years in the penitentiary by Judge William N. Gemmill.

"Men may kill policemen in resisting an unlawful arrest and the law must not punish them. Citizens are guaranteed, under the constitution, the right to resist with pistols or shotguns an enforcement officer who dares to stop and question them."

The foregoing interpretation of the American law was the gist of an eloquent word picture flung by Defense Attorney Michael Ahern before the jury in Judge William V. Brothers' court, where John Scalisi and Albert Anselmi, two Genna gangsters, are on trial for the murder of Policeman Charles Walsh.

Same Argument Used Before.

It was the same argument, but even more dramatically rendered, that Ahern delivered in the gangsters' first trial, when a jury put aside the state's demand for a gallows verdict and decreed that the two men should be imprisoned for fourteen years for killing Walsh's squad mate, Policeman Harold Olson. Both officers were killed when they and two companions sought to arrest Anselmi, Scalisi, and Mike Genna, who also was killed in the ensuing street battle.

Prosecutor William McSwiggin, who will answer Ahern's doctrine tomorrow, declared it to be anarchistic—a theory of law which if proved sound would result in the greatest defiance to order and morality.

"Ahern would have the police less active against these gangsters," the prosecutor said. "The police should not move a step against them without warrants. And when warrants were obtained, where would the criminals have flown? Ahern pins medals on police killers."

Pleads for the Masses.

The defense attorney reviewed the age old struggle of the masses for freedom from oppression, and besought the jury to invoke it now in behalf of the two Sicilian aliens already found guilty of murder.

He was preceded by Defense Attorney Patrick H. O'Donnell, patriarch of the criminal bar, who argued that Scalisi and Anselmi had thought they were being pursued by rival gangsters and not by policemen.

"They were not afraid of policemen," he declared. "Why should they be? Hadn't the police condoned for five years the open bootlegging business of the Gennas?"

This morning Mr. Ahern will resume and close his argument. He will be followed by his law partner, Thomas D. Nash, who will close for the defense. Prosecutor McSwiggin's address will end the arguments.

CINDERELLA SUES, SHOCKED BY RICH HUSBAND'S DIARY

Mrs. Towne Charges a Plot for Divorce.

Mrs. Dorothy Ravin Towne, the Connecticut Cinderella who says her fairy dream turned out to be a nightmare, yesterday filed in Superior court here through her attorney, Ben Epstein, a bill petitioning for separate maintenance from her husband, James Marshall Towne, heir to the millions of the founder of the Yale and Towne Lock company.

Just six months after her elopement with the scion of the socially impeccable Towne family, whom she met while she was a bench worker and he working as an apprentice in the lock factory at Stamford, Conn., the clock of their marital happiness struck twelve, she said yesterday. Among the charges she makes are:

Threats against her life on more than one occasion; a beating so severe she was compelled to remain in bed for a week; incarceration in a Connecticut insane asylum; repeated efforts to secure a collusive divorce, leaving her penniless and dependent of charity; the employment of detectives to shadow her movements in an effort to secure evidence of misconduct that might be used as a weapon to compel her to consent to a divorce.

Calls Removal a Conspiracy.

The bill also alleges that Towne, unable to secure a divorce in Connecticut, had himself transferred by his company to Chicago, as part of a conspiracy to dupe his wife into leaving her family and friends and joining him. His purpose, she asserts, was to render her more amenable to his wishes, and to frighten her into giving him the desired freedom.

Her husband's whereabouts since last Thursday are unknown to her, as he packed his traveling bag and left their apartment at Evanston without mentioning his destination, she said.

Towne's property was valued in the bill at one million dollars, at least. In addition, his wife cites an annual income of $50,000 from a trust fund administered by the Bankers Trust company of New York and Chicago; 4,000 shares of Yale and Towne company stock, earning yearly dividends of $16,000, besides his earnings as an officer of the company.

Diary Opened Her Eyes.

An injunction asked for in the bill seeks to restrain the trust company and the Yale nad Towne Lock company from turning over to the defendant any further money until settlement has been effected with his wife.

"It surely opened my eyes when I ran across his 'Story of My Married Life,' and when I read the diary he kept," pretty, olive skinned Mrs. Towne related last night. "He thought he was safe when the sheriff broke open my safety deposit box in Evanston, and gave them back to him. But people sometimes make notes of such things, and perhaps he isn't quite so safe as he thinks he is."

The Townes were married March 13, 1919, at Toledo, O.

ROBBED BY THREE BANDITS.

William Waslin, 417 East 45th street, was held up last night by three colored bandits and robbed of $27, a watch and a fur cap in front of 4016 Grand boulevard.

FIVE IN FAMILY BURNED TO DEATH IN THEIR HOME

Carlisle, Ia., March 17.—(AP)—An entire family of 5 persons perished in a fire that destroyed a farm home near here today. The mother, Mrs. Lena Trichel, died following her brave but futile attempts to save her children and husband from the flames, which started with the explosion of a can of kerosene with which she was feeding the kitchen fire.

The dead are Donald Trichel, 30; his wife, 29, and their three children—Lura, 8; Marjorie, 5, and Ida Belle, 3.

Trichel, asleep in a room adjoining the kitchen, was so badly burned that searchers could scarcely find his body. The fire reduced their home to a heap of ashes.

5 ARRESTS FOR ALLEGED FRAUD IN FLORIDA LAND

U. S. Rounds Up N. Y. Corporation Officials.

New York, March 16.—[Special.]—The scheme of the Griffin Development and Construction company of inducing holders of stock in defunct corporations to buy Florida real estate, using the worthless stock to meet one-third of the cost of the land, appeared again today in the federal court. The scheme was exposed last month by the attorney general's office.

The new attack came in the shape of a complaint by a postal inspector against five defendants, who were arraigned before United States Commissioner Cotter.

Five Held Under Bond.

Two of the defendants, Barry R. Griffin and Charles Greenhaus, secretary of the Griffin concern, were each held in $5,000 bail to answer a charge of mail fraud, and William C. Price, Ivan Franklin Israel, and W. Kyle, salesmen, were each held in $2,500.

In another action in the state courts the attorney general obtained a temporary injunction from Justice L. B. Faber of the Kings County Supreme court restraining Greenhaus and the other defendants from further transactions in land stocks, bonds, or other securities, pending further proceedings.

Action by United States Attorney Buckner came after his office had received complaints from persons who had been induced to make a payment on land in Florida after they had been told that the land could be easily sold to others at a profit of from $250 to $450 on each lot.

Ask Money for Mortgages.

According to Mr. Buckner, the buyers would then be asked to help pay off an alleged mortgage so that the property could be sold to an anxious buyer who would pay enough for it to yield a profit to all of the investors.

It was learned that the Griffin concern really owned about 700 lots in Putnam county, Florida, which had been bought for about $20 a lot, and that Mr. Buckner believed the accused men, and a number of others who have not yet been arrested, had worked out a new scheme of swindling and had used the widely advertised Florida land boom to defraud investors.

GYPSY LEADER IS FINED.

Zippo Miller, 38 years old, 1254 South Jefferson street, gypsy leader, charged with inciting a riot at Jefferson and Maxwell streets Monday, was fined $50 yesterday by Judge Hartigan in the Maxwell street court, on a charge of disorderly conduct.

MOORS ATTACK AS GUNS SOUND CALL TO PRAYER

Spaniards in Tetuan Forts Surprised.

BY LORIMER HAMMOND.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

[Copyright: 1926: By The Chicago Tribune.]

TANGIER, March 16.—The Riff rebels outside of Tetuan swooped down on a number of Spanish patrols last night, under cover of the widespread gunfire which is the traditional signal for the opening of the Moslem holy festival of Ramadan.

At 3:45 this morning a month of fasting by the Moors began. As in past years, the Mohammedan population of Morocco waited for the guns to be fired from the mosques warning them that food must not pass their lips again until the next sunset. According to the sacred rites inaugurated by the prophet himself, all the good people of Islam are pledged to abstain from food, drink, and various pleasures every day between sunrise and sunset during the lunar months called Ramadan.

Forget "Fast" on Fighting.

In normal times the warriors are supposed to abstain from fighting, too, but evidently Abd-el Krim is one of those modern commanders who believe that war is a game in which opportunities must be grasped regardless of tradition.

About an hour before daybreak those waiting at the Moslem temples of Tetuan heard guns echoing from the hills. Spaniards and Moors alike thought it was nothing more than the signal calling all the faithful to quit the delights of the flesh, but it was not long before riders arrived at headquarters of the Spanish garrison to tell the story of early morning raids.

Until noon Spanish columns of infantry, columns of cavalry, and field batteries hurried through the streets of the city, marching in the direction of the Riff lines. There was a sharp

Spaniards Rush in Troops.

No official communique was issued by the Spanish headquarters, but THE TRIBUNE correspondent was informed that the casualties were small.

TILE ORDINANCE EFFECTIVE NOW; FIGHT AT END

The long discussed ordinance permitting a more general use of hollow tile in building construction became a law yesterday, when it was signed by Mayor Dever. It goes into effect immediately.

The ordinance was passed by the city council last Wednesday by a vote of 35 to 13, despite strong and sustained opposition of the brick interests and organized labor. The passage was effected through the influence of the administration.

NIAGARA SEEKS NEW WATER CUT, EXPERT CHARGES

Power Group Accused of Attacking Sea Canal.

Hydro-electric power interests at Niagara Falls, which are already using every influence to block diversion of water from Lake Michigan for a deep waterway from Chicago to the gulf, are about to place further stumbling blocks in the path of the middle west by seeking a revision of the Canadian-United States water treaty to permit withdrawal of 80,000 cubic feet per second instead of the 56,000 cubic feet now used for power development.

Such was the prediction yesterday of Lachlan Macleay, secretary of the Mississippi Valley association, in an address before the Cook county real estate board in the Hotel Sherman.

Midwest to Fight Move.

"We believe such a revision is about to be asked for," Mr. Macleay said. "But the Mississippi Valley association will do everything in its power to prevent such a move unless the middle west is taken care of in the matter of water diversion and we will not be satisfied with conversation only.

"Even now the power interests are providing the financial backing for the campaign to prevent diversion of 10,000 cubic feet of water per second at Chicago. This diversion is not only needed for Chicago's health but for the development of a deep waterway to the gulf. Never in my recollection has any city been treated as Chicago has been in this matter."

Predicts Canal in Five Years.

While pessimistic in one breath, Mr. Macleay was optimistic in the next, and declared that with unified effort of the middle west a deep waterway could be had in five years.

Some idea of the saving by use of water transportation can be gained from statistics offered by Mr. Macleay, which were gathered from the Mississippi Warrior service, a government barge line operating between St. Louis and New Orleans.

In 11 months in 1925 the barge service carried 837,000 tons of freight with a saving of $1.30 a ton to shippers and a total saving of $1,088,000. With a freight rate approximately one-third of the average per ton mile rate in the country, the line made a net profit of $292,618, after deducting depreciation and a loss of more than $100,000 due to low water.

New York is able to ship by water to Galveston at less than one-half the rate by rail from Chicago, Mr. Macleay pointed out.

DENTAL OFFICE GOLD STOLEN.

Gold fillings for teeth, valued at $100, a typewriter and a quantity of cocaine were stolen from the office of Dr. I. A. Smothers, dentist at 627 Grove street, Evanston, Monday night.

DENEEN SCORES DELAY IN DIGGING CANAL TO SEA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 16.—[Special.]—Criticizing the delay in the construction of an outlet to the sea for the middle west, Senator Deneen [Rep., Ill.] told the rivers and harbors board of the war department today that what the west wants is less talking and more action.

The senator was speaking at the conclusion of the hearing of an adverse report made by a special board of engineers on the practicability of constructing the so-called all-American ship canal through New York state to the great lakes.

Representative William E. Hull [Rep., Ill.], speaking before the same group, backed up Senator Deneen in his demand for action and declared that now is the time "to dig and not to talk."

CHICAGO USES LIBRARY, BUT LAGS ON GIFTS

Under the heading "25 Years Ago Today," on the editorial page, THE TRIBUNE yesterday published the following.

New York—Andrew Carnegie has offered to the city of New York $5,200,000 with which to build sixty-five branch libraries at an approximate cost of $80,000 each. These are intended to put the advantages of libraries within the reach of the people of every section of the city.

In the last two decades the sum total of benefactions to the Chicago Public library has been $6,000.

The New York Public library receives more than $700,000 a year from thirty-nine endowment funds which aggregate more than $15,000,000 in gifts from citizens of three generations.

Among the fifteen largest cities in the United States Chicago ranks first in the home use of books from its libraries. But in a list of cities owning branch libraries it ranks fourteenth. It owns only five branches. New York owns forty-four. Philadelphia owns twenty-eight. And eleven others own more than Chicago.

Why Not Give to Library?

With such facts as these, there is to be presented to Chicagoans of means, men and women who may be expected to make gifts to colleges, hospitals, art galleries, and similar institutions, this question:

"Why not the public library?"

It is to be brought to their attention by a persistent program of education by the library directors, who took the first step yesterday by issuing a folder setting forth tersely the immense need of city owned branch libraries and the suitability of private donations for that purpose.

"The public library," read the paragraph containing the climax of the appeal, "herewith presents to the citizens of Chicago endowed with means and benevolent public spirit the opportunity of promoting with their benefaction a public enterprise of vital and immediate importance and of permanent and increasing value to the community in which they have prospered."

Living Monument of Books.

More specifically the board called attention to the possibility that the Chicagoan having in mind a monument to himself or a relative, a lasting proof of civic spirit, might find no better means of doing so than by donating the funds for a building or a site for a branch library.

This is a summary of the situation in the folder:

"With a population of over 3,000,000 and an area of 205 square miles to serve, the Chicago public library depends for its entire revenue on the proceeds of a tax rate that yields barely 70 cents per capita per year.

"The burden of municipal taxation admittedly is heavy. This is not a plea for adding to it. The taxpayer is doing his part toward the support of the public library, which ranks high in his regard, and which endeavors to justify his confidence by the quantity and quality of the service it returns to him.

Its Service Is Restricted.

"The Chicago public library now serves about one-sixth of its potential constituency and one-fifth of the area of the city. It operates forty branches, of which only five are in proper buildings owned by the library.

"It depends on the hospitality of other public agencies for quarters for more than half of its branches. It pays high rent for unsuitable premises to house one-fourth of such agencies.

"At least thirty branch buildings on sites properly located are needed now to supplement and, in part, to supersede the present installations. A generation will pass before this can be accomplished with the building funds supplied through taxation."

Sum Total of Gifts.

Then it showed the Chicago contrast thus:

"The Chicago public library during fifty years has received but six gifts, mostly in the form of legacies:

"1882—Bequest of $10,000 under the will of the Rev. William H. Ryder; income applied to the purchase of books on the fine arts.

"1889—Legacy under the will of Hiram Kelly, $200,000; invested and income used for creation and maintenance of Hiram Kelly branch, opened in 1911.

"1893—Bequest of $2,000 under the will of Jerome Beecher; income used for purchase of books on music.

"1903—Gift of site and building for branch library from Mrs. T. B. Blackstone; value, $250,000.

"1906—Bequest of $1,000 from Huntington W. Jackson; income used for purchase of books for the blind.

"1925—Gift of $5,000 from A. W. Swayne for the purchase of a collection of lantern slides."

Sixteen of Chicago's wards, having a combined population of 940,609, now have no branch library of any kind.

The committee of the library directors in charge of the present effort includes Dr. Max Henius, Father Frederic Siedenburg, and the Rev. Preston Bradley.

Bring Out the Hidden Beauty

Do you know that just beneath that soiled, discolored, faded or aged complexion is one fair to look upon? Mercolized Wax will gradually, gently peel off the devitalized surface skin, revealing the young, fresh, white, beautiful skin underneath. The new complexion is a perfectly natural one, not to be compared with a make-up. The Wax leaves no trace but that of increased loveliness.

It Really Assists Nature

Isn't it better to remove a bad complexion than to try to hide or cover up the defects? This peeling method is painless, for the thin veil of outer skin has no nerves. Nature renews complexions the same way, constantly shedding tiny particles of the surface covering or scarf skin. But in time this process slows up. Then Mercolized Wax, the rejuvenator, Comes to the Rescue and hastens the skin shedding. This is the secret of its marvelous success. So if your skin is old-looking, sallow, over-red, blotchy, parched, rough, oily — the stubborn scarf skin—take it off! Have you pimples, freckles, moth patches, liver spots? Peel them off! Get rid of them!

It's the Sensible Thing to Do

And simple. Just apply Mercolized Wax at bedtime, as you apply cold cream, wash it off in the morning. Fine, almost invisible, skin particles are flecked off with the wax. No harm. No detention indoors. The lively, young, healthy underskin is brought gradually to view—you have the exquisite complexion of robust girlhood—the kind Women Envy and Men Admire—and you easily look from 10 to 20 years younger!

Obtain an ounce of Mercolized Wax from your druggist or department store, use as directed—and join the vast multitude who are praising the virtues of this wonder-working product.

CHECKUP ON SMALL'S DEBT TO ILLINOIS WILL BEGIN MAY 12

Springfield, Ill., March 16.—[Special.]—Evidence in support of the state's contention that Gov. Small owes upwards of $1,000,000 in interest collected on funds while he was state treasurer will begin before Master in Chancery Charles G. Briggle May 12. The date was fixed in the Sangamon Circuit court today after the civil suits were redocketed by Judge Frank W. Burton.

Attorney General Oscar E. Carlstrom and Special Assistant Attorney General Charles Hadley of Wheaton represented the state.

Gov. Small and his attorneys also were in court. The state Supreme court recently affirmed the finding of Judge Burton that the governor was liable for an accounting.

70 JEWS PLEDGE $1,000 EACH FOR PALESTINE FUND

As the first move in the drive for the Chicago quota of $500,000 in the $5,000,000 national united Palestine appeal, $70,000 was pledged last night by 70 leading Jewish business and professional men at a meeting in the Congress hotel called by Judge Harry M. Fisher. The money was pledged by men who have been nonactive in Zionist movements, and it is the purpose of the committee headed by Judge Fisher to raise a total of $100,000 from this class. Members of the committee are Michael Rosenberg, sanitary district trustee; S. J. Rosenblatt, William Sultan, and David Labowitch.

The fund is being raised for the development of Palestine as the homeland for the Jew.

"With restricted immigration there can be no greater haven of refuge for the Jewish immigration than the God-blessed land of Palestine," Judge Fisher declared in a short address. "The very purpose of the drive embraces the perpetuation of the honor of a Jew."

Michigan Central Director Dies Suddenly in Arizona

JIM SAMMONS, LIFER, FREED BY SMALL'S BOARD

Jumped Two Gun Bonds While on Parole.

Despite his criminal record of twenty-five years, and convictions for rape and murder, Gov. Small's parole board at Springfield has granted James Sammons a final discharge from a life sentence in Joliet prison.

Sammons has been on parole for two and a half years, which he spent in Chicago. On Jan. 28 he applied for his discharge, asserting that he wanted to leave the state. The board agreed and granted him the right to go wherever he wishes.

Chief of Detectives Schoemaker was notified of the board's action some time later. Yesterday he pointed out the manner in which Sammons had spent his probationary period and the apparently favorable attitude the board took toward his misdeeds.

"Five months ago," he said, "Sammons was arrested with William Niemoth and William Dickman on a robbery charge. In their automobile they had revolvers. All these men had long criminal records. Dickman has since been killed in a gang war. We couldn't prove the robbery charge, and Sammons put up and forfeited a cash bond on the charge of carrying weapons.

"Then he was arrested a few weeks later with Ralph Sheldon and Paddy Fox. They are well known criminals, too. Sheldon and Fox were convicted of carrying weapons, but took an appeal and so far have not served their six months' sentences. Sammons again was charged with carrying concealed weapons, but he jumped his bonds a second time.

"We notified the parole agents of his actions and were informed that they would not consider the parole violated until a conviction had been obtained. That's all we heard of Sammons until we were notified of his final discharge."

On Feb. 27, 1900, Sammons was sentenced to three years in Pontiac reformatory for rape. On May 23, 1904, he was found guilty of murder and sentenced to hang on June 17. A last minute reprieve was granted and the sentence was commuted to life imprisonment.

Sammons escaped from Joliet in June, 1917. He was recaptured in October of the same year. On July 28, 1923, he was paroled. He hasn't been back to prison since.

State's Attorney Crowe, commenting on the action of the parole board in Sammons' case, said:

"Well, that's one more vote for the Small-Deneen ticket, unless I pick Sammons up between now and April 13."

This $60,000,000 station is typical of Cleveland's growth and prosperity

Cleveland is the heart of a great 3,000,000 market for your goods

HERE is graphic evidence that Cleveland is growing. Growing in population—in wealth—in industrial importance. Most of all, it is growing as a consumer of goods.

Today, Cleveland is the heart of a great industrial empire—an active, virile, prosperous market of 3,000,000 people.

Northern Ohio is one of America's greatest outlets for merchandise of every kind and every price. It offers limitless possibilities for the manufacturer with a good product, a sound sales plan and advertising courage.

One great medium—one advertising cost

And in Cleveland is the Plain Dealer—a newspaper that has fully kept pace with Cleveland's rapid growth—a newspaper that alone gives ample coverage throughout this great, thriving territory.

Advertisers and advertising agents know that the Plain Dealer stands supreme in Ohio—not only in circulation but in editorial and sales influence.

This influence is by no means confined to the consumer. It extends to the trade. A large proportion of the worthwhile dealers and jobbers in Northern Ohio follow the Plain Dealer regularly.

Completion of Cleveland's mammoth new station is scheduled for 1928.

It will be the next tallest building in the world—52 stories high.

It will not only be a terminal for trains, but a huge suburban and rapid transit center.

The Plain Dealer is the one medium that covers this market for you

In volume of national advertising the Plain Dealer is one of the three greatest papers in America—publishing more national advertising than all other Cleveland papers combined.

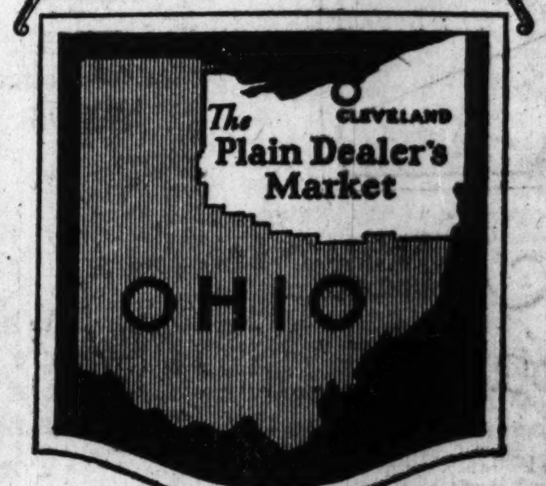
And what is extremely significant to advertisers is this fact—of the 2,013 national advertisers who used the Plain Dealer last year—practically half used this newspaper exclusively in Cleveland.

Tell your story in the Plain Dealer. Use it alone in Northern Ohio. In that way you'll be able to advertise consistently and in ample units of space.

Results will prove this not only economical—but the most effective program you can use in this worthwhile market.

And remember this—the Plain Dealer has a staff of men and women who are thoroughly familiar with the possibilities in Northern Ohio and the way to make the most of them. Each has assisted materially in helping stimulate the sale of many products in this market. If they can help you call one of them to your office. Write, wire or phone.

This is the Plain Dealer's 3,000,000 Market



THIS market is highly developed, unusually diversified and singularly responsive. Heavy population concentrated in a small area. Hence, traveling expenses and sales crews can be kept at a minimum.

Sales resistance in this market is exceptionally low today. Buying is heaviest in years.

If you are established here, now is the time to push. If you are not established, this is the most propitious time in years to include this solid, substantial territory in your sales and advertising plans.

FASHIONS, NEW, INDIVIDUAL, WITH THE ENDURING CHARM OF DISTINCTION

Millinery

Hats of straws surely will have the success predicted for them—so charmingly different they are—developed in balibuntal, bangkok, sangha and "perle" visca, straws which are especially smart this springtime.

The hat sketched shows a clever draping of the scarf. According to kind, $12 to $20.

Fifth Floor, South.

Women's Suits And Coats

The tailleur which stepped blithely into the picture of this spring's fashion continues its nonchalant and youthful way in its many versions.

Eton-like Coat—

Which is so smart a part of the suit sketched, is complemented in a soft silk blouse tucked all down the front.

The material, a novel tweed, which makes the suit, is cleverly handled to make a border on the blouse. $85.

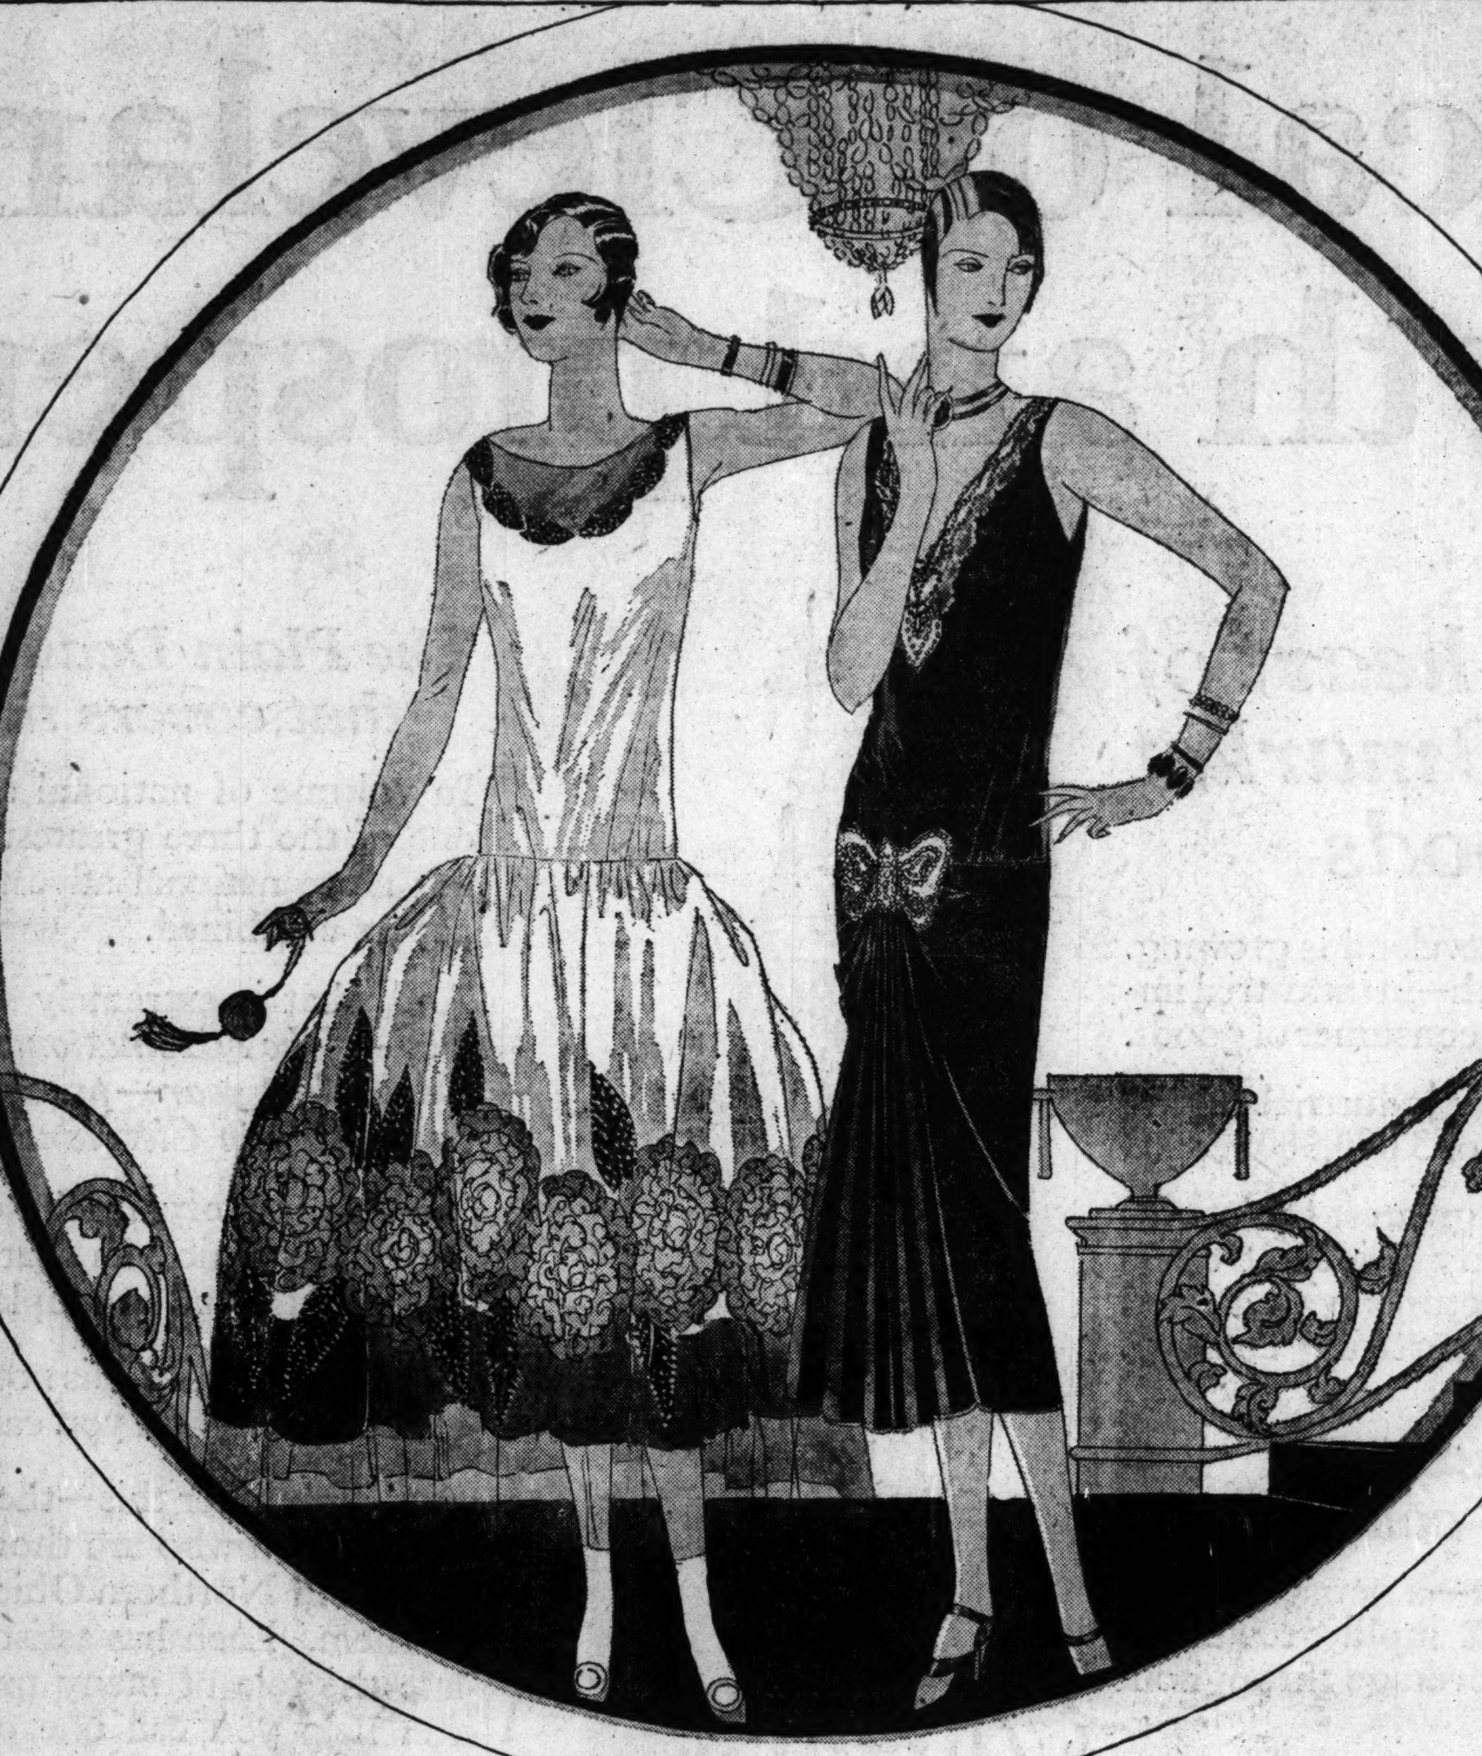
Satin Cape-Coat—

The beige of the satin is matched in the Kasha lining and the squirrel collar, making a charming harmony in color. And a pleat at the back of the cape accentuates the graceful floating line. $175.

Spring Top-Coats—

Very swagger-looking they are, tailored of soft imported woolens in striking plaids and small allover patterns. Some are embroidered in yarns—others are so vivid in pattern no decoration is needed.

Fourth Floor, North.



Mid-Week in SPRING OPENING, 1926

THE modes given introduction at this interesting event meet their merited success—so distinctively and charmingly do they interpret the fashions of spring. To make selection now means assurance of a smartness far above the usual.

Women's and Misses' Frocks

White taffeta, black tulle and great petals of sparkling paillettes make the demure picture frock for misses sketched above at left. $210. A summer evening frock of exquisite grace is that for women sketched at the right. It's of black crepe Romaine with flashing brilliants set in a butterfly of flesh-color crepe. $135.

The collection of evening and daytime frocks is indeed charming and most complete in variety of new styles. Prices vary with kind, $50 to $250.

Fourth Floor, North.

Footwear

First there are the new colors, new tones in beige, gray and ever-favored black. Then the new leathers, grained to resemble snake-skin, lizard-skin, alligator-skin, or satin-smooth kidskin.

Certain highly individual styles, according to kind, are $15 and $18.50 pair.

Third Floor, South.

Sports Apparel For Women

Frocks for the active participant—frocks for those who make up the colorful gallery—and each frock a fine accord of fabric, line and color.

A Shirt Bosom—

Tucked, and tucks at the front of the skirt carry out the idea of severe simplicity in a crepe faille frock at $40.

A two-piece frock has scallops to define the tailored vestee and the pleated panel in the skirt. $45.

Brilliant Motifs—

Done in cross stitch on the very full sleeve and blouse make very vivid a simple silk frock at $45. Another frock of flat crepe has a tie ending in a metal pendant which adds a new note of interest. $45.

The Vogue of White—

It's foretold in some of the smartest new frocks. One all white has a wide belt appliqued in the brightest of flowers. Others white have bandings of embroideries in red or yellow or green.

HOFF WINS WORLD'S INDOOR TRACK TITLE

GIANTS FIGURE THEY'RE ENOUGH TO WIN TITLE

Reproduction of '24 Team, Says McGraw.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Sarasota, Fla., March 16.—[Special.]—Under the personal direction of John J. McGraw, who is nothing if not personal when he is giving directions to his baseball players, the New York Giants during the last fortnight have been reassembled as a convincing reproduction of the Giants who won the National league pennant in 1924. They have convinced the itinerant experts who go bouncing about Florida reviewing a ball club at every third bump in the road, and they have almost convinced Mr. McGraw.

It is easy to convince the experts, for they are eager to be convinced and get on with their bouncing, but even if Mr. McGraw sees proof that he has a great ball team this year he probably refuses to believe as much until he has submitted the facts to his lawyer. Mr. McGraw has been in the real estate business here, and they do get that way in the real estate business.

The last time this reporter saw the substantial John J. McGraw at play with his team at the Sarasota county fair grounds, Mr. McGraw picked up one of those Indian-club bats that the hitters affect in these days of the sprightly ball and the full swing, and advanced to the plate for a long turn in order to see what his pitchers were throwing and how well.

Pitchers Are Ready.

However, the pitchers bore down and McGraw cut under some balls for mashie shots to the short zone of the outfield and merely snapped others back to the infielders for stops that would have been automatic putouts in a series game of ball.

The fact that the Giants pitchers, all except Arthur Nehf, are about ready for competitive throwing with umpires and customers in attendance, should cause a feeling of satisfaction in the Y. M. C. A., for it involves a triple triumph for clean living and that sort of thing. Among the pitchers who are now deemed to be fit for rotation in the box is Hughie McQuillan who spent almost all of last season, to say nothing of his savings, basking in the midnight sun of Broadway. Another is Virgil Barnes, the victim of the famous Pittsburgh phenomenon in which he sprained an ankle by slipping on the bath soap in a room that had no bath. McGraw, who has no belief in occult phenomena, rejected Barnes' account of the incident and suspended him. A third is Jack Scott.

Greenfield on Regular.

Nehf hasn't been able to put on a glove because the middle finger of his right hand is in splints, but being a left hander, he is able to throw and he does so.

Kent Greenfield, a young pitcher who came up to the Giants last year and did much to keep them in the competition despite McQuillan's defection, is likely to be one of the regular staff, and Fred Fitzsimmons, who was summoned from Indianapolis late in the season, seems to be guaranteed a steady job, too.

The Giants don't believe the Pittsburgh Pirates won last year's pennant as strongly as they believe they lost it. They recall the prolonged confusion in their clubhouse when no man knew whether he was a pitcher or a full back, if anything, because Frank Frisch, Travis Jackson, and Heinie Groh, constituting three-fourths of their regular infield, were out of repair for weeks. Groh is now definitely written off as a passe athlete who can be called on only for emergency work at third base in case anything happens to Freddie Lindstrom.

Here's the Infield.

With George Kelley back at first base where he belongs, Frisch at second, Jackson at short, and Lindstrom at third; with McQuillan and Barnes in a serious mood about their duty and the world series money; with Greenfield and Fitzsimmons to call on as dependable regular pitchers, the Giants think much less of the Pirates than they did last August.

Their catching is clumsy, of course, and Snyder and Hartley, who do this work, are obstructionists on the bases. But they know the Giants' pitchers and other teams' hitters, and the substantial McGraw seems convinced that he can do no better. He has a young catcher named Melvin Ott, but Ott hits well and McGraw is trying to convert him into an outfielder.

Irish Meusel and Pep Young will return to the outfield, but in center there is competition between Billy Southworth and Al Tyson, who is an elderly recruit from the American association.

Bill Terry, considered a pretty capable first baseman, has refused to work for the pay offered him, but McGraw seems indifferent. He says Terry is the greatest hitter with two men out, nobody on base, and the club five runs behind, that ever he did see. This is meant to express a low opinion of Terry's value in the pinches.

And that's the case of the Giants, who think they only have to stay healthy to win the pennant this year.

SPEAKING OF SPORTS

BY DON MAXWELL.
[Sports Editor.]

Talk about professional football is unseasonable in March, but it's interesting when the fellow who talks is Joe Carr, the rotund little fellow from Columbus. Joe Carr's been thinking and talking professional football for 20 years. He doesn't talk glibly and not overmuch, and the things he says seem worth hearing.

JOE CARR.

Joe Carr, if you don't know it, is the czar of the National Professional Football league. He's the gentleman who will direct the strategy of the 22 old line football teams in the ensuing battle between the National league and C. C. Pyle's proposed 10 club circuit.

Joe has gray hair. Pyle has gray hair, too, but it's the gray hair of a younger man. Joe wouldn't be surprised if C. C. doesn't complete the next grid year with even grayer hair.

"O, it's a great game—this pro football," he admits. "But it's never been a great money making game. Take that old team we called the Columbus Panhandles. I organized that bunch 20 years and more ago. We made some money, but I didn't get rich. Nobody has in this pro grid game. A lot of us have gone broke thinking we would. I managed those Nesser boys and the rest of the Panhandles because I got a kick out of it. Of course I wanted to make money. But money wasn't all of it—you get what I mean?

"We kept on playing pro football and getting fun out of it and then in 1921 some of the other professional promoters got me to come down to Canton and they made me president of a new league. They called it the National Professional Football league. Chris O'Brien, the boss of your Cardinals, was one of them.

"Five years—that's the life of this league. We started with a loose organization—no bylaws, no constitution, just a sort of gentleman's agreement to play the game square and let the colleges alone.

"We had some small towns in the league and they're still in it. Some folks say a football league ought to have only big cities. I tell you it shouldn't. Folks in the cities like Rock Island and Green Bay back their teams with far more enthusiasm than some of you folks in the larger cities do. Pro football thrives on sentiment.

"I believe pro football has a big future. I believe that games in New York and Chicago will be drawing crowds rivalling baseball attendances—not next year, or the next, but in five years.

"We're not worried over this new league. If it's successful it will help all of us. Competition's all right. But don't let any one kid you into thinking that any new league, or old league, either, is going to make a million dollars next year. Somebody might lose a half million.

"Running a football club is the most risky business I know. You stand a chance of injury to your stars and you run the chance of bad weather. Tim Mara went into New York prepared to lose thousands of dollars."

Joe Carr admires Grange, but he doubts if he'll be a great drawing card this fall. He thinks the fans want to back teams, not individuals. He doesn't think a small league—in number of teams—can pay. He thinks the colleges will some day quit fighting the pros and he says he knows the pros won't fight the colleges. And the concluding sentence was, "It's a great game."

Pyle and Carr are contrasting types. Pyle is polished, quick thinking, and master of talk. Carr speaks slowly, smiles but little, and wants to be inconspicuous. Pyle admits he knows little of the pro football game save what he learned as manager of Grange. Carr has been living in the pro game for 20 years.

CUBS PREPARE TO WAVE FAREWELL TO BREEZY ISLE

Play Full Game Today; No Regrets on Leaving.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Avalon, Santa Catalina Island, Cal., March 16.—[Special.]—With a regular ball game between the two squads tomorrow and a little loosening up exercise the next morning, McCarthy's Cubs will bring their spring work to a close, in so far as William Wrigley's ten million dollar island is concerned.

CHARLEY GRIMM.

And, for more reasons than one, there will be few regrets on leaving the isle flat on its mountainous back. For one thing, the athletes eat so freely here that they take on weight as fast or faster than they take it off; and for another thing, there has been so much wind blowing across the ball field this year that some of the men insist it has kept their arms from getting into proper condition. A breeze of any kind makes it difficult to work up a sweat, and without sweat you can't attain the pink of condition, whatever that is.

Start Eastward April 5.

The original plan was to come back here after next week's exhibitions at Frisco and Oakland, but the time will be spent in Los Angeles. That will make possible a full week at Wrigley park and five of the days will be used to play the Angels or Hollywood Stars. The other two days will be devoted to practice. The infield there is as good as any in the majors, so the red blooded athletes should get considerable benefit from the visit. They will go direct to Kansas City from there, leaving on April 5.

Just now it looks as if McCarthy will not be burdened with any cripples by the time California is left behind. Wilbur Cooper's left elbow, that was rusty two weeks ago, is just about normal again. Charley Grimm is rapidly getting the stiffness out of his back, and Alexander, who sprained an ankle, will don a uniform when the Cubs appear in Los Angeles on Friday. Alexander expects to pitch against the Reds on April 13, and so far as his arm is concerned, he could do it right now.

Kelly Crippled by Fat.

Another player who might be classed as a cripple yet is Joe Kelly, the prospective right fielder. The big fellow's ailment is too much weight. He has been wearing a rubber shirt every day, but has not been melting very fast. Naturally, it has affected him and may explain the fact that he hasn't started to show any of the hitting strength that earned him his way into the majors. However, Boss McCarthy is certain the giant Celt will swing into an impressive batting stride before the season opens.

Kelly is an important fellow in the Cub plans because he is one nominated to carry the hitting burden in the cleanup position. If he is able to maintain a good average, it will mean that some of the others who require a bellwether will keep right with him. For instance, Heathcote and Freigau will hit about fifteen points over their normal mark if somebody can set a pace for them.

Heathcote Second Batter.

Heathcote is going to be started second in the batting order because McCarthy thinks him an ideal man for the place. He can bunt better than anybody on the team, drag a hit straight away, and is fast going down the base lines, so he is just what is needed to follow Pee Wee Adams, who has a habit of getting on base quite consistently.

Another thing that won McCarthy to Heathcote was the lad's spirit on the ball field. He is a hard worker and those are the only kind of men McCarthy will tolerate, regardless of how much natural ability they may possess.

White Sox Working Into Pink in Red Hot Practice Games

BY JAMES CRUSINBERRY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Shreveport, La., March 16.—[Special.]—One week of such weather as was on hand today would put the White Sox in shape for a world's series or a marathon race. It was absolutely perfect, and Collins and his crew hustled under the warm sun for a full three hours, winding up the session with a five inning ball game, which ended in a tie, 3 to 3.

BIB FALK
[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Every player on the list was working with the exception of Ike Davis, who still is at his home in California, and may be there for some weeks yet. Falk was present for his first drill, and about the first thing he did in the batting practice was to crash one to the wall in right center. Good for three sacks in anybody's park.

Thomas Seems to Have It.

The practice game between the Scotts and the Collins teams was a high spirited affair with by far the best pitching of the spring. Tommy Thomas especially was impressive. We feel no hesitancy in saying at this early date that this young man knows something that belongs in the big league. He's no busher. In his work today some of the opponents were getting on the bases. That's when he's at his best. He can bear down on such occasions and at the same time do all the artistic and tricky things done by the top notchers in the big show. He's a tough bird to score on even if one gets to second base with no one out.

He pitched the last two rounds for the Collins team, following George Connally, who was tapped a bit hard in the second inning. Hollis Thurston flung three rounds for the Scotts and was rapped for three runs in the third, regardless of the fact he seemed to have a lot of steam. Big Jim Edwards followed him and shut out the Collins tribe for the remaining two innings.

Rookies Pick on Connally.

There's another slab man who is likely to bring a lot of joy to the south side fans this summer. He has speed and he is using it now. He has nerve, too, for in the fourth inning today, McCurdy, who murders the ball, slammed a line drive right at the appendix of Edwards. It doubled him up and for a minute one feared his appendix had been removed, but he pulled himself together and finished his two rounds with no one scoring. Everett Scott advised Edwards, "Next time run up for that kind. Don't wait for them to come to you."

Three recruits executed a damaging attack on Connally for two runs. Young Veltman, the San Antonio lad, who needs nothing but a bit of experience, led off with a single. Young Kraft, the Chicago semi-pro and former Lane Tech kid, lammed a double to left center, and then young Najo, the Mexican Indian, whanged a single and two runs were over. Pretty neat stuff for three rookies.

Scott Sprints Like Youngster.

And we mustn't forget to relate another incident for the benefit of those who think Scott's legs are gone. In the third inning he led off with a drive against the score board in left center. Johnny Mostil was out there, and everybody knows how he can snag 'em. But before he could snag this one back Scott was hitting the dirt in front of third base for a triple, made possible only by good leg work. The score today:

		R.	H.	E.
Scotts	021 00—3		5	1
Collins	003 00—3		6	2

Tomorrow afternoon the Sox play the Shreveport team. Sheely, Morehart, Hunnefield, and Kamm are likely infielders. Mostil, Gulley, and probably Najo will do the outfielding. Young Carroll, the six foot two kid with the great speed, is slated to pitch part of the game.

CANNES, France, March 16.—Two tennis lambs were led to slaughter at the hands of Helen Wills this morning in the opening rounds of the singles of the Cannes club tournament.

Helen first beat Miss L. C. L. Cuppage of England, 6—1, 6—0, and then crushed Mrs. J. R. Hall, another obscure English player, 6—0, 6—0.

Both matches were uninteresting because they were hopelessly one sided, neither player being within miles of the American champion's class.

ASSOCIATION BAN THREATENS PREP TOURNEYS HERE

Northwestern and Chicago May Bar City Schools.

Athletic officials of Northwestern university and the University of Chicago, with national interscholastic meets in the offing, were upset yesterday over refusal of the National Federation of State High School associations to permit high school teams under its jurisdiction to compete against nonmembers of the association. Chicago schools are not affiliated with the organization and, with local teams entered in the pending athletic events, the university officials are confronted with the problems of barring the Chicago entrants or calling off their meets.

EDWARD C. DELAPORTE.

Northwestern is hardest hit by the national association's decree, which may cause the cancellation of the annual interscholastic track and swimming meet at Northwestern, March 26 and 27. Entries for these events are evenly divided between Chicago schools and schools belonging to the Illinois state association and other state organizations under the guidance of the National Federation.

Lane May Be Barred.

The national scholastic basketball tournament, beginning March 31 at the University of Chicago, also faces the same difficulty, as Lane Tech, city league basketball champion, had been invited to compete. A. A. Stagg, director of athletics, is upset by the ruling, and it appears that he will have to exclude Lane.

The action of the National federation was no surprise to E. C. Delaporte, director of physical education in the public schools. The City league has refused to join the Illinois association, and now, Mr. Delaporte says, they are attempting to "club" the Chicago schools into the league.

Rules prohibiting members of the federation from playing against nonmembers have been in effect for three years, but the organization became determined to rule with an iron hand at a meeting in Washington, Feb. 22. At that time schools under its control were threatened with expulsion if they played nonmembers.

Legal Action Possible.

Officials of the Illinois High School association are friendly with the local league and worked toward an amendment of the rules, but to no avail. If the differences between the two leagues are not patched up when principals of the Chicago schools expect to confer with National federation executives here Thursday night, breach of contract suits may result.

Derby Colts Go to Post at N. O. Today

New Orleans, La., March 16.—(AP)—Ten or twelve prominent three year olds were listed tonight as probable starters in the Louisiana Derby, feature race tomorrow at Jefferson Park.

Ideal weather was in prospect for the mile and an eighth race, which carries $10,000 in added money.

Nurmi En Route.

The Idle Hour farm's Kentucky Derby candidates, Boot to Boot and Baggenbaggage, ruled as the most probable favorites. Nurmi, the Greentree stable's winner of the $30,000 New Orleans handicap, was en route here from Miami. If he arrives in time he, with the other horses coupled in the entry, Lancaster and Navigator, probably will be heavily backed.

Golden Mac, another Kentucky Derby eligible, also was well liked.

Gives Line on Big Derby.

Unusual interest attaches to the Derby here because it gives a "winter line" on the candidates for the $50,000 Kentucky Derby to be run at Chuchill Downs, Louisville, Ky., May 15.

Two years ago Black Gold won the fixture here and repeated in the Kentucky Derby. Last year's winner here, Quatrain, was favorite for the Derby, but finished unplaced.

ANNUAL TRIBUNE BICYCLE DERBY TO BE HELD MAY 23

THE TRIBUNE's annual bicycle derby will be held in Humboldt park the morning of May 23. The date has been granted by Julian T. Fitzgerald, western representative of the American Bicycle League of America, who will assist in the arrangement of the program. The usual number of races for class riders and events for boys and girls will be held. The feature race will be the 22 mile handicap. More details will be announced later, but the event will officially open the local bicycle racing season.

HARRISON MAT TEAM DEFEATS LANE TECH, 24-13

The wrestling team of Harrison High school won its third consecutive dual wrestling meet yesterday by beating Lane Tech, 24 to 13, at the Harrison gym. In the feature bout at 145 pounds, Obrzut of the winners pinned Jacobs in 4:50.

Harrison and Crane divided honors in a dual swimming meet in the Crane tank. Harrison seniors won, 26 to 23, and Crane juniors were victors, 42 to 16.

NORWAY'S SKY PILOT DEFEATS OSBORN, NORTON

Smashes Pole Vault, Broad Jump Marks.

New York, March 16.—[Special.]—Charley Hoff, Norway's super-athlete, was crowned unofficial world's indoor all around champion tonight before a crowd of 13,000 people in Madison Square Garden at the annual indoor athletic meet of the Knights of Columbus.

CHARLES HOFF.

The lad from across the seas, in his most impressive exhibition since coming to this country, outshone Emerson Norton, big Blue and Gray wearer of Georgetown, who holds the intercollegiate all around title, and Harold M. Osborn, Illinois A. C.'s bespectacled athlete, who won the Olympic all around title in 1924, in a seven event test.

Osborn Forced Out.

The matches consisted of a 60 yard sprint, running high jump, 16 pound shotput, running broad jump, 60 yard high hurdles race, pole vault, and a 400 meter run. Hoff finished with the commanding score of 5,885.3 points, against 4,708.4 points for Norton. Osborn, injuring his ankle in the high jump, was forced to withdraw from the competition with three events completed at a time when his score was 2,334 points.

As if to emphasize that he is the best all around athlete indoors, Hoff shattered three records in the course of the competition which ended with a wonderful victory. He smashed the world's best indoor broad jump record of 23 feet 1¼ inches when he cleared 23 feet 7¾ inches and he sailed to the new high record height of 13 feet 7 inches in the pole vault, his ninth record flight since coming to this country. Hoff established his third record in the remarkable point score he made for the seven event test, for the best previous seven event indoor all around score was 5,603 points, made by Norton last year at the Illinois university indoor relay carnival.

Fans Cheer His Victory.

Men and women yelled themselves hoarse in acclaim for this new wonder athlete. From beginning to end of the severe competition Hoff stood out nobly against his rivals—against Osborn and Norton in the first three events and above and beyond Norton alone through the last four events.

Hoff took first place in the 60 yard sprint, scoring a victory by a yard and a half over Osborn and Norton in :06 6-10 in a manner which stamped him as easily the superior of his rivals on the track.

He finished third behind Norton and Osborn in the high jump and third back of Norton and Osborn in the shotput, but in every other test Hoff was supreme.

And in the hurdles and in the 400 meter run, too, the Norwegian star surpassed Norton after the withdrawal of Osborn. He won five of the seven events.

Norton Falls at 12:4.

Hoff's work in the pole vault outshone anything else the test held. The Norwegian was at home with the bamboo pole in his clutch and flying through space at unprecedented height. Hoff started this test by clearing 11 feet 6 inches, a height which Norton also scaled. Then the pair cleared 12 feet, Hoff without effort and Norton with every bit of his strength back of the attempt, although he sailed over the bar on the first try.

At 12 feet 4 inches Hoff again sailed over the bar amid the cheers of the throng, but Norton failed. The Blue and Gray giant three times raced beyond the take-off mark for balks, two of which constitute an attempt, and on the fourth try Norton, with great effort, raised himself half way up the bamboo pole, only to topple over in collapse. Then came Hoff's great 13 feet 7 inches vault and his new record.

Another world's indoor record fell when the crack Georgetown university relay four—Walter Gegan, Vernon Ascher, Eddie Swinburne, and Jimmy Burgess—sped to victory over an all-star team composed of Cecil Cooke, Vincent Lally, Johnny Holden, and Ray Robertson, in a 1,600 meter relay in the world's record time of 3:22 3-5.

Sydney Tells Star Runner to Go Out and Beat Nurmi

SYDNEY, New South Wales, March 16.—[United News.]—Under orders not to return home until he meets Paavo Nurmi of Finland, Randolph Rose will be sent to the United States and Europe soon by the Zealand Athletic association.

Rose is the champion distance runner who defeated Lloyd Hahn four times. He will compete at Philadelphia in July, and if Nurmi is not entered there, Rose will be expected to go to Europe and to travel until he gets a race with the Finn.

Rose recently ran the mile in 4:13 2-5, breaking the Australasian record by four seconds.

COL. WINN HERE, BUT HE'S MUM ON TURF DATES

Vennie Tells of Derby Interest.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Col. Matt Winn, general manager of the Kentucky Jockey club, was discovered dodging about in Chicago's loop traffic yesterday. He was accompanied by Col. Andrew Vennie, resident manager of the Churchill Downs track, where the Derby is to be run next May 15.

Col. Winn's visit in Chicago was looked upon by local turf fans as the forerunner to an announcement of the racing dates for his new Lincoln Fields track in Will county and for Hawthorne, of which he secured control some time ago.

But up until a late hour last night he had no announcements to make.

Derby Open Race, Vennie Says.

Col. Vennie had a few things to say about the coming Kentucky Derby. He didn't venture to pick the winner. "It's an open race," he said. "More good colts are eligible than in any previous Derby," he continued.

"Every hotel room in Louisville is reserved for Derby day," he announced. Col. Vennie didn't say as much but intimated there was still some unreserved sleeping space left in the parks and along the public highways leading into Louisville.

Chicageans Watch Louisiana Derby.

Despite the presence of the New Orleans handicap winner Nurmi in the Louisiana Derby today, there was considerable backing in Chicago last night for Edward R. Bradley's pair, Bagenbaggage and Boot to Boot.

Golden Mack also came in for a light play while there was scarcely any money for Mrs. Payne Whitney's Greentree stable entry, which besides Nurmi included Navigator and Lancaster.

Reports that Bagenbaggage may be one of the best colts ever developed at E. R. Bradley's Idle Hour farm, caused more Chicago interest than usual in the Louisiana three year old championship event.

The fourth race at Tia Juana yesterday should have been labeled the Oldtimers' handicap. Eleven year old Louvain was the winner, ten year old Mayor House finished third, nine year old Herrigan's Heir and eight year olds Ike Harvey and Missouri Boy were among the also rans. Tod Sloan probably thought he had reached his second childhood when he watched this band parade to the post.

Two Chicago turfmen have made bids for Jockey Willie Munden lately only to find the boy is under contract to ride for Commander J. K. L. Ross. This probably means that the sensation of Tia Juana's riding colony, except for a few days early in the spring, will be engaged for the most part on Canadian tracks this season.

Commercial B. B. League to Hold Meeting Tomorrow

The Chicago Commercial Baseball league will meet on the sixth floor of 37 South Wabash avenue at 8 o'clock Thursday. Ruddy Gerach of the Continental and Commercial bank has been named acting chairman. Election of officers and zoning of teams will take place.

The Hamburgs' chances to retain their title were buried when the Chicago Reds, led by Brose Robinson, who sank six field goals and three free throws, finished on top, 24 to 19. Lineup:

Evanston Council Approves Plans for N. U. Stadium

The Evanston city council last night approved plans for the new stadium at Northwestern university, and it is expected that wrecking of the old wooden structure will be started in a short time. One of the conditions of the council was that the new stadium line must not be closer to Central street than the old one.

Radio Slander of Elgin Five Brings Apology Demand

Elgin, Ill., March 16.—[Special.]—Superintendent of Schools R. W. Fairchild today formally requested of Mathew Wycoff, coach of Joliet High school, an apology for alleged uncomplimentary remarks made about the Elgin High school basketball team over radio station WCLS during the Hinckley game at the Joliet sectional tournament last Friday night in a letter to Supt. L. W. Smith of Joliet.

The local school official asks that Wycoff be made to explain his remark that "the Elgin team resorted to rough tactics as usual." Many complaints were voiced to the Elgin school officials by local radio owners after the game.

REISELT BEATS KIECKHEFER AND SETS CUE RECORD

Philadelphia, Pa., March 16.—[Special.]—Flashing the greatest form of his career, Otto Reiselt, the potential three cushion king, made cue history in this city tonight when he broke the world's short game record in turning back Augie Kieckhefer of Chicago for his twelfth consecutive victory in the National league series. The local billiardist won the afternoon game by 50 to 46, while the final statistics in the valedictory match read 50 to 23.

It was the finest billiards Reiselt ever played. He completed his half century total of buttons in the short course of 16 innings, which betters the previous mark held by Gus Copulos by four points. Copulos' record was 20 innings, established two weeks ago in Detroit against Allan Hall.

SIOUX WAR PARTY ARRIVES TO SCALP PREPS AT LOYOLA

Battle in Catholic Cage Tourney Tomorrow.

St. Francis Mission five of St. Francis, S. D., Indian basketball team, which will enliven the third annual National Catholic High school tournament starting at Loyola university gymnasium tomorrow morning, arrived in the city yesterday ready to don their uniforms and accustom their eyes to the baskets at the north shore gym. The redskins were met at the Michigan Central station and staged a war dance for the welcome committee and then touched off a few whoops along Michigan boulevard.

The Indians went through an impressive workout at Loyola gym, displaying an uncanny skill in sinking long shots and being adept at caging baskets from close range. They are not big, but they are shifty athletes, who appear to know what the game is all about.

They're Real Indians.

Some of the names of the players would make many of the ancient chieftains envious. There are George Knocks-Off-Two, Jesse White Horse, Francis White Shield, Teddie Little Battle, Dave Leading Fighter, Narcisse White, Joe Little Fighter, and their little mascot, Collins Jordan, who is an Irish-Indian. The others are true members of the Sioux tribe.

Basketballs will be almost as thick as the March snowflakes at Loyola gym this afternoon, as most of the teams are scheduled to go through light unlimbering exercises. St. Patrick High of West Virginia, St. Joseph High of Shelbyville, Ind.; Aquinas Institute of Rochester, N. Y.; Catholic High of Wichita, Kas., and Decatur Catholic High of Decatur, Ind., will show their wares. Other teams also will be given a chance to practice a bit as soon as they appear.

Interpret Rules Tonight.

In order to acquaint all of the visiting players with the rules that will govern the tourney, a specimen game will be staged tonight with six officials interpreting the rules.

The opening game will start at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning with Mayor William E. Dever tossing the first ball. St. Mel of Chicago, defending champion, will meet St. Michael High of Union, N. J., in the curtain raiser.

Tickets for the meet can be obtained today at Spaulding's, 211 South State street.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

DEFENDER OF SUZANNE.

DEAR SIR: May one who has had some experience in college and A. E. F. athletics and knows from personal experience that the Frenchman is "game" be permitted to take exception to the statement of the "local authority" quoted in your column of March 11, and also to your publication of the same?

The issuing and publication of such statements not only do injustice to a gallant national ally but also to a gallant, though strategic and temperamental, athletic champion. What kind of analyst of things athletic can this "local authority" be?

Does he not know that it takes from two to six weeks of intensive training to attain, if it can be attained at all, one's true athletic form on a foreign field, amidst strange surroundings, before a foreign audience, and following a sea voyage and radical change in climate; that the best way to learn an opponent's style is in actual play; that Mlle. Lenglen would easily have defeated Miss Wills in a contest immediately following Miss Wills' arrival in France; that in reality Mlle. Lenglen's refusal to meet Miss Wills until the latter "found herself" was an unusual example of genuine sportsmanship?

These women met in a fair contest at a proper time and Mlle. Lenglen won fairly. What more could you ask of her?

If Mlle. Lenglen is discreet in her contests after this victory is such discretion unbecoming a champion who has reached the peak of her career?

Can you say that Jack Dempsey is game and that Mlle. Lenglen is not? Can you say that "stalling" by leaders in a basketball contest is smart play and that Mlle. Lenglen is yellow?

Ye thought 'twas just a bit o' green
In a world o' snow and sleet;
Ah! but you've not seen April
Trip down an Irish lane
With lilt o' Irish laughter
And with tears o' Irish rain!

And ye've not heard the laverock
And ye've not heard the sighing

And ye've not lived in a wee thatched cot
By the blue o' the Irish sea—
How can ye know what the green trefoil
O' the shamrock means to me!

McTigue's Defeat.

There is always something pathetic to us in the decisive defeat of a former champion such as Delaney's stopping Mike McTigue in the fourth round, the latter's first reverse of that kind in fifteen years. Mike has been ripe for the K. O. for some time, yet, withholding nothing from youth, we have a thought of sympathy for the departing, whether it be boxing, baseball, or any other sport.

The NEW STUTZ $2995

Six body styles, designed and constructed under the supervision of Brewster of New York. All closed bodies automatically ventilated. All models priced F. O. B. Indianapolis, tax excluded, but fully equipped except spare tires.

LEADING American automotive engineers of international reputation have praised this truly remarkable new car in the most enthusiastic of terms. For in this car, seers of the industry recognize the automobile of the future.

And to this enthusiastic endorsement of The NEW STUTZ by the automotive engineering profession there has been added a public approval so instantaneous and decisive as to create a veritable sensation. At all the leading automobile shows retail sales of The NEW STUTZ have broken all sales records for cars in its price-class. This immediate acceptance is conclusive evidence of the car's appeal to the practical motorist.

All this because The NEW STUTZ, while accepting nothing untried, nothing experimental, is the most advanced, the most improved automobile of a decade.

It has a much lower center of gravity, giving greater safety and improved roadability; it has a vibrationless motor—the ultimate goal of engineers since the day of the first "one-lunger"; its motor, its rear axle, and its other gears are noiseless — made so by the adoption of advanced design; its worm-drive rear axle, designed and constructed by Timken, improves with use—it is quiet, new and old; properly lubricated the worm and gear are guaranteed by us for two years; its new principle of braking design is more efficient; its Myers chassis oiling-system is automatically self-lubricating.

Its minor refinements, conveniences, and improvements are too numerous for listing here. In a word, nothing has been omitted, nothing has been neglected that would add to the safety, comfort, and roadability of the car.

You are urged to see The NEW STUTZ because only by seeing this truly advanced automobile can you put yourself abreast of the day and qualify yourself to judge motor cars by the new standard now established.

MONDT TO MATCH SPEED AGAINST GRENNA'S BEEF

Cowpuncher Will Wrestle Italian Tonight.

Speed and cleverness will be pitted against weight and strength tonight, when Joe Mondt meets Raffaelle Grenna in the windup of P. T. Harmon's wrestling show at the Dreamland arena, Paulina and Van Buren streets.

It should be one of the best matches of the year, as keen rivalry exists between them because of their two former meetings, which were no decision affairs. Each is bent on climbing into a position to demand matches with the claimants of the heavyweight title.

Wrestled Twice Before.

The pair met in the same arena earlier in the season. At that time Mondt agreed to throw Grenna in half an hour or forfeit $250. The cowboy not only failed to toss the Italian, but he was outwrestled. They met the second time at the stockyards and the bout went forty-five minutes without either gaining a fall. In this match Mondt was the aggressor and at the call of time had his oppenent groggy and one of his arms practically useless as a result of jack-knife holds.

Mondt undoubtedly will depend upon his speed and cleverness to wear down the Italian, and Grenna will rely upon his great strength and weight. He knows he will have to toss the cowboy early to win and for this reason will try to slam the red head to the mat as soon as possible. It will be a finish match and will start at 10 o'clock.

Malcewicz Wrestles Felice.

Joe Malcewicz, the Polish heavyweight of Utica, N. Y., will take holds with Tony Felice in the semi-windup. Malcewicz is the grappler who, according to reports, Joe Stecher refused to meet in Boston last week, though the Stecher brothers deny this.

Mike Romano and Jack Roberts will meet in the one fall opener and Pat McGill and John Wilcox will wrestle in the other preliminary. The first bout will go on at 8:30 o'clock.

George Calza and Jim Browning will meet in the feature of the wrestling bouts at the Star and Garter Friday night. Frank Judson will take on Whladek Zbyszko in another match, while the other contest will bring together Gus Garria, Greek heavyweight, and an opponent yet to be selected.

BROOKLYN PLAYS BRUINS TONIGHT AT LOYOLA GYM

Visiting preps who will compete in the National Catholic basketball tourney tomorrow will be present tonight when the Chicago Bruins and Brooklyn meet at Loyola university gymnasium in an American Professional league game.

These fives met last week in the east and the Bruins won, 41 to 40, in one of the woldest exhibitions of basket shooting seen in the league this season.

Joe Carr, president of the Professional football and basketball leagues will attend the game. In a curtain raiser, starting at 8 o'clock, the V. L. & A. girls will play the St. James girls, champions of the Lutheran league.

Bob Lists Booklets of "Blueprints" for Bird Homes

BY BOB BECKER.

Chicago, Ill.—[To the Editor.]—I am interested in the building of bird houses. Can you tell me where I could obtain pamphlets on this subject? Any information will be appreciated. WILLIAM BRIESEINCK.

Answer.—There are a number of inexpensive but excellent pamphlets and booklets which will give you all kinds of information on nesting boxes for birds as well as tips on how to attract birds to your yard or garden.

First, we recommend an illustrated leaflet published by the biological survey and listed as farmer's bulletin No. 1,456. The name of it is, "Homes for Birds.' Write the superintendent of documents, Washington, D. C., for it. The price is five cents. In this pamphlet you will find complete directions on how to build wren, martin, bluebird, and flicker nesting boxes and many suggestions on attractive types that may be used.

This department has prepared a booklet, "Birds and Bird Houses," which you may also find valuable. It is on sale at The Tribune Public Service Bureau, 11 South Dearborn street, for ten cents, or thirteen cents by mail. The booklet contains directions on building bird houses as well as feeding birds in the winter.

N. Y. COMISH REINSTATES DICK CURLEY

New York, March 16.—(AP)—Dick Curley, Philadelphia boxing manager, who was suspended by the state athletic commisison Nov. 21, 1924, for an alleged attack on Referee Patsey Haley at the old Madison Square Garden, was reinstated today.

Curley was barred when he took exception to a decision against one of his boxers, Mike Dundee, in a fight with Danny Kramer of Philadelphia, in the featherweight elimination tournament here. At that time Curley was "suspended forever," but Col. John J. Phelan, chairman of the license committee, recommended his reinstatement on the ground he had been disciplined enough.

State to Send 200 to Good Roads Parley

BY J. L. JENKINS.

Two hundred Illinois delegates have been invited to attend the fourteenth annual convention of the United States Good Roads association in Santa Monica, Cal., June 7 to 12, according to announcement yesterday by J. A. Rountree, general director of the association. Every state in the union will be represented at the big national meeting which has the continuation of federal aid in road building and the construction of new national highways as its chief objects. Railroads have announced special rates to delegates from all parts of the country, and the convention is expected to be one of the greatest good road gatherings in history.

Preparing for the biggest construction season in highway history, highway departments in the various states look forward to more than $100,000,000 in government funds to help the paving and highway improvement programs and a big federal expenditure in federal aid maintenance and improvement of forest and park roads.

In Illinois the state's great building program for 1926 is still in the waiting stage, due to local delays and entanglements in completing the final gaps of the old $60,000,000 bond issue pavement system. A recent court decision gives the state highway department the right to make minor changes in routing and location of roads, and thus clears away one of the main difficulties in finishing the original pavement plan; but right of way difficulties are expected to retard actual contract letting on many of the gaps until late in the season and also to delay initial work on the new $100,000,000 bond issue program. More than 200 miles of gaps in the original bond issue system, it is reported, must be contracted for before the $100,000,000 work can begin.

Comfort and relief—quck and certain—that's what thousands of rheumatic sufferers report they never fail to get from Sloan's.

"I have made a study of rheumatism," writes John Walmsley of 28 South King Street, Gloucester, N. J., "and I have helped myself and a great many others. Sloan's Liniment is the best remedy I have ever used."

Just a little Sloan's patted on lightly—and a healing tide of fresh, germ-destroying blood is sent tingling through the pain-ridden tissues. No rubbing! It's the medicine itself that does the work.

Swelling and inflammation go down. Almost suddenly you find yourself free from pain—really comfortable at last. Get a bottle today and have it on hand. All druggists—35 cents.

Elmer Tunes Typewriter for Praising inds the Radio Offerings Full of Merit.

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

All that was heard of worth and interest on last Monday, silent night, wouldn't have filled the proverbial "stick full," in newspaper parlance, [illegible] silence yesterday morning.

On the contrary, the mere detailing of what was heard of worth last night would fill many columns.

Therefore, briefly, the high spots:

Extremely artistic playing by Wallace Jackman, pianist; a similar designation for Dorothy Giffen, soprano, and ditto for Announcer J. R. Foster—WBCN, 7:30 to 8.

I am trying to pass over the special Irish program from New York through W-G-N, 8 to 9, but it was so timely and entanglingly Irish that my dials insisted upon clinging to it—ditto for this American made typewriter.

Vincenzo Gullotta, concert violinist, WMAQ, 8:45. Tones slightly hard and cold; vibrato too pronounced for the ideal, but the playing so marked by strength of character that the artist compelled attention and admiration.

A charming, fascinating radio innovation: A five piece woodwind choir (flute, oboe, clarinet, bassoon, French horn) made up of members of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, W-G-N, 9 to 10, in a real music hall concert. Here was chamber music of a pronounced pastoral character. Quaint and curious it was, to be sure; doleful, too, but the reverse of mournful, for one would dance to it, sing or whistle with it—and of it one would have more and more.

More of the great: WEBH, 9 to 10, Uptown theater instrumental trio in fascinating classical numbers; Helen Protheroe, soprano, always good (mere name sufficient), AND (intentional) Prince Lei Lani's Royal Samoans (some twenty male voices, in a new also quaint and curious) style of singing, especial reference to "Song of Greeting," with its montonal repetitions and distant tenor effects.

Still good: St. Francis Liberal Catholic church quartet (mixed voices) WMAQ, 9:25. Solid, substantial program; well balanced, pleasing, serious voices.

Stirring, as most political pow-wows are: WQJ, 10, banquet in honor of United States Senator Henrik Shipstead, eloquently heralded by State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe, Joseph B. Savage, William Hale Thompson, and thousands of banqueteers at the Rainbo gardens.

DILL PICKLE CLUB FOUNDER IS WED FOR THIRD TIME

Jack Jones, eccentric founder of the Dill Pickle club, and Lailah J. Cooper, newspaperwoman of Detroit, were married in Rockford, Ill., yesterday by County Judge Fred A. Carpenter. It was Jones' third marriage. He gave his age as 49 and his bride said she was 26 years old.

Jones was divorced from his first wife, Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, Socialist. Shortly after his second marriage, in 1920, to Anna Mitchell, artist and member of a prominent Massachusetts family, she was drowned while she and Jones were motorboating in Lake Michigan. Jones at that time told how he battled with the waves for eighteen hours while he and his wife clung to the capsized boat. She finally slipped from the boat and was drowned, he said.

At the marriage ceremony yesterday, Jones wore corduroy and a hickory shirt.

DENTISTS ASK SCHOOL CLINIC ON WEST SIDE

Dr. C. N. Johnson, former president of the American Dental association, last night appealed to members of the Chicago Dental society to use their influence with public officials to open the Pageant of Progress building at Loomis and Harrison streets as a dental clinic for school children.

The appeal was made at the Chicago Dental society's regular monthly dinner meeting held in the Stevens building restaurant at 17 North State street.

About 400 dentists attended and voiced their approval of plans to have a clinic established on the west side.

Francis Hanna, assistant director of the crime commission, spoke on crime conditions in the United States.

Today's Winners in W-G-N's "Old Time Favorites" Radio Contest

MRS. JENNIE PRENDERGAST, 1426 Hyde Park boulevard, wins today's first prize of $50 in the Old Time Favorites contest conducted every day by W-G-N, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE station on the Drake hotel. Songs played last Wednesday are "Yankee Doodle Boy," "The Last Rose of Summer," and "When Johnny Comes Marching Home."

Mrs. Prendergast's winning sentence is: "Recent memory of khaki-clad grandson John, home from the world war, and then, through the vista of years' memory, of Grandfather John and the boys in battered blue straggling home from the heart struggle of the 'blue and gray,' are my reasons for liking best, 'When Johnny Comes Marching Home.'"

The second prize, $25, is awarded to Colette L. Diver, 6740 South Campbell avenue.

The third prize, $10, is won by Selma Eleanore Johnson, 6244 Magnolia avenue.

The fourth prize, $10, goes to Mrs. Dorothy Hamilton, 1411 Keeler street, Beloit, Wis.

The fifth prize, $5, is awarded to Mrs. Daisy L. Dallach, 136 South Spring avenue, La Grange, Ill.

The five winners may receive their prizes by calling or writing to Old Time Favorites, Tribune Tower, Chicago. Listen tonight at 6:45 or at 10:10 o'clock for the three old time melodies that will be presented at W-G-N. To become eligible for the five awards you must name the songs correctly and tell in a single sentence which one you like best and why. Letters must be received at THE TRIBUNE not later than four days after the songs are played. One hundred dollars in prizes is offered daily.

Hogs experienced another erratic market yesterday, but as a whole averaged highest in price since last Thursday. There was a depressing lull in trading following a strong to 25c higher opening and part of the first gains were lost on a weak close. Larger operators hesitated in following the early lead made by shippers and Yard traders, resulting in a catch-as-catch-can trade after outside orders were filled. Shipments at 9,000 cut the fresh supply about 45 per cent. Late orders helped the trade some in mid session. Medium weight butchers showed the most strength, prime 248 lb averages selling up to $12.70 at the high time of the day. Fancy 158 lb hogs topped at $14.25. General average price advanced to $12.20, against $12.30 the previous Tuesday.

Two days of burdensome cattle supplies in view of a liberal mid-week run of stock, placed the market in a top-heavy condition yesterday, with closing prices lowest of the day and 25@40c under the close of last week. Buyers were conservative in making purchases, especially on late rounds, when advanced estimates placed today's supply at 12,000, against 7,391 last Wednesday. Receipts first three days of this week at around 50,000, are 10,000 greater than first three days of last week. A load of 849 lb yearlings reached $10.50 yesterday, with 1,541 lb Nebraska steers and 678 lb mixed yearling steers and heifers at $10.40. Butcher stock and canners and cutters were little changed. Calves slumped 50c. Bulls and stockers and feeders held steady.

Lamb Market Uneven.

Market for fat lambs reacted after a steady to 25c lower opening, and finished generally steady on bulk of the day's offerings. Choice 85 lb fed western topped at $14.35, with several bands of Colorados upward to $14.00. Most 100 lb Colorado fed lambs sorted from load lots sold around $12.00, with 90 lb averages at $13.25@13.50. Freshly shorn lambs averaging 96 lbs brought $9.75 and 129 lb wool yearling wethers $10.00. Matured sheep ruled steady at 25c lower. Shearing lambs remained firm, 74 lb averages bringing $14.40.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 12,000 cattle, 18,000 hogs, and 16,000 sheep, against 9,943 cattle, 17,424 hogs, and 21,434 sheep the corresponding Wednesday a year ago.

DEVELOPMENT OF A NATIONAL INDUSTRY.

GYPSUM

Favored Building Material of the Ancients

Gypsum has been rightfully called one of the most useful materials given to modern civilization. But the use of Gypsum for building material is not modern.

The ancients discovered Gypsum and treasured it for its versatile possibilities.

Back in the time of Pliny, Recorder of Ancient History, the Greeks were fashioning mural decorations for public buildings and fine homes from Gypsum.

A story of the removal of a magnificent Gypsum plaster frieze from Lacedaemon to adorn a public building in Rome has been told by several writers; which incident itself speaks much for the permanency and stability of Gypsum as a material.

The Temple of Apollo at Bassae, built 400 B. C., is a dramatic example of the permanent structural qualities of Gypsum.

Possibly more convincing than any of these as to the place of Gypsum in the Old-World structure are the great Pyramids themselves (1580-1350 B. C.), where, for 4,000 years, plaster walls of Gypsum have silently stood the test of time.

Gypsum is a material for all the ages. The story of Gypsum is being told in a book by J. Jay Fuller. This company will be glad to put a copy in the hands of those interested.

Does Scientifically Correct Electrical Refrigeration Command National Demand?

How deep-rooted is public consciousness of its desirability? Does this undeveloped industry now offer opportunity for unordinary profit?

There were in use on electric current in the United States, as indicated by Census estimates, January 1st, 1925, 9,894,000 Flatirons; 3,108,600 Toasters; 1,816,800 Percolators; 2,628,300 Fans; 1,320,700 Heaters and Radiators; 4,148,600 Vacuum Cleaners; 2,642,600 Clothes Washers; 167,020 Ironers; 304,500 Ranges; 87,810 Water Heaters; but only 66,960 Electrical Refrigerators.

Each year, while an astonishing number of appliances find ready sale, there is little danger of a saturation point, due to increased population's demand for new homes. In 1921, 75% of wired homes lacked major appliances. By 1924, the number of such homes had risen to 80%, and a month ago, to 82%. So far is this market from being saturated, that excellent authority estimates that over 4,000,000 more electrical irons could be sold before even approaching a danger area of saturation.

By virtue of a quarter century of research and experimentation, much of it in the realm of pure science, a single concern in this industry has now attained the heretofore seemingly unreachable goal of scientifically correct Electrical Refrigeration.

It is a matter of weeks until due recognition of an achievement so outstanding is being discussed at breakfast tables throughout the nation. Today, the reins of leadership in this industry are in their hands. Their success is beyond the stage of probability—it is an undoubted certainty. This is the only concern that can point to installations in service longer than the business life of a single competitor.

Naturally, to their aid has come the formation of the most aggressive of sales policies and provision for most enviable manufacturing facilities. Naturally, too, is the presence, at this threshold of their expansion program, of a most excellent opportunity for the investor possessing imagination, and the faculty for quick decision after the facts evidence both the soundness of this industry and the certainty of their retention of supremacy.

An interesting pamphlet has been compiled, surveying electrical refrigeration as an industry, and describing the fortunate position one industrial leader enjoys, particularly in respect to the exceptional possibilities for profit in the stock. A copy will be sent you on request.

New York, March 16.—(AP)—The stock market turned suddenly reactionary in the last half hour today after having shown fairly general strength. The late selling originated with professional traders, who interpreted the announcement that the Van Sweringens had released the stock deposited under the merger proposal as an indication of the proposed abandonment of their plan. Trading was in moderate volume, the day's sales aggregating 1,424,900 shares.

The early demand for stocks centered largely in the motors, oils, rails, and specialties, scores of which were bid up 1 to 2 points by early afternoon. Many of these gains were wiped out or substantially reduced in the late wave of selling. U. S. Steel common crossed 128 but slid off to 126⅛, where it recorded a fractional gain on the day. Crucible and Gulf States Steel showed moderate gains, but Bethlehem closed a point lower at 43.

General Motors Higher.

General Motors started upward on the optimistic statement on current business made by President Sloan. The common stock touched 130⅝ and then eased to 127⅝, up ⅜ on the day. Mack Trucks dropped from 127 to 124⅛, Hudson from 113⅝ to 108¾, and Stewart-Warner from 86½ to 83½, all closing near the day's low.

In the oil group General Petroleum touched another new high record at 65⅝ and then sold down to 63⅛, closing slightly above that figure for a net loss of 1 point on the day. An early gain of 2⅝ points in General Asphalt common was nearly wiped out, but the preferred closed 5⅝ points higher at 113¾, duplicating the year's high. Pan American B and Houston each advanced about a point, but most of the other active petroleum issues showed only fractional net changes.

Rails Are Mixed.

Chesapeake and Ohio was heavily sold on the Van Sweringen announcement, dropping from 134 to 129⅛ but rebounding to 130¾, off ⅝ on the day. Pere Marquette showed a net loss of one point at 84¾. The Erie issues yielded fractionally. Nickel Plate common closed 2¾ points higher at 151. Other rails were mixed. Atlantic Coast Line broke 7 points to 208, and Seaboard Air Line, Delaware and Hudson, and Texas and Pacific yielded a point or so. New Haven, Chicago and Alton preferred, Lackawanna, and Wheeling and Lake Erie preferred registered moderate gains.

Selling pressure was in evidence throughout the session in the baking and merchandise issues. Ward Baking B was hammered down 5 points to a new low at 49½, and weakness developed in such issues as Fleischmann, Cushman, S. S. Kresge, Gimbel Bros., and Woolworth. High priced specialties also showed substantial recessions. American Can dropped from 312 to 303, a net loss of 5½ points on the day, and General Electric tumbled from 327 to 319, off 6 points.

COTTON TRADE QUIET

Cotton speculation was light and there was nothing in reports from the textile trade, either domestic or abroad, to cause excitement. Spinners in America and abroad are taking supplies as required, as stocks are ample. Weather over the south was unfavorable, with frosts at Vicksburg and rains in south Texas, where they are not needed.

Liverpool closed 2 to 7 points higher and was reflected in moderate buying to cover shorts, while selling pressure was not large. Futures closed mostly 4 to 8 points higher, and spots 5 points higher, with New York 19.40c and New Orleans 18.40c. Prices in leading markets follow:

The property in question is at 102 South Des Plaines, 47x90, partly improved with an old three story building, originally occupied by "Andy" Graham many years ago as a book store before he engaged in the banking business. LIQUIDATION BY MAY LONGS CUTS PRICE OF WHEAT

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Liquidation of lines of long May wheat by local professionals who have recently been aggressive on the buying side with a little pressure from the east and weakness abroad carried prices off 1@2¼c from the finish of Monday. The close was at the bottom on the May at $1.63⅜@1.63¼, a net loss of 2⅛c, while deferred deliveries were ⅜@1¼c lower, with July $1.41¼@1.41⅛ and September $1.34⅞@1.34¾. Corn and oats were off ⅛@⅜c, with May corn 77⅞c and July 81⅛c, while May oats finished at 41⅛c and July at 41@41⅛c. Rye lost 1¼@1½c, with May 88¾c and July 90c.

Pronounced weakness in foreign wheat markets, which were said to be influenced by political and financial developments, was mainly responsible for the change in sentiment locally. May received good support at times, but ran into liberal selling orders above $1.64, and toward the last rumors that Argentina was asking for bids c. i. f. New York brought in aggressive selling and helped make the weak close. Spreaders bought May and sold July early, but the difference at the finish was around 22c against 23c on Monday.

Buenos Ayres Wheat Weak.

An absolute lack of European demand for wheat was reported at Buenos Aires and that market crashed and closed 5⅝c lower, with May at $1.36, or 9¾c under the finish on Saturday. Liverpool lost 1⅛d and went to 7⅛c under Chicago. There was aggressive buying at Winnipeg, and strength there had some effect here but it closed 1⅜ lower for the day, and there was a noticeable lack of export demand both there and at the seaboard. Reports that 2,000,000 bu Manitobas had been sold abroad Monday were denied.

Sentiment has become decidedly bearish on wheat in many quarters. With Chicago at a big premium over all other markets, both here and abroad, and with a New York trader who is a notorious in-and-out operator credited with being a leading long here, there was a feeling that May was likely to decline sharply in case of any material increase in the pressure, especially as trade is largely of a local character. Crop comments from the southwest were generally favorable.

Light Trade in Corn.

Corn held within a price range of ¼ to ½c, with little interest in the market either locally or outside. The finish was easy in sympathy with wheat. Eastern shipping demand showed no improvement, with the cash basis 1c higher to 1c lower. Quality of the grain arriving from the country is much better than recently. Buying against bids furnished the bulk of the support in futures. Oats declined with corn. Shorts were the best buyers of rye, and prices held within a range of ¾@1c. No export demand was reported at the seaboard.

Flaxseed at Buenos Aires closed 3½c lower, with May $1.52½ and June $1.54½ per bu.

CASH·GRAIN NEWS

Foreigners showed little interest in cash wheat at the seaboard and sales of 100,000 to 200,000 bu Manitobas were all that were claimed late in the day. Russell's News had a report denying the sale of 2,000,000 bu, said to have been made by the Canadian pool on Monday.

Chicago handlers sold 11,000 bu wheat; 17,000 bu corn; 90,000 bu oats, and 10,000 bu barley to the domestic trade.

Demand for cash wheat here was only fair with the basis little changed. No 2 red brought 10@11c and No. 2 hard 5@7c over May. Premiums at Kansas City were unchanged to ½c lower, and at St. Louis unchanged. Minneapolis reported a slow demand with the basis weak, and since Saturday some grades have declined as much as 4c compared with May. Shipping sales were 74,000 bu.

Light weight No. 5 and No. 6 grades of cash corn sold slowly, with a leading industry withdrawing from the market after buying early, and the basis declined 1c. Some choice cars of heavy grain brought 1c advance. No. 3 grades sold at 3@6c; No. 4 grades, 6@10c; No. 5 grades, 9@12½c, and No. 6 grades, 12@14½c under May. Outside markets were unchanged to 1c lower.

Offerings of cash oats were not large and the basis steady, with No. 2 white ½@¾c over and No. 3 white ¼@½c over May.

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

Wheat traders were as bearish at the close last night as they were bullish at Monday's finish. It was said most of the large local longs were out of their wheat and a few of the heretofore local bulls were active bears. Having sold out they were anxious for a break to get in again. Fundamentally the May situation was unchanged, but the price nearly 3c lower than the previous day's finish. Traders consider the market as in a position to advance or decline sharply at any time there is a decided stand made by pit operators.

Weakness and decline of 5⅝c in May in Buenos Aires yesterday was due largely to the break in exchange rates and to an absence of foreign buying. Apparently the latter have become bearish and holders have wanted to sell to a greater extent than of late. May wheat there closed at $1.36, the lowest on the present downturn.

Buying of July and selling of May wheat was on to a fair extent by brokers who have been doing the reverse of late. May at the close was 22⅛c over July.

The subsidence of speculative interest in corn futures was indicated by the range of ¼ to ½c in futures. After the finish the spread between bids and offers was ⅝c.

"May wheat is practically 22c over July and we look for a gradually increasing premium," says J. E. Cairns of Jackson Bros. & Co. "Strong interests are spreading it at present differences."

LUDLUM STEEL TAKES STEPS FOR STOCK DIVIDEND

Indications that directors of Ludlum Steel corporation will soon declare a stock dividend were manifested yesterday when stockholders approved an increase in the capital stock of from 200,000 no par shares to 500,000. All of the new shares except 64,580 will be held in the company's treasury for stock dividend purposes, it was announced.

Directors of H. O. Stone & Co. declared a quarterly dividend of $1.25 a share on the company's stock, thereby placing that issue on a $5 annual basis. The dividend compares with 75 cents quarterly formerly paid, and applies to the stock received as a dividend three months ago.

The stock of the American Surety company was placed on a regular 16 per cent annual basis with the declaration of 4 per cent quarterly. In the previous quarter a regular payment of 3 per cent and an extra of one per cent was declared.

The Associates Investment company declared an initial disbursement of 50 cents a share. A quarterly dividend of $1 a share was declared by directors of the Westmoreland Coal company. Three months ago the company paid $1.50.

LONDON, March 16.—(AP)—A good selection, amounting to 9,939 bales, was offered at the wool auctions today. All descriptions of wool met with a steady sale at firm rates. American buyers purchased mostly medium greasy merinos.

GOOD BREAK IN LARD

Stop order selling of lard at times was free around the lowest prices of the day, while offerings were absorbed by shorts and investors. Prices dropped 25c, and closed with a slight rally. At the last net losses were 7½c to 17½c. Cash trade in meats was better and green and cured skinned hams were more freely called for at ½c advance. March deliveries were 650,000 lbs lard. Export clearances of lard were 3,231,000 lbs., and bacon 2,522,000 lbs. Liverpool lard was 6d lower. Prices follow:

The 1925 figure for business failures in the United States was $443,744,272.00.

Don't say, "This doesn't affect me—I'm watching my customers—I'm not subject to attack." It does concern you. Because these statistics cover literally every phase of American Business.

There were failures, for instance, every month of the year—2317 in January, 1878 in December. They happened in every industry—412 Machinery & Tool Mfgrs., 624 Clothing & Millinery Mfgrs., 466 Lumbermen, 1035 Drygoods Merchants, and so on. They happened all over the United States—1256 in Massachusetts, 421 in Georgia, 1433 in Illinois, 1554 in California. They happened to concerns of every size—from the "A-a A1" concern down to the smallest cross-roads general store.

Right now, some of your own customers may be on the verge of failure, without your knowing a thing about it. You can't possibly foresee these bad debt losses, but you can safeguard against them, with American Credit Insurance. Investigate!

Will your investments be blotted by widow's tears?

"YOU have some G. R. & P. bonds that have been called at 110," a Compton representative told a widow. "I'd suggest that you reinvest in 5 per cent corporation bonds."

Unfortunately she had sold those bonds. Her son-in-law, in a well-meant but ill-advised attempt to increase her income, had persuaded her to sell sound securities, and buy stocks which promised 10 per cent and better on their market price. Further market shrinkages had depleted this widow's fortune by more than a third.

There are good stocks, and there are bonds that are not a sound investment for a widow. When you buy a bond, or any other security, through William R. Compton Company, you know that it is suited to your age, and business or personal requirements.

TIN CANS RACE COLD STORAGE AS FOOD PRESERVER

BY HARPER LEECH.

The prominent rôle of American Can in recent stock market drama is undoubtedly closely related to the changes in American life which have made for less kitchen work in the home. At the same time the increasing popularity of canned goods is accompanied by remarkable advances in cold storage, and the shipment of fresh products over distances heretofore considered impractical.

In the next few years we will probably witness a struggle for supremacy between cold and canned goods—but canned stuff has the advantage in many lines—in that it is ready cooked or nearly so. The relative gains of both canned and fresh stuffs over dessicated, dried, salted and pickled foods undoubtedly have resulted from the housewife's shorter hours in front of the stove and watchful attitude toward the gas bill.

Our tin imports increased 17.8 per cent in quantity from 1924 to 1925. Cans and tin plate account only in part of course, because the increasing use of electrical apparatus, radio sets, and motor cars call for more tin—pure or alloyed. Nevertheless more cans, delicatessen lunches and tin can motor touring helped run America's tin bill up from $69,000,000 to $95,000,000 in one year.

Presaging greater usability of fresh foods brought to the home under refrigeration is the rapid increase in the sales of household refrigerating apparatus—more efficient than the icebox—and the increasing use of small refrigerating units on farms connected up with electrical lines. There is more cold available at the producing and consuming end of the food line—and refrigeration increases all along the distributive chain.

Today the stockyards district of Chicago has more cold storage capacity than the whole of Great Britain and Ireland. Of course, this is not a correct index to the relative amounts of fresh food eaten, because Americans insist on chilled meat, which can be kept only a short time, while the British eat frozen meat, which can be kept in good condition for many months, handled in refrigerator ships and distributed throughout a small country with less cold making equipment than is required for our own swift and complicated system of marketing virtually fresh killed meat.

Everybody has noted and most everybody has talked about the increased consumption of packaged goods. One Chicago packer began selling butter in one pound cartons 15 years ago. By 1917 half of their butter volume was sold in packages instead of tubs. Today two-thirds is in packages. Cheese was one of the latest commodities to be extensively packaged. Today in many stores no other kinds are available.

The increased cost of packaging goods is almost offset by the economies of handling such goods in the retail establishment. Machine weighing, packing and wrapping at the source, does away with millions of expensive manual operations at the retailing end.

WHAT MAKES H.O. STONE BONDS SAFE ?

No. 8 of a Series

The Security Margins Steadily Grow

THREE THINGS are constantly at work to make our bond issues safer and safer—increment in land values—increases in earnings—and serial payment of the loans.

Land values throughout the city must increase. The percentage of increase is usually greatest in the most desirable sections. There the properties securing our bonds are located. And as values rise, the incomes from properties inevitably rise and in the same ratio.

While ground values and rental incomes are being augmented, each of our bond issues is reduced year after year by the paying off of a part of the bonds as they mature serially.

From these facts you may see that the originally ample margin between the amount of the bond issue and the actual value of the property continually widens in two directions. The property value goes up—the loan goes down. At the same time the excess of income over the amount required to pay the interest also shows an ever-widening margin.

To appreciate the safety of our First Mortgage Bonds, there are many facts like these which the investor ought to know. You will find reading our literature profitable.

The following is summarized from the letter of Hon. W. A. Fraser, Chairman of the Board, Woodmen Building Corporation:

Building Woodmen of the World Building is the largest office building in Omaha and one of the best-known office buildings in the Northwest. The main building, erected in 1912, has a ground area of approximately 14,520 square feet and is nineteen stories in height, with two basements. It is of modern fireproof steel, terra cotta, brick and hollow tile construction. The Annex Building, erected in 1920, directly adjoining and connected with the main building has a ground area of approximately 5,840 square feet and is six stories in height. The two buildings contain approximately 3,796,530 cubic feet, have a rentable floor area of about 180,101 square feet, and have been recently appraised by Holabird & Roche, Architects, Chicago, at $2,600,240.

Security These bonds will be secured, in the opinion of counsel, by a closed first mortgage on the leasehold estate comprising approximately 20,360 square feet of ground area. The lease, which extends to March 1, 2025, without right to revaluation, leases the ground and buildings for an annual rental of $44,000. The leasehold estate has been conservatively appraised by F. H. Myers, Esq., of Omaha, and H. H. Auerbach, Esq., of H. A. Wolf and Co., Omaha, at $1,907,200.

Earnings Total gross income for the two calendar years ended December 31, 1925, averaged $337,933. Operating expenses, including maintenance and adding thereto the ground rental of $44,000 per annum, averaged, for the same period, $216,450. Net income, on the above basis, available for the payment of interest, depreciation and Federal taxes, has averaged $121,472. Net income for the year ending February 28, 1927, based on present income and existing leases, has been conservatively estimated at approximately $135,000, or twice the maximum annual interest requirements on this issue of bonds.

Sinking Fund The mortgage securing these bonds will provide for a sinking fund payable semi-annually to the Trustee, beginning July 1, 1926, and continuing throughout the life of this issue.

The operation of this sinking fund, through the deposit, purchase in the open market or redemption of bonds, will retire the entire issue before maturity.

Management The active management of the building will continue in the hands of the men who have been responsible for its successful operation from the date of its erection. Hon. W. A. Fraser will become Chairman of the Board of Directors, and John W. Crawford, Secretary and Building Manager. Insurance to the full insurable value against fire loss or damage to the property, and full rent or rental value insurance, will be carried by the Corporation.

All legal matters in connection with this issue are under the supervision of Messrs. Chapman, Cutler and Parker, Chicago. The books and accounts of the Woodmen of the World Building have been audited by Arthur Andersen & Company, Certified Public Accountants, Chicago, for the year ended December 31, 1925.

We offer these Bonds when, as and if issued, subject to the approval of our counsel.

A Serial Presentation of Fundamental Principles

SUCCESSFUL MANAGEMENT OF AN INVESTMENT FUND

No. 5

Watch Your Securities

THE successful management of investments involves more than good judgment in the initial selection of securities. Conditions change and in so doing enhance or depress security values.

Far from a drawback, this process of changing values is advantageous to the security holder who is guided by experienced counsel or is himself well informed; in such case he avails himself of resulting opportunities for profitable exchange.

Place your investment banker in a position to advise you, and, if watchful of your interests, he will recommend advantageous security exchanges as opportunities occur. He is constantly studying security values and is particularly well equipped to render this constructive service.

In the management of investment funds we offer informed and timely counsel—a service productive of tangible results.

THE NEW YORK TRUST COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY, Trustee

The following has been summarized from a letter from the President of the Corporation to P. W. Chapman & Co., Inc.:

Building: The Woodbridge Building, located at 100 William Street, New York City, is one of the largest and most important office buildings in the downtown insurance district. It occupies about 18,800 square feet of land owned in fee and has a total street frontage on William, Platt and John Streets of about 430 feet. Exceptional light protection is afforded through frontage on these three thoroughfares. The front of the building is 13 stories in height, while the rear rises to a height of 17 stories. The entire structure contains a total of over 192,000 square feet of rentable area.

Location: The Woodbridge Building, located midway between the municipal, administrative and judicial buildings of the City of New York, and the financial district, is in the heart of the downtown insurance district.

Leases: The Aetna Life Insurance Company has leased ten and one-half floors of the building, representing approximately 60 per cent of the net rentable area, for a period extending beyond the maturity of this loan. In addition, the Aetna Life Insurance Company has assumed the unexpired leases of certain other tenants aggregating over 10 per cent of the total net rentable area of the building. The total space to be leased by the Aetna Life Insurance Company is over 70 per cent of the rentable area of the building. Other important tenants include: Phoenix Assurance Company, General Accident Company, New York Underwriters, Pacific Coast Borax Company.

Security: This loan will be secured, in the opinion of counsel, by a first closed mortgage on the land and building, owned in fee, the plot extending about 121.7 feet on William Street, 145 feet on John Street and 163.7 feet on Platt Street. The property, land and building, has been independently appraised at $4,315,000, making this loan less than a 58 per cent mortgage. Appraisal of the land has been rendered by Brown, Wheelock-Harris, Vought & Co., Inc., at $1,865,000, and the appraisal of the building has been made by Messrs. Clinton & Russell, architects, at $2,450,000.

Earnings: The building is practically 100 per cent leased and occupied. The Aetna Life Insurance Company's lease, which extends for a period beyond the maturity of this loan, is at an annual rental of $282,760, or an aggregate rental for the term of the lease of over $4,300,000. Charles F. Noyes Company states the annual income, as of May 1, 1926, based on signed leases of present occupants, to be as follows:

Gross Earnings	$512,460
Operating Expenses, Maintenance, Insurance and Taxes, other than Federal Taxes, estimated	214,000
Balance	$298,460
Maximum Annual Interest Charges on this Loan	143,750

These earnings are equivalent to over twice maximum annual interest charges on this loan.

The operation of a quarterly sinking fund, beginning July 1, 1926, through purchase in the open market or through retirement by lot at the then call price, will reduce this loan to less than $1,815,000 at maturity, or an amount less than the present value of the land alone.

This loan is offered when, as and if issued and received by us and subject to the approval of counsel, Messrs. Chapman, Cutler and Parker.

VAN SWERINGENS RELEASE STOCK IN RAIL MERGER

BY O. A. MATHER.

The future of the big Nickel Plate railroad merger, projected by the Van Sweringen brothers of Cleveland, O., was thrown into further doubt yesterday. The deposit committee announced that stockholders of the various roads involved in the merger may withdraw their securities on or before May 1.

This announcement was variously interpreted. One view was that the Van Sweringens desire to determine how much financial backing an amended merger plan would have, the gauge being the amount of securities which stockholders of the component roads are willing to leave on deposit. The other view was that the merger plan has been dropped, both because the old plan was rejected by the interstate commerce commission and a new plan would invite endless litigation, which would bar a reapplication to the commission.

Action Considered Logical.

But it was agreed that a return of securities to the stockholders is logical in any event. Any radical revision of the merger plan would require considerable time and then would require new deposit agreements, as well as action by the directors of the various roads. At the same time the market prices of the stocks has been somewhat below the prices for the certificates of deposit, with the result that there has been some complaint from stockholders that it is unfair to hold their shares after the commission rejected the old plan.

There were reports last night that the Van Sweringens may indicate their future plans today at meetings of the directors of the Chesapeake and Ohio and the Hocking Valley railroads in Cleveland. There also were rumors that the meetings may result in special dividend action.

Freight Loadings Increase.

Domestic trade is maintaining its recent high level and is better than a year ago, judged by the movement of commodities by the railroads. Loadings of revenue freight for the week ended March 6 totaled 964,681 cars. As was to be expected, this was a gain of 52,023 over the preceding week, which contained the Washington birthday holiday, but it is also an increase of 32,637 over a year ago. The current report shows that miscellaneous freight exceeded a year ago by 14,782 cars.

The recent steady decline in petroleum production was checked last week and a considerable increase in light oil of high gasoline content occurred. The daily average gross crude oil production totaled 1,935,000 brls, an increase of 14,900 over the preceding week. There was no change in the Smackover heavy oil field, but elsewhere east of the Rocky mountains there was an increase of 6,400 and California production increased 8,500 brls a day.

Some Capitalization Changes.

Several corporations announced capitalization changes yesterday. Stockholders of the Mergenthaler Linotype company approved changing the capital stock from $100 to no par value, increasing the issue from 150,000 to 300,000 shares and exchanging two new shares for each old share. Recapitalization of the Serv-El corporation under Delaware laws to succeed the present Virginia corporation is proposed, the new company to exchange no-par shares on an equal basis for the present class A stock and two new shares for one of the present class B voting trust certificates.

Stockholders of the Southern Dairies, Inc., voted to accord full voting powers to the class A stock. Stockholders of the West Penn company voted to dissolve the corporation following an offer to exchange their stock for that of the West Penn Electric and the American Waterworks and Electric companies.

INSULL'S PLAN TO REBUILD S. H. & P. IS MADE KNOWN

Details of the financing by which another broken down public utility is to be saved from the junk pile, rehabilitated, and made a going corporation by the magic wand of Samuel Insull, were made known last night. The company is the old Chicago, Peoria and St. Louis railroad, now the Springfield, Havana and Peoria, and when it is rehabilitated it will be operated by the Chicago and Illinois Midland railroad, an Insull subsidiary.

The plan provides that the Midland shall issue $4,600,000 of bonds and $600,000 of stock. Of the bonds $2,500,000 will be used to refund a like amount of outstanding Midland bonds. Of the remaining $2,100,000 of Midland bonds, the proceeds of $1,960,000 will be used to purchase $1,960,000 of the new railroad's bonds. These will be taken at par and the proceeds put into the new railroad: $625,000 in cash to the C. P. & St. L. bondholders for the old right of way and the remainder for reconstruction. The remaining $140,000 of Midland bonds and $100,000 of the Midland stock will go for new equipment.

The remaining $500,000 of Midland stock will be exchanged for the new road's $500,000 of stock, and this will be taken by the Commonwealth Edison company on account of the new right of way and on account of working capital, organization expense, and the contingencies of railroad organization, construction, and general rehabilitation.

Flax-li-num Insulating Co.,
St. Paul, Minn.

2058 Palace Ave.
St. Paul, Minn.
October 15, 1925.

Gentlemen:

The comforts we have enjoyed in our Flax-li-num insulated home are many.

My husband leaves in the morning with complete assurance that we will be comfortable all day and that I will not have to poke up the fire or replenish the coal no matter how cold and stormy it may be outside.

I sit at my work in any room in the house in perfect comfort and our children play on the floor or study wherever they like, as there are no drafts, cold floors, or cold walls to chill them. In fact, we are all so free from colds that our neighbors have remarked about it.

Summer and winter we are in perfect comfort at all times. No hot sleeping rooms on hot summer nights to keep the children awake for hours and restless the rest of the night.

Thanks to Flax-li-num we are comfortable in all seasons. Yes, you can take a photograph of our house if you wish.

Yours very truly,

Mrs. M. Holm

Tending the furnace is no longer Mrs. Holm's task!

THE fatiguing job of furnace tending was formerly one of Mrs. Holm's daily tasks.

When her present home was built, Flax-li-num was put into the walls and roof, and now attention to the furnace only morning and evening is sufficient to keep her home amply warm throughout the long winter months.

Mrs. Holm's letter, which is reproduced on this page, tells the whole story; you need no further evidence of how Flax-li-num will benefit your entire family.

This correct insulating material holds in the heat which your heating plant generates and prevents its loss through walls and roofs. It helps keep all parts, of all the rooms, always comfortable. It eliminates cold walls and drafty floors and keeps the interior temperature just right for health, as well as comfort.

Top floor sleeping rooms are never hot and stuffy during the summer months because the thick, felted sheets of Flax-li-num, which line the walls and top floor ceiling, keep out the heat of the sun. Every member of the family is assured restful sleep.

In addition to the health and comfort which Flax-li-num assures, there is also the vitally important factor of economy to be considered. The use of Flax-li-num reduces heating costs from 25% to 33⅓% per year. This is a fact borne out by the experience of thousands of owners of Flax-li-num insulated homes. In a few short years, Flax-li-num pays its own cost, and ever after that continues to earn its cost over and over again. Flax-li-num is not only an essential, but an economy.

No matter whether you plan to buy or build, you, too, may realize on the benefits to be derived from the use of Flax-li-num. If you are planning to buy a home, get in touch with any one of the numerous realtors in your city who Flax-li-num insulate the homes they build for sale. These realtors will gladly show you the Flax-li-num "Built-Warm" Certificate, which is issued by this company as evidence that Flax-li-num was used. If you are planning to build your own home, get in touch with the distributor whose name appears in this advertisement, or send the coupon below to the Flax-li-num Insulating Company, St. Paul, Minnesota, and samples and further information regarding this one correct building insulation will be sent you without your incurring any obligation.

Here are the Facts about Flax-li-num

Flax-li-num is a Correct Insulator

Flax-li-num is made of felted flax fibres. It contains millions of tiny "dead" air spaces. "Dead" air is a natural non-conductor of heat.

1" Flax-li-num equals 16" of Brick or 27" of Concrete

A one inch thickness of Flax-li-num is as effective in stopping the passage of heat as sixteen inches of brick or twenty-seven inches of concrete.

Flax-li-num is made in the Correct Thicknesses

Flax-li-num is made in three correct thicknesses. Full inch for roofs and ceilings; one-half inch for side-walls and one-quarter inch, which is used with other thicknesses for sound control.

Flax-li-num is made in the Correct Form

Flax-li-num is neither limp nor board-like in form. It is semi-rigid, cannot be punctured or torn and will not warp, buckle, break, crack or pulverize.

Flax-li-num is Purified. It is Vermin and Rodent-Proof

Rats, mice or other vermin will not touch or nest in Flax-li-num. During manufacture it is chemically treated so as to be vermin-proof.

Easy and Economical to Install, Stays in Place Forever

Flax-li-num is made in sheets 16½" and 32" wide and in 8, 9, and 10 foot lengths. It is made in flanged sheets, so as to fit easily and snugly between side-wall studdings, and also in flat sheets for brick and tile construction, ceiling insulation and sound control.

Flax-li-num is a Time-Tried and Proved-Correct Insulation

Thousands of homes throughout the country are now correctly insulated with Flax-li-num. It is also used to insulate over 90% of the refrigerator cars now being built.

Flax-li-num is an Effective Sound Controller

Flax-li-num is a most effective controller of sound for use in the floors and party walls of public, commercial and industrial buildings, apartments and two-flat buildings.

Flax-li-num is an Essential Economy—Not an Expense

Flax-li-num cannot be considered an expense. It is an economy—and essential in every home. Its use enables you to save on radiation costs and lowers your fuel bill every year. It pays for itself in the savings it makes possible.

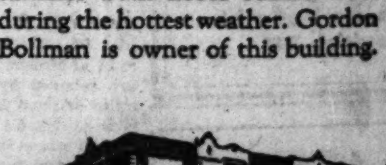
Insulate with Flax-li-num when you build—It cannot be done later

Unlike an extra which can be added later, Flax-li-num must be put in your home when you are building. Do not experiment. Insulation cannot be changed when once installed. Use Flax-li-num and be sure.

Flax-li-num Insulates these Chicago Homes

When Mr. Joseph A. Netzel, contractor and builder, built on this site at Ridgeway Avenue and Roscoe Street, he installed Flax-li-num in both his house and garage. He realized the great advantage of Flax-li-num in preventing heat losses in winter and protecting interiors from extreme heat in summer.

Flax-li-num provides great comfort for the occupants of this two-flat building at 2522 East 71st Street. They are not subjected to extreme temperature changes and enjoy the maximum in heat economy that Flax-li-num affords. In winter both floors are easily kept warm, and in summer both floors remain cool during the hottest weather. Gordon Bollman is owner of this building.



More and more every day, architects are coming to realize the great value of using Flax-li-num in large apartment buildings of this type. Mr. G. E. Seegren is the owner and builder of this apartment building. It is located at North Irving Avenue and Argyle Street. Godfrey Larson was the architect.

The Adopted Wife

By Amelie Rives
[Princess Troubetzkoy.]

SYNOPSIS.

Celia Gibbs is left an orphan by the death of her father, who bequeaths her to the care and charity of Hilary Fraser, one of his few friends. Hilary's sister, Laura Eversham, relieves him of his charge by placing Celia in a French convent and, when she is eighteen, taking her into her home to live. Two years later Laura dies, and Hilary is greatly disturbed as to what to do about Celia. A young Russian sculptor proposes to her, but she refuses his offer, and Hilary, in desperation, proposes to her himself, in order that she may live in his house with propriety. Celia is happy in the arrangement until she overhears some gossip about herself and her "white marriage." She learns for the first time that her father had left her penniless. Hilary goes to Europe and Celia decides to get herself a job. She applies to Abe Sieburg of the Sieburg theater, who agrees to take her on in a fancy diving stunt. She gives up the job the day before Hilary is due back in the country.

INSTALLMENT XXI.

CELIA CONFESSES.

"Well?" Hilary asked cheerfully, but he felt worried again. That was a look of real distress on Celia's pale face.

"It's . . . something I've disappointed you about."

"Disappointed me?"

"Yes. . . . They said you meant me to be a teacher . . ." Her hands were beginning to shake now. "Why didn't you tell me?" she asked. "Why didn't Mrs. Eversham tell me? . . . I would have tried my best . . . I would have worked very hard . . ."

Hilary forgot his cold so entirely that he drew a chair near hers, and took her hands in his.

"Now look here, Celia," he said, resolutely. "Be reasonable. When Laura and I thought of educating you for that purpose you were only an almost unknown little girl of fourteen to us. . . . You weren't at all the Celia of whom we both grew so fond later on. Come—you can be reasonable when you want to. You see that, don't you?"

"What I can't see," she said, sadly, "is why you should be fond of me."

"Perhaps, dear Modesty, that is one of the reasons," he retorted.

"Why are you still so gloomy, Celia? I hope there's nothing very tragic left for you to tell me. . . . It would be horrible to have it punctuated with sneezes, don't you think so?"

Celia hesitated. "I'd better tell him now," she thought, and admitted: "There is something more. . . ."

"Not tragic, I hope."

"I . . . don't . . . know . . ." she said slowly.

Hilary felt anxious again. What the deuce could have happened to give her that harassed look?

"Well, let's get it over," he suggested. "I've brought you a delightful toy that I'm longing to show you."

Celia clasped her hands about one knee, turned her profile toward him, and, gazing into the fire, asked:

"Did you ever hear of Mr. Abe Sieburg?"

"Mr. . . . who?" said Hilary, sitting up and feeling for his monocle. He adjusted it as Celia repeated clearly:

"Mr. Abe Sieburg."

"My God!" flashed Hilary's thought, "has the child fallen in love with a man named Abe Sieburg?" Aloud he managed to say in his everyday voice:

"Well, my dear," he encouraged. "What about this Mr. Abe Sieburg who owns the Sieburg theater?"

"Some one connected with the Sieburg theater?"

"Yes. He owns it."

Hilary now blinked out his monocle, and she could feel his black eyes fixed piercingly on her. He still commanded a casual tone, though apprehension had returned darker than at first.

"Well, my dear," he encouraged. "What about this Mr. Abe Sieburg who owns the Sieburg theater?"

"He . . . I . . ."

She stopped for a second, but Hilary felt his worst fears confirmed as she went on to say:

"I engaged myself to him . . . for a month. . . ."

Hilary could only echo vacantly:

"For a month?"

"Yes. I couldn't go on with it . . . when you came back. . . . I mean, I wouldn't."

Hilary could not think of one word to say. He was literally stupefied.

"You see . . . I wanted to find out whether I could earn some money . . . make my own living . . . so that you wouldn't feel you had to take care of me. . . . That's why I said I'd swim for him. . . ."

"Just a moment, please," interrupted Hilary, choosing his words with great care. "I don't think I'm getting things quite clearly. . . . You say you engaged yourself to this Mr. Sieburg? . . ."

"Yes . . . Only for one month . . ."

"I understand that. But . . . did I understand you to say you swam for him?"

"Yes," said Celia, and her head drooped so low that he could only see her straight eyebrows and a very perdu triangle of her small face.

"Where did you swim for him?"

"At the Sieburg theater."

"What?" said Hilary.

"I swam for him there . . . I wore a mask . . . I was called 'The Masked Mermaid.' . . . No one knows it was me. . . . I got a good salary . . . It's here . . ."

She pulled a thick blue envelope out of the bosom of her gown, and held it toward him.

Still in a species of daze, Hilary took the envelope, and drew from it a package of bills strapped together by an elastic band. The sum total startled him. He looked at her in silence, and, answering the look, she said:

"I . . . earned them . . . in one month. He wanted me to go on . . . much longer. . . . He said he would give me twice that much . . . for another month. . . ."

She faltered, stopped, then, as he didn't speak, she managed to add:

"Are you. . . very angry with me?"

"Celia," began Hilary, then he swallowed, because he had what children call a frog in his throat. Turning it into a pretended cough, he went on:

"You are surely the queerest, dearest, pluckiest child this side of elfland!" He coughed again. "You are. . . . You are. . . ."

Suddenly uncontrollable laughter seized him.

"You are . . . just Celia!" he gasped between his outbursts. . . . O, lord! 'The Masked Mermaid.' . . . Mr. Abe Sieburg. . . ."

Between one of his paroxysms Celia murmured:

"Then you aren't angry with me?"

"Do I look as if I were angry? . . . I'm only in hysterics between admiration for your courage and relief that you're not going to ask me to set you free to marry Mr. Abe Sieburg!"

"O!" cried Celia, with such a mingling of horror and reproach that she started him off again. Then he coughed once more, wiped his eyes, put away his monocle, and, assuming a very grave air, said:

"I hope that you're not going to insist on deserting me now that you've found you can become rich and famous by . . . by swimming for Mr. Abe Sieburg?"

"You see . . ." began Celia.

"Well, my dear—what is it that I see? 'The Masked Mermaid'—or simply my noble imp?"

"I meant that, now. . . . You mustn't feel you have to . . . to take care of me. . . ."

"As to that, I don't think I've taken such very good care of you, Celia, my dear. If I had I can't believe that even those hussies could have stung you into this wild adventure. Writing is a selfish business, my dear. I've been so absorbed in my work for the last two years that I've left you to a rather dull life, I'm afraid. . . ."

"O, no," said Celia, earnestly. "It's I that am dull. . . ."

Hilary laughed.

"Don't call yourself dull when you've got this amount out of a theatrical manager," he returned. "How in God's name did you do it, by the way?"

"I had a good agent," said Celia.

Here he asked her to tell him the whole story in detail. She hadn't known that Hilary could laugh as he laughed that evening. Her account of Mr. Abe, Mr. Alf Goldstein, and her other theatrical acquaintances threw him into fresh convulsions of mirth. She grew quite excited in her relief and ran to fetch pictures of "The Masked Mermaid"—and some of the amazing ads to show him.

By Mae Tinée.

Good morning!

Don't let many suns go down on your devoted heads without seeing "The New Klondike." And that's a real live tip, bestowed gratis and guaranteed to bring you much rich laughter.

The story is Ring Lardner's—who, I think, is the greatest living humorist—and it sure is a slip up on the part of the movie magnates that he hasn't been bagged to turn out sweet nonsense for them regularly. The present demonstration makes one luscious peach of a fillum—so good that you yearn for more of the same kind.

I can tell you just about all you should know of the picture before seeing it in a few words.

"The New Klondike" is Florida, whither go the members of a New York baseball team to establish training quarters at a place about two hours from Miami.

Tom Kelly, the star pitcher who had won the world's series for them the year before, is proudly sent on his way by the home folks of Westbury, N. J. With him goes Bing Allen, the white hope of the district, who, in the bushes, is known as "a hittin' fool."

Mr. Kelly leaves just in time to escape a telegram telling him not to bother to come—same sent by the rascally manager of the team, who is jealous of Kelly and fearful that the latter's popularity may lead to his becoming manager. This Mr. Cooley cannot afford to have happen at just this time, for he is mixing baseball with real estate and——

Well—Kelly arrives, discovers himself fired, goes into real estate, has good luck, lets the team in on the deal—and you have one of the funniest situations that was ever screened—a big league team training with their minds a jumble of "buy lots—sell lots—bungalows—big money—sunshine—cheap at the price"—studying land maps while they do home runs. Believe me, it IS funny!

Of course the redoubtable Kelly gets into a peck of trouble and equally of course there's a girl at hand to make him sad and glad and mad.

And O, he has a friend that loves him truer than a brother! HE HAS! Ol' Bing Allen from Westbury — as dumb as he is devoted! His underslung activities made me laugh till the tears came.

Mr. Meighan is at his best, which is going some, isn't it? Miss Lee is demure and charming as usual. The supporting cast was chosen by somebody who was SOME picker, and I will say for the director that he knows his business.

SO—see Florida with the ball team this week. Find out just why a stranger in that sunny clime should never, never let anybody pin a button on him. Get some inside dope on the workings of the genial folk who are selling the great outdoors and learn about suckers from them.

It is SOME picture! I loved it!

This Is Funny in Spots, Exciting in Others

This is all about the rescue of Faith Fitzhugh from three terrible men who live in a lighthouse in the Dutch Straits. And as Dolores Costello is Faith, it is certain that you will be considerably exercised in your mind until at last the doughty sailors from the good ship Maryland are successful in their efforts.

Faith and her mother and father are shipwrecked when she's a child and only Faith is saved. She is picked up by the Krooms, grandfather, son and grandson. On her person they discover a paper showing who she is—the daughter of a wealthy family of Baltimore. It is decided that the girl shall be kept until she is older and married to Hans, the grandson. Fatted for the sacrifice, as 'twere. Then, by Dutch law, it seems, whatever property is hers shall be her husband's. And Hans is a drooling idiot.

The Maryland comes to the straits to mend some cable—not that you ever see any signs of any such work being done. The sailors are all trick navies headed by a trick commander and boasting a male quartet amongst them that is their pride and joy. These boys are the principal comedy "props" of the picture.

A young officer discovers the plight of the girl. Drama turns into melodrama, punctuated by fights and drownings and brought to a brilliant climax by the burning of the lighthouse. AFTER the girl is out, of course.

"Bride of the Storm"—title reminds me of something—think Wagner—is exciting and rather funny in spots. The acting is good and the ocean scenery grand, AND—Dolores Costello, glorious! How's that?

See you soon!

CLOSEUPS.

"The Clinging Vine," adapted from the stage success by Velda Sears, is to be produced by Cecil De Mille, with Leatrice Joy doing the clinging.

When press agents can't think of anything else to write of, their fancy lightly turns to dogs—and so we hear that Lassie, the talented dog that played in "Tol'able David," will be seen in "O, Baby!"

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Tribune will pay $5 for each question accepted for the Inquiring Reporter to ask. Send name and address with your question to "The Inquiring Reporter," Chicago Tribune. For today's question Helen Malcheski, 1522 North La Salle street, was awarded $5.

The Question.

Do you agree with Judge Sabath that men of 23 or more who earn $35 a week should seriously contemplate matrimony?

Where Asked.

11 South Dearborn street.

The Answers.

Phillip Kozek, 1321 South Keeler avenue, salesman — If they thoroughly love each other they could live and be happy on $35 a week, but certainly not on any less than that. Both would have to insist upon living within their narrow limits else they would make a matrimonial wreck of it in no time.

Mrs. Inez Young Pierce, 4862 Kenmore avenue, school teacher—I know from experience that one should not marry on that sum, because it wouldn't be living; it only would be existing. They could not be happy long. Fortunately, there are few worth while men not making more than $35 a week.

Fred J. Ott, 3915 North Hamilton avenue, piano mover—I believe my wife and I could make the grade on that, but you have to have a good partner to do it. One couldn't have $80 overcoats when $40 ones will do. I married 10 years ago, and one shouldn't let money stop any one from getting married.

Mrs. Weiss Gerber, 3451 North Hamilton avenue, housewife—Agree? No. I don't see how a single man can live on $35, let alone support a wife, especially in the long, hard Chicago winters. Men's clothes are many and cost much, and women's clothes are not so many, but cost more. Fifty dollars a week is about the limit.

Gardner Read, 1049 Hinman avenue, Evanston, insurance broker — I believe a man should not marry before he is 28, and a salary of $45 is risky. As a father of two sons who will soon be at the marriageable age, I feel they cannot have sufficient experience in solving the problems of life before they are 28.

Harp of Erin, Shillelah Get Innings Today

There'll Be Shamrock, Too, for St. Patrick.

The shillalah and the shamrock, the harp of Erin and the Irish jig will come into their own today for the traditional observance of the feast of St. Patrick by thousands of Celts in Chicago.

Beginning with solemn services to be held this morning in many Catholic churches, and ending in the wee small hours of tomorrow at the large dance halls, there will be no interruption in the day's festivities, for which event the Lenten fast has been interrupted.

Miss Leona Marie Hayes, Irish harpist, will make the first of her scheduled seven appearances during the day and evening at a high mass to be sung at 10 o'clock at Old St. John's Basilica at 18th and Clark streets by the pastor, the Very Rev. William D. O'Brien.

St. Patrick's church at Adams and Des Plaines streets will draw many hundreds of Irish from all parts of Chicago for the time honored services at the shrine of St. Patrick there.

Fifteen thousand are expected to attend the 27th annual celebration of the United Celtic-American Societies at White City, where two hundred are scheduled to take part in a program of fifty numbers. Five crates of shamrocks plucked from around the Blarney stone will be distributed to the guests. Jigs, Irish reels, and clog dances will be held for the championship of Illinois.

Patrick J. Carr, county treasurer, and Robert M. Sweitzer, county clerk, will lead the right and left wings of the grand march.

The silver jubilee of the Irish Fellowship club will be celebrated at the Palmer house this evening, with Mayor Dever as a guest of honor and former Gov. Edwin P. Morrow of Kentucky as the principal speaker. Parnell Egan, president of the club, will preside.

More than 500 reservations have been made for the annual banquet of the Ancient Order of Hibernians at the Hotel La Salle tonight. Talks will be made by Mayor Dever, the Rt. Rev. Bishop Hoban, and Judge James E. Deery of Indianapolis.

At the First Regiment armory another dance will be held, while the Chicago Yacht club will make merry at the Belmont harbor clubhouse.

The Hamilton club will have a dinner and dance Saturday evening to observe the feast

THEATER

This is the announced assignment of Lady Diana Manners, Miss Elinor Patterson, Miss Iris Tree, and Miss Elisabeth Schirmer for next week's performances of "The Miracle":

Monday, Tuesday, and Friday nights and Wednesday afternoon, Lady Diana as the Madonna and Miss Tree as Megildis.

Wednesday and Saturday nights, Lady Diana as Megildis and Miss Schirmer as the Madonna.

Thursday night and Saturday afternoon, Lady Diana as the Madonna and Miss Patterson as Megildis.

Mr. Houdini's stay in the Princess continues until April 3. He is drawing large audiences; and he deserves to: his entertainment is varied, exciting, and gratifying. As I said in a report on it, he starts where the others quit, and gives a better bill of mystification, sleight-of-hand, and illusion than I recall getting from Herrmann, Kellar, or any other "magician" I have seen.

When, Sunday afternoon, the play heretofore referred to as "The Woman on the Jury" is made known in the Adelphi, the name will be "The Jurywoman"; and this, it is explained, was the title intended by the author, Bernard K. Burns, and used in the Milwaukee première of the play, three or four years ago.

Other news from the Messrs. Ascher is that they have obtained the right to act "The Show-Off" by the company they maintain in the Château, and will put it on there Easter-week. Their bill this week in the Château is "Dancing Mothers," which they staged a bare week after the end of the ten-weeks Selwyn-La Salle engagement of the piece. . . . As to "The Show-Off," it is one of the best plays so far turned out by a native writer. Chicago didn't bother much with it when it was given here, last season, in Cohan's; and that was Chicago's error. . . . And, if you're curious as to what is the best play now to be observed in New-York, it is "Craig's Wife," by the same author, George Kelly. At least, it was the best of the plays I left there at the end of January; and I've not heard or read that anything nearly so good has since been put forward there.

Al Jolson is to resume performing, but not in "Big Boy." He is to go on in "Artists and Models," current in the New-York Winter Garden, and make a single appearance, saying and singing what he listeth for half-an-hour or longer. And it is told that he is to be paid $10,000 a week for doing so.

Fund Campaign for Wilson Monument Is Planned by Slavs

Plans for a national campaign to raise funds for a monument to Woodrow Wilson to be erected in Washington, D. C., by American Poles, Czecho-Slovaks and Jugoslavs, were discussed yesterday at a meeting of prominent Slavs in the Iroquois club. Among those at the meeting were John R. Palendech, John Smulski, Charles J. Vopicka, Prof. Samuel Harper, editors of Slavic papers in Chicago, and presidents of societies and organizations of the three peoples.

The monument, with fourteen steps representing the famous fourteen points of Wilson, and the figures of Wilson and a woman depicting "America Aroused," will be forty feet high. It was designed by John David Brein, Chicago sculptor.

The monument, costing $200,000, will be given to the United States as an expression of gratitude for what America and Woodrow Wilson did toward the independence and political unity of the three countries.

Puts Athletics in First Place in College Life

Principal Attraction for Student, Educator Says.

When John or Henry finishes high school and chooses to go to college, the first thing he considers is the athletic department. Therefore, by enlarging the swimming tank, the track floor, the hockey field and the football gridiron, the wise junior college president does the most possible to increase the attendance and the tuition of the college.

Walter E. Harnish, president of Hedding college, Abingdon, Ill., addressing deans and presidents of secondary schools from 42 states in conference at the Hotel Sherman yesterday afternoon, thus stressed the importance of athletics in creating school spirit and upholding the student body.

"A good gymnasium is the salvation of the small school," Mr. Harnish said. "One of the greatest needs at present is a change in the regulations of accredited universities making the junior college athlete eligible to play on varsity teams on his entrance into the higher institution. At present he cannot take part in athletics for a year, but then he is a senior and so near graduation the coach will not bother training him."

Athletics come first in the hearts of the students, Mr. Harnish continued. If athletics were discontinued the schools would cease to exist. A winning basketball team will increase the attendance a third in one year.

The establishment of fraternities as a means of increasing junior college attendance also was advised by Mr. Harnish. The advantages of the fraternity outweigh the disadvantages many times over, he said.

Mathematics and foreign language requirements must be made stricter, if the graduate is successfully to enter the senior college of the university after graduation, said Dr. J. Adair Lyon, Sophie Newcomb college, New Orleans. He said there must be more correlation between course requirements of the junior college and the university.

One hundred and two junior colleges from all over the country are represented in the two day conference of the American Association of Junior Colleges, which closes to day. H. G. Noffsinger of Virginia Intermont college, Bristol, Va., is president.

Woman's Aid Opens Exhibition of Work of Beatrice Levy

An attractive one man show is hung in the rooms of the Woman's Aid, an organization of women which this winter has begun an active campaign in the interests of the lesser known artists of Chicago. This exhibit, one of paintings and block prints by Beatrice Levy, is the fifth exhibit to be hung. Previous exhibitions illustrated the work of Minnie Harms Neebe, Elizabeth Colwell, Salcia Bahne, and Eve Watson Schultze.

Yesterday afternoon the stage visited the studio. E. H. Sothern spoke before the club on the subject of the theater, and Miss Judith Anderson, who is playing in "The Dove," was sketched by the exhibiting artist.

The art activities of the Woman's aid are under the leadership of Mrs. Alexander White. With her enthusiastic committee she has succeeded in starting a movement of prime importance. There cannot be too much of this introducing of the people who paint pictures to the people who buy pictures.

Three exhibitions will open tomorrow afternoon in the east wing galleries of the Art institute. There will be sculpture by the Frenchman, Bourdelle, who was given a huge triumph in New York; etchings and drawings by Laura Knight, the twenty-third annual exhibition of prints by the Chicago Camera club, and an exhibition of ship models. These exhibitions will remain on view until April 25. E. J.

In Which Helpful Hints Are Offered to Anti-Petters

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Girls, here's a straight tip for you on how to tame a petter. It sounds good to me. It comes from "Larry," 20, who felt the "enlightening" urge when he read that letter I printed from "Mister-ogynists," two young women who complained about the necessity of petting to keep boy friends:

"Now, Mister-ogynists, I know it's going to be a large order for me to tell you to reverse your whole point of view, but it simply has to be done if you want results.

"Listen to me, now, because I know. I used to insist upon necking all the time until a certain girl knocked it out of me so completely that I haven't recovered yet.

"This girl is the fortunate possessor of a dazzling personality. And yet, somehow or other, I can't seem to believe it wasn't acquired after hard study. Personality may be inborn, but it has to be developed, to my way of thinking. Now, then, Mister-ogynists, the first thing for you to do is to liven up. Be so darn full of pep—not at parties, I mean, but in sports and athletics—that the fellows will come a-running after you, and not with thoughts of petting, but to bask in the sunlight of your fascinating presence. Laugh and smile those petters right out of their mood. Please don't have a serious talk with them, as you say you have, asking them what they see in kissing, 'cause that's what we hate.

"Never allow yourself to become really serious unless you know you can trust the fellow to behave in that mood. Otherwise, when a fellow gets serious with you, begin to poke playful fun at him, tease him flatteringly, and, in other words, make him laugh the mood right off. In this way there will be no hard feelings on either part, and he will think you are a wonder.

"Develop a sense of humor. Laugh heartily at his clean jokes. Keep him in his place with a show of indignation if his jokes are otherwise, and respect his ideas for what they are worth. That is, don't ever ridicule him. I know I am making a mess of this letter, but please follow what I am saying, because I am giving you sure fire facts. How can a fellow think of petting when a girl is full of pep and energy and playful teasing? It just goes against the grain. Petting is only for the 'dead' ones with no life for anything but to sit in a corner and bill and coo.

Twisting the Meaning.

My grandfather wrote a few poems, of which I am rather proud, so when I was asked to give a reading at our church social I chose one of them.

But I was so embarrassed by the snickers that greeted my introduction of the subject that I could scarcely get through. Perhaps it was stage fright, but more likely just my bad grammar that made me say: "I shall now read to you a poem written by my grandfather, who has lain in his grave many years for his own amusement."

O. C. S.

Her Error.

My husband's eyesight is poor, and I have been in the habit of softly reading to him the titles and subtitles of the moving pictures we attend.

While at a movie recently there was a long stretch when there was nothing of importance to read to him. Then, at a tense moment, I leaned close to the man on my right and whispered in his ear the flash on the screen, "Are you in love with that woman——" I got no further.

The man turned and stared at me. I then realized my husband was sitting on my left—not on my right. I begged the dazed man's pardon and feebly said, "I thought you were my husband."

He emphatically replied, "No, madame, I am not!"

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Hardly a Good Sport.

"Dear Miss Blake: I dearly love a fellow who went with my best girl friend a year ago. I have told her everything and she feels hurt.

"WORRIED."

She shouldn't blame you nor should she feel hurt because the young man has shown a preference for you, dear. She isn't a good sport.

They Quarreled.

"Dear Miss Blake: My boy friend and I quarreled. He has failed to call me up. What shall I do?

"BROWN EYES."

The one at fault should take the first step toward a reconciliation, Brown Eyes. If the shoe pinches, you know what is expected of you.

Society in Washington Enhanced Pictorially by Chicago Matrons

Washington is perhaps the only spot in fashionable America where the social season is still at its height, even with the penitential season in full swing. Chicago matrons are delving deeply into the diplomatic life, and from descriptions their taste in fine feathers adds much of pictorial value to the endless rounds of social events.

Mrs. Dawes, wife of the Vice President, created pleasurable comment recently in an evening gown of white Japanese crêpe embroidered all over in incent beads shading from pearly white to flesh and palest blue. Mrs. Dawes usually wears a tulle scarf about her throat, and with this gown she makes a charming picture in a scarf of flesh tulle and a huge feather fan of the same hue.

Princess Cantacuzene, tall, strikingly dark, belongs partly to Chicago, through her Grant kinship and having been brought out under the wing of her aunt, the first Mrs. Potter Palmer. Princess Cantacuzene made a stunning figure at a recent charity ball in a gown of amethyst chiffon embroidered in pearls, which was an admirable foil for her quiet, compelling beauty.

Mrs. James R. Mann, another of the smartly groomed women from Boul Mich, goes in for extremely simple effects. At a recent Philharmonic concert Mrs. Mann wore an ensemble of black velvet, with a hat of the same, simply blocked and trimmed with a broad golden ribbon.

The reception committee for the dinner to be given by the English Speaking Union for Sir Esmé and Lady Isabella Howard tomorrow evening will be headed by Frank H. Scott, president of the union, and Mrs. Scott. Consul General Herbert A. Richards and Mrs. Richards will be next in line, and Lady Suffolk, Mr. and Mrs. Augustus S. Peabody, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick T. West, Mr. and Mrs. F. Bruce Johnstone, and Col. Killett will complete the party. Prof. Paul Shorey is to introduce Sir Esmé, after which he will make an address. The Howards are to arrive at 9 o'clock this morning and are to stay at the Drake.

Miss Alice Gerstenberg will give a dinner this evening, one of a series of three similar affairs, at the Gerstenbergs' new apartment at 1120 Lake Shore drive. The Gerstenbergs find this serial method of entertaining necessary since they abandoned their capacious old residence on Deming place for the more modern abode and more fashionable location.

The Opera club plans to celebrate the "wearing of the green" with a St. Patrick's dinner-dance this evening. The members of the club are to participate in a Charleston contest, that popular diversion which has heretofore been considered to belong to the rather —well, say socially less pretentious.

The wives of Chicago alumni of Culver Military academy are to serve tea at the Hoosier salon this afternoon. These include Mrs. Fletcher M. Durbin, Mrs. Dan G. Stiles, Mrs. Robert E. Agee, and Mrs. Ralph S. Longstaff. Since this is Culver day at the salon, portraits of the gold star men of Culver are to be exhibited.

Mrs. Eugene Underwood Kimbark of Evanston gave a festive bridge party at the Evanston Country club yesterday afternoon for Miss Gladys Spry, who is to be married on March 24, and for Mrs. Rollin W. Keyes.

Mr. and Mrs. Hardinge Scholle and daughter of 39 East Oak street are departing this week for Florida for a visit with Mrs. Scholle's mother, Mrs. Eugene Klapp of New York.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., March 16.—[Special.]—The President and Mrs. Coolidge dined tonight with the secretary of the interior, Dr. Hubert Work, who had the largest company asked to meet these distinguished guests with which they have yet dined. Mrs. A. W. Bissell of Evanston, Ill., daughter of the secretary, acted as hostess. The dinner was given in the presidential suite in the Willard hotel.

The Vice President and Mrs. Dawes were guests at dinner tonight of Senator and Mrs. William H. King of Utah in the ballroom of the Mayflower hotel. They had 115 guests, including the secretary of the navy and Mrs. Wilbur, senators, representatives, a few diplomats, and their wives, and some members of smart resident society. After the dinner the guests danced.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, March 16.—[Special.]—Miss Valerie Vernam, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Cottier Vernam of 290 Park avenue, will be married to Giraud Van Nest Foster on the afternoon of April 29 in the chapel of St. Bartholomew's church. The reception will be at Sherry's.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Girault Lathrop, formerly of this city and San Francisco, have announced from their home in London the engagement of their second daughter, Miss Sylvia Alexander Lathrop, to Eugene Lascelles Maxwell, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Maxwell of Maxwellon, Glen Cove, L. I.

Even Flu Is Unable to Impair Charm of Symphony Concert

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Frederick Stock continued to be a victim of the prevailing flu epidemic yesterday, and consequently Eric DeLamarter took the baton for the Tuesday afternoon concert of the Chicago Symphony orchestra. Illness is making its mark on music, as on other activities, for not only is the conductor temporarily out of commission, but several members of the orchestra have felt it, and Jacques Gordon, the concertmaster, was said to have come from his bed to act as soloist in this concert with no opportunity for rehearsal.

That being the case, one might well have expected a limping concert, but it did not limp. There was only once when there was a solution of continuity between soloist and accompanying orchestra, and that was merely temporary. He played the Bach concerto in E, a fine example of this great composer's work, and followed it by Wieniawski's "Souvenir de Moscow," which is mercerized music. As sometimes happens in such cases, the better music received the better performance, and at that the Wieniawski piece was dealt with more sympathetically than it deserved.

Mr. DeLamarter, an able and resourceful conductor, wrought warmly and spiritedly with Liadow's "Baba Yaga" and Dvorak's "New World" symphony. He then converted the orchestra into an accompanying body for Mr. Gordon, finally ending the concert with Saint-Saëns' "Le Rouet d'Omphale" and Sibelius' "Finlandia," and making a first class performance of the entire program.

There is a certain amount of difficulty in dealing with the song recital of Mme. Maria Coromilas-Stratos at Orchestra hall last night. It lies in the facts that Mme. Coromilas-Stratos is a native of Greece and that a knowledge of modern Greek is outside the customary critical routine. The situation resolved itself into confronting a handsome, dark haired, dark gowned artist, who had an expressive face and a fair idea of using the expression, and having only the vaguest idea of what she was singing about.

Worse still, most of her songs were new, except, perhaps, to her compatriots. There was, however, compensation in finding a number of the songs to be excellent melodies. Also, though Mme. Coromilas-Stratos hardly classifies as a professional prima donna, she knows how to project her songs. There may have been some question as to what she was interpreting, but no doubt that she was interpreting something and doing it with a good deal of effect.

FARM AND GARDEN BY FRANK RIDGWAY

Eggs have already begun to pile up in the nests and poultrymen are starting their annual grumble about egg prices falling off. It's a good time to start putting them in storage at home. The modern home storing scheme is to put them in jars in water glass, which preserves them for a year.

At the Ithaca station spring eggs have been found to keep better than eggs laid at any other time of the year, and if they are properly preserved they are practically as good as fresh eggs for all cooking purposes.

The station suggests that while eggs keep successfully in water glass for a year, it is not advisable to hold them longer. Never use the same water glass more than once. Stale eggs will not keep in any preservative.

Preserve infertile eggs if possible, because they tend to keep better than fertile. Don't use dirty eggs or eggs that have been washed. Candle the eggs to make sure they are fresh. A good test used at the Ithaca station is to put the eggs in a 10 per cent solution of salt water (one-third cupful of salt to one quart of water), in which fresh eggs will always sink.

Parents to Finance Chicago Latin School

Reincarnation of the old Chicago Latin school as the first parent owned school in the city, with a fine new school plant to be erected on property now under contract, was announced yesterday by Frank S. Porter, president of the board of trustees of the Latin School association, composed of parents of the pupils.

The plans include reopening of the school by next Oct. 1. Land on which the new school will be built consists of a 94 foot frontage on the east side of North Dearborn parkway, 200 feet south of North avenue, with a depth of 132 feet, subject to a thirteen foot building line.

Financing involves the sale of $500,000 5 per cent bonds to parents of pupils. Except in special cases, no pupil will be admitted unless he is registered under a "certificate of payment," issued to parents on receipt of $200. This money is intended to be returned without interest when the boy leaves school.

The school building will provide accommodations for 350 pupils. Edwin H. Clark is the architect. A playground 30 by 68 feet will be located in the rear of the main building.

"Parents and alumni are moving quickly to get behind the building plans," Mr. Porter said in making the announcement. "We intend to push the construction work as much as possible."

The Latin school was organized in 1888 by Miss Vickery. Among well known Chicagoans who have attended school there are Cyrus McCormick Jr., Henry Hooper, Mark Healy of Lyon & Healy, Hunt and John Wentworth, Gratiot and Hempstead Washburn, Prentice Coonley, John K. Lyon.

Miss Helena Spengler and Ernest Didot Wed

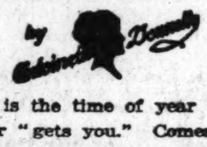
The wedding of Miss Helena Spengler, daughter of Mrs. John Spengler of the Webster hotel, to Ernest Didot, son of Henri Didot, French vice consul in Chicago, and Mme. Didot, took place at 8:30 o'clock last evening at the Webster, and was followed by a large reception.

The bride's gown was of white tulle and satin and her veil, caught caplike over her head, was of net edged in Honiton lace. Mrs. Spengler, who was in a gown of pervenche blue, gave her daughter in marriage. The attendants were Mme. Didot as matron of honor, dressed in white satin and silver cloth; and as bridesmaids, Mrs. John B. McCall of Memphis, Tenn., Mrs. M. J. Lanahan, Mrs. Walter Mack, and Miss Helen Byrne. The bridesmaids' gowns were in pastel shades of taffeta, yellow, orchid, flesh, and coral, and they carried large arm bouquets of sweet peas.

John Spengler of Memphis was best man, and James Ridgeon of Memphis, M. J. Lanahan, Walter Mack, Dr. Robert Crowe, and Horace Didot were groomsmen. After a southern wedding trip, Mr. Didot and his bride are to reside at 2323 Commonwealth avenue.

The marriage of Clara Louise Lanphear, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Lanphear of New York, to Harry J. Veitch of Chicago took place at the St. Paul Episcopal church last night. A reception was held at the residence of the newly married couple, 5421 Dorchester avenue.

Suffering from Spring Fever? Try Taking Brisk Walk



This is the time of year when the weather "gets you." Comes along a warm day and your working hours seem seventy, instead of seven.

O, if you could only go south or to California and loaf a while! Wouldn't that be the life? It would. But if it isn't yours and mine, we might as well try to look as cheerful about it as we can. There are a lot of things that ought to be reformed in this old world. One is working in the springtime or on those balmy days we catch a glimpse of every now and then these early months.

As I write this I am suffering a drowsy day myself. I'm wishing that typewriters were flying machines, with Nassau or Honolulu as favorite points of destination. Then I mightn't mind staying glued to the darned thing. O, dear, and I have a couple more "stories" to do today! "But," whispers my Pollyanna Better Half, "it might be worse. Don't know how much worse—but it might be."

Sure; I might have been born without fingers, or my teeth might have all dropped out suddenly, or my tongue might have become paralyzed (heaven forbid that any woman should endure so cruel a fate!), or my legs have walked off and left me standing in midair.

"Yep, Polly, you can think of all kinds of things when you don't feel like thinking about what you ought."

"You'd better take a little run around the block if thinking doesn't help you," says Polly, a bit peeved.

Well, here I am back again, thirty minutes later. I took the walk. Remember now, I haven't been doing that regularly, lately. Been kinda coddling myself because I felt a bit grippy. My, but a little walk on a sunny day like this does make you feel differently, doesn't it? Guess I'll dash out again this afternoon for another turn. I can easily get through what I have to do now in time to work in another run round the reservoir. I dunno as I want to go to Holuolulu, after all. I haven't any smart straw dresses. And I don't know how to play an ukulele. Besides, it is kinda nice around here at this time of year if you get out and look around and let the breezes blow some of those shutin, lazy, futile longings out of your system.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

MISS G. TO PREVENT IRRITATION after removing hair from under the arms apply cold cream. Water following the use of preparations for this purpose will often cause irritation which the cold cream overcomes. It is well to perform this operation at night, allowing the cream to remain on during the night.

M. J. B.: IN WALKING CORRECTLY the toes must point straight ahead. Toeing out strains the arches. You may correct the fault by toeing in. I'll be glad to send you some exercises for strengthening the arches on receipt of a stamped, addressed envelope.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Lamb Shanks.

And speaking of physiology, it may seem to some people shocking, or repulsive, or unjustifiable, to mention physiology in connection with cooking. Nevertheless a little knowledge of the physiology of bird and beast is quite illuminating, and when this knowledge is applied to cooking problems it means economy, no end. And if you have a little plant of reverence in your soul it will be fostered by such an act as removing the breast of a chicken, in an extremely clean way, from the vital organs so that you may see how marvelously they are packed into their treasure chest.

Most people know so much of animal physiology as to know that it is the shank of the ox plus that of the exceedingly young ox, called a real creature, that makes the best soup stock when slowly cooked in the right amount of water. So cooked, the liquid around it will jelly, and should a learned chemist be at hand, he would talk of that jelly as a colloid—a vitally interesting thing in life.

The shanks of other animals, including those of hens and turkeys, will also produce a colloidal liquid. The lamb shank, which seems to be coming forward since lamb steaks are also used—often cooked like veal steaks—and it has become customary to give a cut down roast of lamb, can be used for broths and for braising. By cutting off steaks and then the shank, the finest part of the leg of lamb is left for roasting, although the leg of lamb, unless correctly roasted, is too dry to be fine as roast meat. Sheep's trotters which included hoofs were formerly in vogue.

A bone has obligations, and even the bit of bare bone of the leg that is turned up and skewered down to the rest can be cooked for broth. It is not an easy task to get it clean, but two little bones cooked for three hours, starting with a quart of cold water and simmering them, will yield a flocculent little jellylike liquid that is bound to give a smooth broth. As to how to cook the meatier part in the best way, I hope to determine by experiment and inquiry. No cook book says anything about lamb shanks.

THE TRIBUNE COOK BOOK, by Jane Eddington, with menus for thirty meals and with chapters making a brief guide to correct eating, is on sale for 10 cents by mail or at the Public Service Office, 11 South Dearborn street.

To Look Younger
follow this simple rule in skin care
By NORMA TALMADGE

Copyrighted, 1926, by P. O. Beauty Features
By preserving youthful skin texture, it is making thousands look younger than their years
A WELL-KNOWN artist recently asked, "What's become of the 'middle-aged' woman; has she completely disappeared?"
What's really happened is this: women have found that looking their years is a needless folly. Thus nearly everyone stays young these days.
The simple rule below has safeguarded natural complexion charm for more women than any other method known. Thousands employ it. Leading skin specialists urge it. Try it for one week. Let it prove its effects to you . . . the softening olive and palm lather of Palmolive Soap, used this way:
THE RULE—MAKE IT YOURS STARTING TODAY
Wash your face gently with soothing Palmolive Soap, massaging it softly into the skin. Rinse thoroughly, first with warm water, then with cold. If your skin is inclined to be dry, apply a touch of good cold cream—that is all.
Do this regularly, and particularly in the evening. Use powder and rouge, if you wish. But never leave them on over night. They clog the pores, often enlarge them. Blackheads and disfigurements often follow. They must be washed away. Follow these rules day in and day out. Your skin will be soft and

Do not use ordinary soaps in the treatment given above. Do not think any green soap, or represented as of palm and olive oils, is the same as Palmolive.
Remember that before Palmolive came, women were told, "use no soap on your faces." Soaps then were judged too harsh. Palmolive is a beauty soap made for one purpose only: to safeguard your complexion. 60 years of soap study stand behind it. Millions of pretty skins prove its effectiveness beyond all doubt.
BE SURE YOU GET THE REAL PALMOLIVE
It costs but 10c the cake! — so little that millions let it do for their bodies what it does for their faces. Obtain Palmolive today. Note what one week of its use brings you. The Palmolive Company (Del. Corp.).

Radio Would Help.

"I wonder if any of your kind readers has some kind of a radio that he is no longer using. Natalie and her mother were going to visit grandma. As their train left at an early hour in the morning, they retired early. Natalie was excited over the anticipated trip and continued to chatter long after they were in bed, instead of going to sleep. Her mother told her several times to be quiet. Finally she said: "If you don't stop talking and go to sleep, I'll oversleep in the morning and then we can't go to see grandma."

After a moment she asked another question of her mother.

"What did I tell you about going to sleep?" asked her mother.

"Well, I is trying to put my overwake to sweep, muvver." E. C. C.

"Well, Danny, I hear your mamma's gone for a nice visit in the city."

"Yap," returned my small neighbor, lonesomely. "Me an' daddy, we's batchin' it!" H. H. C.

TESTS POWER OF COURT TO KEEP SESSION SECRET

Madison, Wis., March 16.—[Special.]—The Capital Times of Madison today started legal proceedings to test the right of Judge A. C. Hoppmann to hold secret court sessions and to issue injunctions prohibiting newspapers from printing what transpired at such proceedings.

The test was in the form of a petition to the Circuit court asking it to dissolve an injunction issued by Judge Hoppmann against the paper.

The case follows a number of editorials in the Capital Times, written by William T. Evjue, its editor, concerning the shooting of Patrolman Palmer Thompson by Rudolph Jessner. Attorney Fred M. Wylie and William Rubin, representing Jassner, asked Judge Hoppmann to cite Evjue for contempt of court because of the editorials.

John Doe Hearing Held.

A John Doe hearing was held last week. Evjue and several other members of the Times staff were called as witnesses in the hearing but all were served with injunctions prohibiting them from printing any of the proceedings.

For years Judge Hoppmann has been holding certain cases at closed court sessions over the editorial protests of Evjue. The latter declared today that the question has never been decided in Wisconsin and that he expects to get a final decision, possibly through an appeal to the Supreme court.

Evjue, through his attorney, applied to the court for a copy of the John Doe testimony and announced that he would publish it if the judge's injunction is held illegal. He declared that the Capital Times is taking this action because it believes that dangerous precedents would be set if Judge Hoppmann's rulings were to go unchallenged.

Sees Danger in Secrecy.

"The Capital Times believes that secrecy in judicial proceedings is a practice subversive of the public welfare," the editor said.

"The Capital Times is initiating these proceedings as a matter of public service. Secrecy in judicial proceedings and the denial of the rights of a free press are questions which should raise the concern of every good citizen of Wisconsin. The Capital Times proposes to fight for the rights of a free press, as guaranteed under the constitution, and for free and unrestricted entry into the halls of justice, which we believe to be guaranteed to every citizen."

President Sees Better Outlook in Mexico Row

Washington, D. C., March 16.—(AP)—Continued improvement in the relationship between the United States and Mexico is expected by President Coolidge. In the opinion of the President, as disclosed today at the White House, every issue in the controversy over the new Mexican land and petroleum laws is yielding to diplomatic treatment.

Even the Sub-Flapper Likes Tailored Lines

by Corinne Lowe

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—You can't begin too young to learn to be tailored. This is the opinion of many eminent designers for children, who start these tailored effects for their patrons while they are yet in their perambulators.

Witness the severe little coat which was created by a noted Parisian couturier for the young lady of from 6 to 9. Nothing could be simpler than the plan of this straight, rather full little coat for spring wear, with its revers, and its leather belt, and its strapped sleeves. Yet the color asserts once more childhood's perpetual right to gayety of result.

It is, in fact, through choice of fabric that this little garment becomes so effective. For it is made of the loveliest porcelain blue tweed—quite a rough tweed—and it is set off by collar, revers, and sleeve straps of a darker blue tweed. The leather belt also sponsors this latter tint. As you see, the belt passes through slits in the front and is not visible in the back.

For the small girl's spring coat one sees urged quite frequently at smart shops all sorts of plaided woolens. These may be either capes or cape coats.

House Defeats "Disrespect to Bible" Amendment

Washington, D. C., March 16.—(AP)—The house today voted against inserting an amendment in the District of Columbia appropriation bill to withhold the salary of any teacher or official who permitted the teaching of "disrespect to the Bible, partisan politics, or that ours is an inferior form of government."

KIP AND LAWYER INVITED TO QUIT RESORT ON GULF

Gulfport, Miss., March 16.—[Special.]—Leon R. Jacobs, New York attorney and companion for his client, Leonard Kip Rhinelander, has been told by citizens of Ocean Springs that they hope for him a "pleasant journey back to New York."

The letter conveying this message was delivered today at the Beach cottage, which for several weeks has housed Jacobs and the scion of a wealthy New York family whose divorce suit in White Plains against his mulatto wife was notorious a few months ago. It was signed by F. E. Lee, prominent Ocean Springs business man.

Townsmen Were Offended.

Jacobs had offended the people of the little seashore town by speaking disparagingly of Ocean Springs and its people when interviewed by a newspaper correspondent recently. Mr. Jacobs, it was said, accused the natives of profiteering on visitors.

In retaliation Mr. Lee wrote:

"I wish to call your attention to the fact that Ocean Springs citizens, of whom there are 2,500, are now spending $2,000,000 or more in public improvements, and that private capital now is financing building projects in Ocean Springs and vicinity that are in excess of $16,000,000.

"You yourself have taken about $20,000 profit out of two real estate deals here. Ocean Springs has been hospitable to you and your client, Leonard Kip Rhinelander, giving you both hospitality, rest, and seclusion after your recent strenuous experiences in the east.

"The citizens of Ocean Springs resent your interview as published.

Invited to Return.

"Owing to the fact that I handled some of the arrangements for your coming here, I am generally credited with having invited you and Mr. Rhinelander to partake of our Mississippi coast hospitality. If you find this hospitality lacking, I can, on behalf of Ocean Springs citizens, only hope that you have a pleasant journey back to New York."

Rhinelander has been closely guarded by Jacobs during his stay at Ocean Springs, and neither has mingled with local citizens. All access to Rhinelander has been denied by Jacobs.

Mallek, her 72 year old husband, who had been in good health until her death, died suddenly. Members of the family attributed his deaht to a broken heart. Mr. Mallek, a native of Poland, had resided in Chicago for fifty-five years. Three sons and three daughters survive the couple. SALESMEN AND SALES MANAGERS,

If you make a neat appearance and can bring one reference I will appoint you as a salesman or sales manager directly under me to sell property that I personally own, which means that you get all of the commission involved yourself. For twenty years I have been buying and selling Chicago real estate. I own millions of dollars' worth of it now, so ideally situated that the property does more to sell itself than the salesman can do, yet you get top commissions for full or part time work.

You do not have to solicit. We show you every point of selling and then send you to interested prospects direct. You could not help but make money with me.

WANTED—MALE HELP.

Miscellaneous.

I KNOW

that many hard working, underpaid men who would like to get away from "a job" and get into better paying work dare not make the "breakaway" step because they are forced by the immediate needs of a family or other financial reasons to keep their nose to the grindstone.

To a few such men I can offer an opportunity to engage in spare time work (day or eve) which will enable you to learn to sell, earn extra money, and develop your personality and initiative, and knowledge of our commodity, so that in a month or so we can give you steady employment, where a good income is assured; where you are your own boss, and you—not some boss—get the credit for your efforts.

Besides getting a PRACTICAL, not theoretical, training that will fit you for a life vocation, you can count on making extra money in that spare time. For no one ever worked many spare hours with us without making SOME money. Many of those now in our steady employ started through this same method. If you are interested call at the 4th floor, 360 North Michigan-av., Thursday evening, March 18, at 8:00 o'clock.

Actions speak louder than words. Don't talk yourself into waiting for a "better time." Act now.

WANTED—MALE HELP.

Miscellaneous.

$35-$50 WEEKLY.

PAY CHECK SATURDAY MORNING EVERY WEEK.

Would you devote every moment of your spare time if you were promised $50 per week as an extra income? Through the expansion of our 37 offices, additional positions have been created. Work may be done in spare time. Full time pays you twice as much. Business men and mechanics of all trades are acceptable. If you do not care to work in the loop work may be done at your own home. Investigate immediately! This ad will appear until Wednesday evening only. Every one given fullest consideration.

EXPERIENCE NOT NECESSARY!
NO RED TAPE!

Remember, an extra pay check every week! Call at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening, March 17th, 4th floor, 360 N. Michigan-av. [London Guarantee and Accident Bldg.].

NOTE: DON'T FORGET, WEDNESDAY EVENING ONLY. IDLERS AND STAR GAZERS STAY AWAY.

HERE

For a few men who will treat a position like a "job" that requires work because of an earnest desire to get ahead we have a vacancy that will mean a steady income with rapid promotion assured; some selling experience preferred but not necessary. We will train you for this position and give full co-operation. Answers held confidential. Address P E 285, Tribune.

MEN—50—MEN. NEW AND DIFFERENT.

NOT REAL ESTATE, STOCKS, BONDS, OR BOOKS.

Want 50 men of good appearance who can devote at least 2 hours a day to our work; $43.75 per week the least you should make. Intelligent co-operation. United States Government indorses our field of activity.

A Great Opportunity.

Positively no canvassing or selling. Make application in person at our Display Room, 71 W. Monroe-st., between 7:30 and 8 Friday evening, March 19th. Ask for Exhibit Representative. Be prompt. No application received after 8.

AMBITIOUS MEN AND WOMEN,

Full or part time, to associate with me on an unusual money making endeavor; this is an opportunity to make at least $50 per week in addition to your present income. Full time workers can easily make $100 per week. I have the greatest facilities for training you quickly and assisting you in your work that have ever been devised. You can't fail to make good with my methods, the time is limited. See me at once. My office will be open from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m.

C. F. DU VAL,
Suite 408, 6 N. Michigan-av., or
Suite 305, 7439 Cottage Grove-av. Mr. Loyd.

AFTER ALL

all this ad can do is bring you and me together to talk things over, for if I used a whole column of space to tell why I believe my proposition the best of any offered you wouldn't decide to work with me until you had made a complete, first hand investigation. I will spend several days interviewing applicants as I must have five more men for my staff immediately. I'll do the talking, they'll do the thinking and later perhaps they'll be thanking me for presenting such an opportunity. Will you be one of them? Address P E 282, Tribune.

YOU MAY BE the type of man I want; we want a man of good appearance and character who may come to us from most any walk of life; we want to teach him our business; we want a man that will work for more than ordinary results; this man is wanted at once; if you feel you are capable of stepping into an earning class of $75 per week, with more to come as you fit yourself, then it may be you are just the man I am seeking.
